"DINTY" COLBECK
HAS ONLY SLIGHT CHANCE OF PAROLEUnder U. S. Rule, He Must Serve Two-Thirds of 25-
Year Term, Due to Other Conviction.SOME SIMILARITY
TO THE TIPTON CASEHead of Old Egan Gang Is Serving Only One Sentence He May Obtain Release in 1933.

Although "Dinty" Colbeck, former leader of the extinct Egan gang, has again started a movement for parole or pardon under the mail robbery convictions, Federal authorities here think his chances for consideration will be slight until he has served at least 18 years in the Federal penitentiary.

A similarity is noted between the case of Roy Tipton, Cuckoo who joined Colbeck's gang, and the $250,000 downtown mail robbery in St. Louis, and that of Colbeck. Both cases, it is said, involve the Federal prison regulation which forbids the parole of a convict when there is another conviction or indictment against him, until he has served two-thirds of his sentence.

Colbeck, with eight of his companions, was sentenced to 25 years in Federal prison for a mail robbery at St. Louis, Mo., with Tipton and six others, 15 years for the downtown mail robbery.

Night he free in 1933. Federal officials hold that the 25-year sentence serves as a bar to Colbeck's parole under the 25-year sentence until two-thirds of the longer term has been served, thus rendering him ineligible to parole until the 15-year term is out of the way. Should a counter contention that he is serving but one term be correct, he would be eligible to parole when one-third of the 25-year term is served or in 1933.

Tipton, as has been told, obtained Federal parole last month after serving one-third of his 25-year term. After friends arranged through State Senator Michael W. Miller for Marshall Hina C. Schult, of the State Supreme Court to withdraw "hold orders" which applied Federal authorities of a conviction. Tipton is now in the State prison serving a two-year term for grand larceny and Federal authorities are investigating with a view to revoking his parole and returning him to Leavenworth to serve 18 months more if it is shown that he obtained it improperly.

When Colbeck, Steve Ryan, Oliver Shugrue, "Chippy" Robinson and "Red" Smith, convicted of the St. Louis robbery, were sentenced with Tipton and others for the St. Louis crime, Federal Judge Farris made no mention of the previous conviction, thus making the terms run concurrently.

In chambers, Judge Farris said that if the special prosecutor, the late Horace L. Dyer, or the District Attorney or anyone else had offered to call his attention to the previous conviction at Quincy, Ill., he would have ordered the sentences to run consecutively.

Explanation by Dyer. Dyer at the time explained he had not considered it necessary to mention consecutive terms, explaining that under prison regulations the second sentence would operate as a bar for the parole of Colbeck and two other twice-convicted men until they had served two-thirds of the 25-year term.

PROPOSES BONUSES
IN MERCHANDISE
INSTEAD OF CASHChicagoan Would Give Certificates in Order to Stimulate Business.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—A plan whereby merchants will give employees merchandise certificates in lieu of cash bonuses, on the theory it will increase business, was made public today by Jacob M. Loeb, head of a committee of prominent Chicagoans sponsoring the idea. Individuals planning cash gifts for Christmas presents are urged by the committee to do likewise.

"We want people to start buying in earnest," Loeb said. "By buying for themselves they will be helping others and helping themselves at the same time. Money will be in circulation and employment conditions will improve. If Chicago puts over this plan other cities will follow and the effect will be nationwide."

DOWNTOWN PARKING BAR
GOES IN EFFECT TOMORROWOrdinance to Be Effective on Three Streets Between 7 A. M. and 6 P. M. During Holidays.

Enforcement will begin tomorrow of the new rule prohibiting parking between 7 a. m. and 6 p. m. on Olive and Locust streets and Washington avenue, between Fourth street and Twelfth boulevard, which will be effective until Jan. 5. Exception is made for commercial vehicles loading and unloading.

The measure, which will be void after this one period, is being legalized by ordinance, in contrast with the practice of police order adopted during recent years to keep these streets clear for shopping and holiday traffic. The Legislative Committee of the Board of Aldermen approved the bill yesterday and its passage by the board, with suspension of the rule is planned for today. It will become legally effective as quickly as Mayor Miller can sign it after passage.

The committee also approved the following traffic rules: Prohibiting parking on the east side of Eleventh street, between Morgan and Wash streets, and on Tholoan avenue, between Grand boulevard and Spring avenue; limiting parking to one hour on Eleventh avenue, between Washington and Delmar boulevards; making Spring avenue a major street, where vehicles must halt before crossing, between Arsenal and Chippewa streets, and making Ninth street a one-way thoroughfare, northbound, between Franklin and Cass avenues.

COURT BARS CONFESSIONS AT WOMAN'S TRIAL FOR MURDER

Rules Out Statements to Police in Killing Stepdaughter.

By the Associated Press.
DENVER, Colo., Dec. 5.—The defense in the trial of Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin charged with the murder of her 10-year-old stepdaughter, won a legal victory before Judge Henley A. Calvert this afternoon when the court ruled that no admissions or confessions that Mrs. O'Loughlin might have made to police officers would be admitted as evidence.

A story of relentless persecution, the hands of police after her arrest was told by Mrs. O'Loughlin. The defendant had recovered fully from her collapse in court last night. Threats and intimidation were exercised, Mrs. O'Loughlin testified, "in order to get me to confess."

"Throughout all the police questioning, she said, she maintained her innocence, made no oral or written confession, and implicated no one."

"I was grilled for hours at a time by several officers, all trying to talk at once," she said. "The room would be full of men, shouting questions."

The witness said Captain of Detectives A. T. Clark told her she had "better talk," and that she would "get to the bottom of it if it takes 20 years."

"If you are in any way connected with this crime, you are going to be punished as though you had done it yourself," she quoted Clark as saying.

The jury was excluded from the courtroom during the testimony.

ST. LOUIS MAYOR ORDERS AIDS TO ACTION IN 'VALLEY'

Doyle Gives Instructions to Health Officer and Police Head After Attack of Judge Wham.

ATTEMPT TO PLACARD HOUSES A FAILURE

Official Asserts He Will Try to Warn Public If State Will Enforce the Statute Regarding Signs.

Following Federal Judge Wham's scathing criticism from the bench of East St. Louis officers for permitting operation of the "Valley," a segregated vice district, Mayor Frank Doyle of East St. Louis announced today that he would write letters to the Health Commissioner and the Commissioner of Public Safety, "directing them to take action."

Mayor Doyle and officials of East St. Louis who direct the police department, said consistent with the "Valley" five years ago proved unsuccessful because the inmates "merely scattered about town."

Difficulties of Placarding. Mayor Doyle, Lauman, Commissioner of Public Health, who conducted a survey which disclosed that 92 per cent of the inmates were diseased, said the law prevented him from placarding the houses because the diseases are infectious, not contagious.

He asserted he had asked Dr. Andy Hall of Springfield, Director of the State Department of Public Health, to placard the houses, but that Dr. Hall had "doubted whether the placarding could be enforced."

"I told him I'd take the responsibility for seeing the placards placed on the houses," Lauman declared. "He said, 'Well, we'll wait a while, and that's the last I've heard from him about East St. Louis vice houses.'"

Chief of Police James Leahy issued a statement, concurred in by Herman Zierath, Commissioner of Public Safety, who was in Chief Leahy's office at the time. Zierath has jurisdiction over the Police Department.

One scattered by raids. "The police have done all they can to eliminate the segregated vice district," Chief Leahy said. "From time to time, they have raided there. Five years ago we conducted wholesale raids and the inmates scattered. Then we got complaints from the residents."

"All we can fix on these women in the way of penalties, is a fine, or in some cases a jail sentence when they have no money to fight the cases. We cannot make them leave town because there is no law to make them leave town. It is Commissioner Lauman's responsibility to placard the houses."

"I dislike the presence of the Valley district and the criticism that has come with its operation, as much as anybody," said Mayor Doyle, "but the question is not what to do about the Valley alone, but what is best for the benefit of the citizens at large."

"I don't think the criticism is directed fairly at the administration as a whole. There are clearly two issues in riding the city of vice. One is proceeding under the health measure. The other is the violation of the State statute prohibiting prostitution."

"Heretofore I have taken no hand in the vice traffic, inasmuch as neither of these issues come in the duties of my department. But as Mayor, I will today direct letters to Commissioner Zierath and Commissioner Lauman directing them to take steps to rid the city of the vice traffic."

Up to Local Authorities. On telephone Dr. Hall told the Post-Dispatch that responsibility for the vice conditions rests with the local authorities.

"Infectious and contagious diseases are one and the same thing," he said. "Whenever an infectious disease becomes acute and contagious, it is contagious. Lauman has full authority to placard the houses himself."

"Neither Lauman nor the other officials can shift the responsibility for the vice traffic of East St. Louis on the State. We are doing our part in maintaining a clinic in East St. Louis, and we are always ready to help."

"But the matter is mostly local and is up to the Police Department and the Health Department. They have sufficient power to proceed without the State. The East St. Louis situation is purely local."

Lauman, informed of Dr. Hall's statement, restated his position. He said he had not consulted the City Council, but had asked the Commissioner of another lawyer who told him he did not have the power to placard the houses. He also took issue with Dr. Hall on the meaning of the statute, asserting that there is a distinct difference between infectious and contagious diseases and that the law makes no distinction of infectious diseases.

ALOE PLAZA BEAUTIFICATION IS DISCUSSED BY BOARD

President Kinsey Says Definite Plan Awaiting Consultation With Terminal Head.

Plans for the improvement and beautification of Aloe Plaza, opposite Union Station, were discussed by the Board of Public Service in an executive session today.

President Kinsey of the board said about $152,000 of bond issue funds would be available for the work and the Terminal Railroad Association has indicated it will contribute an additional $50,000.

Kinsey said he was not ready to outline the plan until he had consulted Henry Miller, president of the Terminal, to determine definitely how much the Terminal was willing to spend.

The general plan calls for landscaping the area bounded by Eighteenth and Twentieth streets, Market and Chestnut streets, with fountains and parking spaces. Kinsey said the City Plan Commission's suggestion for underground parking probably would be abandoned as too expensive.

TONY FOLEY SUED FOR $10,000 ON KENNEL CLUB NOTES

Plaintiff Asks for Foreclosure of $30,000 Mortgage on Property of Ramona Concern.

Suit for $10,000 against Tony Foley, owner of the old Ramona Kennel Club and formerly proprietor of St. Louis County Jail, was filed today in the Circuit Court of St. Louis by William Keane Jr., real estate dealer, who asks foreclosure of a $30,000 mortgage on the Kennel Club property, valued at $40,000 to $50,000.

The petition, filed under the name of Harry J. Gannon, as trustee for Keane, states that 10 notes for $1000 each, due last Oct. 7, are unpaid; 20 such notes, all dated Oct. 7, 1925, having been paid.

The dog racing plant was closed in 1927 after opening two seasons. Foley's gambling houses were closed at the same time. Foley could not be reached.

BABY IN MOTHER'S ARMS KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Machine Driven by Child's Father Struck by Trolley Car in East St. Louis.

June Linck, 16 months old, died of injuries suffered today when an automobile driven by her father, Oscar Linck, a steel worker, was struck by a work car of the East St. Louis & Suburban Railway at the Eighty-second street crossing in East St. Louis.

Linck made a left turn in front of the car, according to Motorman Fred Deakun. Mrs. Linck, who was holding the child, was cut and bruised. Her husband escaped injury. The Linck home is at 226 North Eighty-second street, East St. Louis.

of Public Buildings, and John Connors, Commissioner of Streets and Sewers, both pointed out that the matter of cleaning up the vice district was out of their jurisdiction. Both said, however, they were opposed to the operation of a segregated vice district and pledged their support to any movement to stop it.

ORGANIZED LABOR PAYS TRIBUTE TO 'MOTHER' JONES

Several Hundred Gather at Union Station Where Body Is Transferred for Trip to Illinois.

Surrounded by the bright banners of the miners' unions for which she fought so unflinchingly through 40 years of labor struggles, the body of "Mother" Jones lay in state today in the Odd Fellows' Temple at Mount Olive, Ill., 40 miles northeast of St. Louis.

During the morning the flag-draped hall was visited by hundreds of men, women and children from Mount Olive and nearby mining towns who paid their respects to labor's courageous fighter, dead after 100 years of unselfish life.

Last night the body was transferred at St. Louis from the train to Mount Olive, which bore it from Washington to the Washburn train that took it on its final journey. Several hundred trade unionists, representing virtually every craft in the city, gathered at the station and filed past the casket in the rear of a private car donated for the trip from Washington by the B. & O. Railroad.

Hundreds Follow the Casket. An escort of 20 miners from Gillespie, Mount Olive, Staunton and Bend boarded the train at St. Louis to accompany the body to Mount Ohio, where the car was sidetracked at 7:32 p. m. "There were several hundred there to follow the casket to the Odd Fellows' temple, while a band played a dirge."

The hall was crowded as the Rev. John Hogan, pastor of the Catholic Church of the Ascension in Mount Olive, conducted a brief service.

The body will lie in state today, tomorrow and Sunday. Tomorrow evening there will be a memorial service at the temple with a sermon by the Rev. John W. R. McGuire, president of St. Viator College at Kankakee, Ill.

Funeral services, with requiem high mass, will be held at 10 a. m. Monday in the Church of the Ascension. As she had ordered, "Mother" Jones will be buried in the Labor Cemetery, close by the graves of the miners killed in the Virgin mine riots 25 years ago.

Escort From Washington. Besides the miners, the body of "Mother" Jones was escorted by 10 others who had met the funeral car at Washington. They were Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Burgess, at whose home at Silver Springs, Md., "Mother" Jones spent the last years of her life; Father Maguire, Miss Epiline Pitt of Pittsburgh, Pa., representing the United States Department of Labor; William Howlin, Chicago, representing President Green of the American Federation of Labor; Edward Nockels, Secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor; John Walker, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, and four union miners of Illinois, A. Mark Mason, Tovey; William B. Burton, Harrison; Charles Leveque, Springfield, and Hans Hanson of Mount Olive.

BOARD OF ESTIMATE WARNS CITY EMPLOYEES TO PAY BILLS

Must "Face the Consequences" If They Do Not, Resolution Declares.

All city employees must pay their bills or "face the consequences," said a resolution adopted today by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, which considered numerous complaints from merchants pointing out that certain employees were delinquent.

Department heads will be instructed to investigate each claim and, if it is found to be just, insist on the employee making a settlement. It was not stated whether the consequences to be faced included dismissal from the municipal service.

Under the law the wages of city employees cannot be garnished.

BUSINESS PLEA TO CONGRESS TO AVOID ROCKING THE BOAT

Julius H. Barnes Tells President Business Wants No Extra Session.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—A business plea against any extended discussion in Congress which might upset the equilibrium of this "sensitive time" was placed before President Hoover today by Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the board of the United States Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the President's business survey conference.

Barnes told the chief executive that business welcomed evidence that both Mr. Hoover and the party leaders in Congress "seemed determined to put the emphasis of legislation on the necessary appropriation for public administration and to provide emergency measures to increase employment."

But he coupled it with the hope that no protracted discussion of measures, though worthy in themselves, be allowed to bring the threat of an extra session. "He commended the 'high degree of statesmanship and party leadership' shown by recent events."

Kidnaped Baby Found. By the Associated Press.
NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 5.—A girl 2½ years old, who was kidnaped from her parents' home early today, was found several hours later in the company of Mary Fielder, 11, a police officer's daughter, and the baby, Evelyn Gaffney, on a street corner. The baby was taken as she slept, and the young abductor apparently entered through a second-story window.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

ST. LOUIS WOMAN GONE WHEN SHIP MAKES PORT

Mrs. C. Godfrey Thought to Have Leaped or Fallen Overboard.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 5.—Mrs. Caroline Godfrey, a former St. Louisan, who left here for Baltimore, Md., on the steamer City of Atlanta of the Chesapeake Line, was reported missing from the boat when it landed in Baltimore.

Officers of the line said at Baltimore that they believed she had fallen or jumped overboard during the night. Her handbag, containing a small sum of money, was found in her stateroom and she had no baggage, but was well dressed. Members of the ship's crew declared they observed nothing unusual in her manner and relatives said she appeared cheerful and in good health upon departure.

Mrs. Godfrey, who registered on the boat as Mrs. C. Godfrey of St. Louis, left here Tuesday and the ship was due in Baltimore Wednesday. A dispatch from Baltimore said she left here yesterday, the boat reaching Baltimore today.

Mrs. Godfrey, who was about 60 years old, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Jessie Hatford, here.

Mrs. Godfrey was the widow of James A. Godfrey, a builder in St. Louis, who died about seven years ago. Mrs. Thomas Godfrey, 4647W Papin street, mother of James, said her daughter-in-law had left here about two years ago, spending most of her time with Mrs. Hatford. The elder Mrs. Godfrey was unaware of the ocean voyage.

prepared valuation estimates and checked the audit by the commission accountants, in preparing the company's answer claiming higher valuation figures, which was filed when hearings began last October. The purpose of this was to offset claims by the company that a delay of at least two months in hearings should be permitted by the commission, to enable the company to make a further check of the audit and prepare its case.

The City contends that the company has had ample time to prepare its case, as the audit by the accountants was in progress more than two years and the company could have prepared its case at the same time. The company contends it should have more time. Both Boehrm and Rasseur testified that some investigation has been made by the company, but asserted it had not been complete and that some of the figures submitted were based on a cursory inquiry, or were "rough calculations."

CITY CALLS UNION ELECTRIC MEN AT RATE CUT HEARING

Their Testimony Strengthens Estimates of St. Louis and State Boards on Reproduction Cost.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 5.—A surprise move by the City of St. Louis in calling officers of the Union Electric Light and Power Co. as witnesses, at today's hearing on the city's demand that electric rates should be reduced in St. Louis's property is virtually strengthening estimates by the city and by the Public Service Commission accountants on reproduction cost and depreciation of the company property, which heretofore have been attacked by the company.

The hearing was adjourned late today until Jan. 12.

Testimony by Frank J. Boehm, vice president of the Union Electric, on the method utilized for the company's estimate of its value on the reproduction theory, materially supports the City and Commission estimates, although their final total varied widely from the company's because of higher claims by the company for intangible allowances, such as going value, and other items.

Boehm's testimony on his estimate of depreciation in the company's property is virtually in agreement with estimates of the city and commission accountants. This is an important factor in the event the commission fixes a tentative valuation and orders a partial rate reduction, as has been suggested, before proceeding with a full valuation.

How Estimate Was Made. So far the investigation of the electric rates has centered about results of an audit by the commission accountants. The company insists a full valuation should be made and that it would show the present rates are justified. The city agrees a full valuation should be made, but insists evidence now available justifies a reduction of at least $1,000,000 for household customers in St. Louis and that a full valuation will show grounds for an even greater reduction.

The commission's accountants, as has been told, prepared an estimate of the reproduction cost of the company's property without an actual physical appraisal, by applying engineering index figures to the investment cost as shown by the company's books. The method and the result were questioned by the company when submitted in evidence. The accountant's calculation of the reproduction cost of the property averaged 25.7 per cent more than the actual investment cost.

Robert M. Boehm, engineer for the city, added an average of 25 per cent for reproduction, with the index numbers he used, under a different method. His figures were attacked by the company when he testified.

When Boehm was called as a witness and questioned by City Counselor Muench and associate City Counselor Ferrie, it developed the city and company used similar methods of estimating value, although he used a larger figure for investment cost than the others, and included property not yet in use, which the commission, in practice, has not allowed to be included in rate-making valuations.

Boehm said he arrived at the estimate of $100,000,000 as the reproduction cost of the property by adding 25 per cent to the investment cost. He said it was a matter of general knowledge that the cost of reproducing electric properties such as the Union Electric was approximately 25 per cent greater than the investment cost.

Varying Estimates. The commission accountants estimated the reproduction cost of the company property at $74,315,956 and the cost of reproduction, less depreciation, at $64,116,517, a deduction of $10,199,439 from depreciation, or wear and tear in the physical property. This covered the Missouri Electric property, including St. Louis.

The city estimated the value of the property devoted to St. Louis only, at $43,150,221 on the basis of reproduction cost, less depreciation, after deducting $8,864,758 for depreciation in the St. Louis property.

Boehm testified he had estimated the value of the property at $90,000,000 on the basis of reproduction cost, less depreciation, and that the deduction for depreciation was $10,000,000. This deduction for depreciation applies only to the physical property, the company's larger total for the valuation being built up by larger claims than the city or commission accountants on the base item of investment cost and on intangible allowances.

Ample Time, Says City. Should the commission fix a tentative valuation and order a reduction in rates before proceeding with a full valuation, the almost identical methods used in converting investment costs into reproduction cost estimates, and the similar deductions made for depreciation in the physical property

MANY DESTITUTE SEEK AID FROM FESTIVAL FUND

Persons Who Never Before Sought Help Send Appeals for Christmas Baskets This Year.

VOLUNTARY GIFTS TO PROVIDE FUNDS

Lists Will Be Circulated About City Next Week—None of Collections Goes to Solicitors.

Touching testimony of the destitution in St. Louis piles higher every day in the office of the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival. Every mail adds to it.

Appeals for aid come in pathetic letters from children to Santa Claus, clinging to the hope that the jolly old giver of toys will remember them this year. Fathers out of work and mothers distraught over home conditions seek Christmas baskets so their Christmas day will not be lacking in holiday cheer.

A Specimen Case.

People who never before have sought the aid of the Festival are asking help this year. A sample case is that of a painter and his family who are to be evicted tomorrow unless they obtain rent money.

"I am very much embarrassed to have to ask you for assistance, but it is utterly impossible for us to try to go on any longer without assistance from some source," writes the painter's wife.

"My husband is a painter and his work has slackened up so we simply can't meet our obligations in paying our rent or feeding ourselves. Our rent is due and if we don't pay it by Saturday we must move—nobody knows where.

"I have a boy 15 I am trying to keep in school. My husband is a willing worker and a good painter, but he can't get anything to do. I could work, too, if I could get it. "Now you have heard our good habits, I wish to tell you what I want to know. Is there anyone you know of who would let a respectable family live in a basement or garage for the winter? Any place where it is warm.

"You don't know how much it hurts me to have to ask for this assistance and I pray you never will have to."

One of Hundreds of Letters.

Written in a good hand, this touching letter is but one of the hundreds that are coming to the Post-Dispatch in behalf of assistance. Obviously in families which do not know where they will be living from one week to the next or the source of money for the next meal there will be none of Christmas cheer unless it is provided by those who are fortunate enough to be able to share what they have.

It is for such cases that the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival was organized 31 years ago and for them it has continued so successfully that it has become a traditional part of St. Louis' Christmas celebration.

Preparations for this year's festival are progressing rapidly. Every committee member is at work on his or her part in providing the treat of 5000 well filled Christmas baskets for the neediest families and the monster celebration in the Coliseum Christmas morning for 10,000 children who otherwise would not experience the joy of presents, a brilliant tree and a generous Santa Claus.

Within a short time a basket headquarters will be opened to receive applications of the neediest families in the city. This address will be printed as soon as the location is determined. Investigators will inquire into the circumstances of applicants in order to make certain that baskets go only to the most needy.

$25,000 Needed This Year.

Such a program, it can readily be seen, will cost a great deal of money. The executive committee of prominent citizens which sponsors the Festival has estimated that it will cost not less than $25,000 this year.

As in the past the fund will be raised through the voluntary contributions of thousands of St. Louisans who are willing to share a part of their substance with the less fortunate. Since the need is greater this year than ever before it is expected that the city will open its heart wider than at previous Christmases.

Those who give are assured that their money in its entirety will go to the spreading of Christmas joy, either through the distribution of baskets or the celebration for the children. All the expense of administration is paid by the Post-Dispatch.

Beginning Monday, thousands of contribution lists will be circulated about the city in order to give people a chance to donate to the fund. The Post-Dispatch wishes to emphasize that it does not employ any solicitors. The young women merely distribute lists. The general practice is to mail contributions direct to the cashier of the Post-Dispatch.

CHANGE OF VENUE IN ARSON MURDER ARGUED

Judge Taylor to Give Decision
Later on Plea of Ralph Pierson.

Circuit Judge Taylor will announce within a few days his decision on the plea of Ralph Pierson for change of venue in his trial on charges of first-degree murder and arson, in the Buckingham Hotel Annex fire of Dec. 5, 1927, which caused seven deaths. Pierson, one of the owners of the Annex, is charged with causing it to be burned in order to collect the insurance.

A long argument for the change of venue was made before Judge Taylor yesterday by Charles M. Hay, Pierson's lawyer. He reviewed the testimony of witnesses who had stated their opinion that Pierson could not get a fair trial in St. Louis. He reviewed also the testimony of the 25 witnesses called by the State, who were selected at random from current jury panels. Eleven of the 25 said that they had formed an opinion unfavorable to Pierson or had heard such opinion expressed by others, and that they had gained the impression of a general feeling that Pierson, one of four defendants in the arson-murder case, was guilty.

Hay argued that the conviction of Andrew B. Meadows, night watchman of the Annex, and the death sentence recently passed on Meadows, had tended to thicken the atmosphere of prejudice against Pierson and the two other defendants awaiting trial.

"A soon as we get a jury here," Hay said, "the recital of the facts of the fire will tend to bring all this to their memory, and they will say to themselves, 'That's the man that hired that old dumbbell, that poor fool, to burn the hotel.'"

Hay spoke also of the difficulty experienced by Pierson in getting bond, and of the unfavorable comments made on those who signed the bond of Lewis E. Balson, co-owner of the Annex property, a defendant on the same charge.

John L. Sullivan, Assistant Circuit Attorney, opposing the change of venue as expensive and unnecessary, said that general expressions of prejudice should not be considered, and that prejudice against Pierson individually must be shown, to a greater degree than has been done, in order to warrant removing the case from this jurisdiction. He reviewed the testimony to show that there were few expressions as to Pierson's individual case.

Pierson and Balson have denied any knowledge of an arson plot. R.

H. Cotham, night clerk of the Buckingham Hotel, made a confession, as did Meadows, when arrested last January, following the discovery, more than two years after the fire, that it was set purposely. Cotham is Pierson's accuser.

Found Dead in Railroad Yards.
The body of a man thought to be Anthony W. Jenkins, a coal miner of Des Moines, Ia., was found in the railroad yards at Antelope street yesterday. A Miners' Union card was in the clothing. It is thought the man fell from an inbound freight train, which passed Antelope street a short time before the body was found by a railroad watchman.

Shoots Himself in Head.
Monroe Meis, 41 years old, 4289W. Easton avenue, is at City Hospital with a self-inflicted bullet wound of the head. Meis was found in the basement of his home at 3 o'clock last night by his wife, who heard a shot. A bullet from a revolver had entered the right temple and passed through his head, destroying the optic nerves.

The notice came from Dr. H. M. Kamp of Chicago, secretary of the Illinois society.

HOTEL ROBBED AFTER SHOOTING
Proprietor and Wife Wounded by Man He Found With Mate.
ERIE, Pa., Dec. 5.—Burglars awaited tragedy last night to rob the Hoffman Hotel. George Harman, the proprietor, accompanied by a friend, William Bright, went out to hunt for Mrs. Herman, police said. They found her in room 202 with a man known as "Scotty." A quarrel in the street in front of the hotel came to a climax when it is said, Scotty shot Harman and his wife, then fled.

While employees and guests ministered to the wounded pair, burglars entered the hotel office and looted the safe.

Christmas Jubilee

A Mighty 3-Store Merchandising Event Offering $2,000,000 Worth of Gift Merchandise at Extreme Savings!

Saturday, from 9:00 A. M. to 9:00 P. M., we celebrate BANNER DAY... the biggest day of the Christmas Jubilee—offering busy gift shoppers and homemakers the greatest assortment of holiday merchandise we have ever gathered together. More than two million dollars worth of brand-new merchandise bought at the lowest level of prices known in America for the past fifteen years will be featured in this marvelous bargain event. VALUE is the keynote of this great day—VALUE in quality—VALUE in variety—VALUE in savings. From the basement to the top floor of the Downtown Store—in every department of our Wellston and Uptown Stores—you will find quality merchandise for the holidays and Winter... by all means attend this bargain feast.

Store Hours Saturday: 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

Tell an Interesting Story

175,000 24-Page BANNER DAY Bulletins have been distributed to practically every home in St. Louis and surrounding vicinity. If you do not receive a copy call GARfield 4500 and we will mail one immediately.

To accommodate the thousands of customers who cannot shop during the day and in response to hundreds of requests to permit night shopping, the Nugent Stores will be open Saturday until 9 P. M.

The hours of those employed in the stores open until nine o'clock are so arranged that no woman employee will be employed for a longer period than any other day of the week.

The entire Nugent organization at all three stores is enthusiastic over the values and preparation provided for this event—everything that you can possibly think of for Christmas has been included—gifts for mother, dad, children, everyone—gifts for the home—all under-priced to give St. Louis the banner gift shopping day of the holiday season.

Plenty of Free Parking Space Downtown After 6 P. M.

Extra Salespeople

Our entire selling force at the Nugent Stores has been enlarged to take care of the tremendous crowds Saturday.

Extra Wrappers and Packers

The usual prompt and efficient Nugent service will be evident. Our delivery service, too, has been enlarged to insure quick delivery.

BARTH'S MACHINE-GUN SOLD BY FIRM HERE

Disposed of by Geller, Ward & Hasner Co. to E. St. Louis Pawnbroker.

A Thompson submachine gun, found in the home of Lester Barth after he and Dewey Goebel had been murdered by other gangsters Nov. 22, was sold by the Geller, Ward & Hasner Hardware Co., police learned in an investigation completed yesterday.

After determining by the peculiar markings on its ejected shells that the machine gun had been used in at least one recent gang shooting, police applied acid to the weapon to bring out the serial number, filed off by its owner. Finding the weapon, police learned it had been sold by the Auto Ordnance Co. of New York to Geller Ward & Hasner, which in turn had sold it to the Meyer Loan Co. of East St. Louis on Feb. 23, 1928.

A. Meyer, proprietor of the loan company, told detectives he had no record of receiving the weapon, but added that his records showed he did receive two submachine guns from the hardware company on March 23, 1928. They had been sold the same day, he said, to George White of 1318 Montclair avenue, East St. Louis. On April 25, he added, he received a third machine gun from Geller, Ward & Hasner, and sold it the same day to the same man.

When detectives found that the Montclair avenue address was a fictitious one, they concluded the name George White was also counterfeit. Meyer said, however, that White closely resembled a newspaper photograph of Ray Weaver, killed by Charles Fresina, notorious Sicilian gangster, in a fight at Fresina's home, Jan. 17 last.

However, detectives who questioned Weaver's widow, Mrs. Myra Weaver, 1967 Alfred avenue, were informed by her, "Ray never owned a machine gun in his life. He wouldn't have known how to handle one if he'd had it."

W. Krewinghaus, manager of the firearms department of Geller, Ward & Hasner Hardware Co., said today that the Meyer Loan Co. was a customer of his company for the purchase of the store's regular line of hardware but declared that he could recall no other sales of machine guns to the East Side company.

The machine guns, he said, retail for $200, but are not carried in stock. They are ordered specially from the New York concern on request of prospective purchasers, Krewinghaus said. He declared there had been no general sale of the weapons except to bank and peace officers.

$7000 Payroll Holdup.

By the Associated Press. PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 5.—Entering a dining room at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association Building, two men held up and robbed the association paymaster as he was paying the organization's employees here today. The robbers were reported to have obtained $7000. About 30 diners were in the room.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL SOCIETY SPENT $10,369 FOR RELIEF

Reports Visits to 600 Families in November; Found Work for 45 Persons.

St. Vincent de Paul Society spent $10,369 in relief work during November, the Rev. John J. Butler, secretary, reported at a meeting of the organization last night. Representatives of the society reported 1400 visits to 600 families. Employment was obtained for 45 and medical attention for 54.

Father Butler announced receipt of a $3000 gift from Louis Werner.

The Rev. Dr. John O'Grady, professor of sociology at Catholic University, Washington, will conduct the annual retreat for members of the society at St. Cecilia's Church, Alaska and Hiller avenues, Dec. 7 to 14. A retreat for social workers will be conducted by Father O'Grady at Visitation Convent, Belt and Academy avenues, Dec. 6 to 8.

Ex-President of Brazil in France. CHERBOURG, France, Dec. 5.—Dr. Washington Luis, deposed President of Brazil, and his wife and daughter today disembarked from the steamer Alcantara, which brought them from Rio de Janeiro. Dr. Luis said that he would spend the winter in France. "A friendly country where I am always happy to reside."

UNION REINSTATEMENT SUIT IN JUDGE'S HANDS

Boilermakers' Former Business Agent's Mandamus Action Taken in Adversement.

The mandamus suit of Joseph J. Streib, 4016A California avenue, to compel the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Ship Builders and Helpers of America to reinstate him as a member was taken under advisement yesterday by Circuit Judge Hogan. He was expelled four years ago on charges of failure to comply with the organization's constitution.

At the time of his removal Streib was business agent of Local No. 27. He testified that last September, at a convention in Kansas City, Kan., the International headquarters, he was denied a hearing when he petitioned for reinstatement and was ordered out of the convention by the president, Joseph A. Franklin.

Franklin testified the action taken in Streib's case was regular, although Streib contends that at the original trial no charge in compliance with the union's rules was made against him.

Following his dismissal Streib filed suit to recover back pay from the union amounting to $3394, which he won, and also a suit for damages based on wrongful dismissal, in which action he obtained a verdict for $12,500. The International has appealed both cases.

Reference to these judgments was made several times by James T. Roberts and John T. Manning, representing Streib. Finally the union's attorney, Lawrence McDaniel, announced if the subject was mentioned again he would jump out of a courtroom window five stories to the ground. "We will jump out, too, if you pay us," retorted Manning. "You will have to jump back before we ever do," said McDaniel.

Penny a Day Now $7000.
MIDDELTOWN, N. Y., Dec. 5.—Because each of a group of women organized 15 years ago by Mrs. A. S. Murray of Goshen has been saving a penny a day ever since, the St. James Episcopal Church of that town is to have a guild hall. This hall, in fact, was the aim of the women when they began their penny saving at Mrs. Murray's behest. They have accumulated $7000 and work on the hall is to start soon.

KIDNAPED, ROBBED, LEFT ON COUNTY ROAD

Seized by three men in front of his home last night, Adolph Eichhammer, 6205 Idaho avenue, was forced into an automobile, robbed of $60 in Carondelet Park and taken to a point in St. Louis County on Lemay Ferry road near Telegraph road where he was ejected from the car.

Eichhammer told police he was walking from a street car when one of the robbers stepped from the automobile and asked the direction of Fillmore street. He was about to answer when the man drew a revolver and ordered him into the car.

James Praetzel, Negro secretary of Building Laborers' Union No. 63, 1351 North Compton avenue, told police he was held up by two white men and robbed of $480 in cash at 2 p. m. yesterday on Channing avenue between Locust street and Washington boulevard as he was walking from his office to a bank. The money was insured.

Tony Palmisano, fruit dealer at 1802 Tower Grove avenue, was held up last night by two men who took $15 and escaped. "We don't want this chicken feed," said one of the men and they walked out.

Told by a passerby there was a burglar in the drug store at 2601 Morgan street, police entered the place early today and found a Negro, who said he was Mose Wright, 43 years old, hiding under the counter. He had 20 cents and some cigars which he said he had taken before he was caught.

Jewelry valued at $107 was stolen from the show window of the Niehaus Jewelry Co., 1216 Locust street, after the glass was broken with a brick wrapped in newspaper. The robbery occurred at 6 a. m.

The attendant at an oil filling station at 3360 Russell place was held up last night by a man who took $25 and escaped. A ring valued at $250 and $32 in currency was stolen from the apartment of Mrs. Clarence C. Christ, 4525 Lindell boulevard, last night by burglars, using a duplicate key.

A safe in the office of the Mulroy Furnace Co., 115 South Fourteenth street, was forced open last night and money of an unestimated amount was stolen.

MOTHER-IN-LAW'S PRESENCE HELD TO BE 'SOUL-TORTURE'
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—"Torture of the soul" such as may be inflicted upon a wife by the presence of her mother-in-law, is a ground for granting a separation, Supreme Court Justice Strong, in Brooklyn decided yesterday.

He gave Mrs. Josephine Domery, 65 years old, until Dec. 31, to leave the home of her son, John C. Domery, and said if she did not do so he would grant her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frances Domery, a separation. Domery and his mother reside at East Orange, N. J. Mrs. Frances Domery is living in West New Brighton, S. I.

Mrs. Domery, married four years ago, told Justice Strong that she and her husband were happy until his mother came into their home. Afterward, she said, he cut down her allowance and when she complained told her to get out. Domery is employed by a telephone company in Newark at $300 a month.

MOTHER OF EIGHT CHILDREN HELD IN POISONING OF WELL

Michigan Woman Protests Innocence; Dispute Over Grocery Bill Recalled.

By the Associated Press.
SAGINAW, Mich., Dec. 5.—A 55-year-old woman, mother of 16 children, eight of whom are living, was in jail here today, held for questioning in connection with the poisoning of a grocer's family well.

The woman, Mrs. Catherine Krowczyk, was taken into custody after it was established that poison in the ratio of 20 gallons to 1000, was taken from the well of John Lugiewicz in the village of Carrollton. She protested that she was innocent, but Sheriff Schleich declared that three witnesses saw her near the well Tuesday morning, shortly before the poison was discovered. This contradicts her story of her movements, he said. No one drank the poisoned water because a son of Lugiewicz became suspicious of its appearance and odor, and notified the Sheriff. Officers said that the grocer obtained a judgment for $27 for a bill against Joe Krowczyk, husband of the woman, recently.

SIX INDICTED IN BAIL FRAUD

Reported Bondsman for Capone Among Those Reported Named.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—The county grand jury is reported to have indicted the following men in connection with the campaign against fraudulent bail bonds: Andrea Guerrier, reputed bondsman for "Scarface Al" Capone; Sol J. Shields, Robert F. Frieson, Clement Wertz, Benjamin Goodman and a sixth man whose name was not made public. Perjury is understood to be the charge.

WETS URGED TO OFFER
DRY LAW SUBSTITUTEDr. Wilson for Referendum if They Agree on Alternative to Prohibition.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Prospects of a showdown in both wet and dry ranks on whether there shall be a national prohibition referendum were increased when Dr.
Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, issued a statement yesterday favoring the move. "If the wets would agree on an alternative for prohibition.""If the association against the prohibition amendment will tell us what it is working for," Dr. Wilson said. "I, for one, and I am only one, would be glad to help devise a plan by which the two propositions—prohibition and the proposed substitute of the wet group—might be put before the American people for an intelligent choice in a constitutional referendum."The legalization of beer and wine, return of the saloon, Government ownership and the Canadian system were among the possible alternatives named in the statement.
Various dry leaders have opposed the proposal.Under present plans the matter will be discussed at the National Temperance Council, Dec. 8 and 9, to be attended by a group of individual dry leaders. As the council is empowered to take no action without unanimous consent, it has been planned to bring the subject up again at the national conference of organizations supporting the eighteenth amendment, meeting, Dec. 10, which will be attended by delegates from 32 dry groups.BOY HUNTER, 17, SHOT ACCIDENTALLY, DIESThomas Herbert, Support of Mother and Three Children,
Succumbs at Belleville.Thomas Herbert, 17 years old, 428 North First street, Belleville, died today at St. Elizabeth's Hospital there from infection resulting from a wound suffered Monday when his shotgun was discharged as he was pulling it from the rear of an automobile after returning from a hunting trip.The charge mangled his left arm, necessitating amputation. Herbert supported his mother, and three younger children.

KILLED IN FALL FROM PLANE

Air Reserve Officer Victim of Strange Accident at St. Paul, Minn.ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 5.—Lieut.
Lloyd Ruth of Minneapolis, member of the Air Reserve Corps of the United States Army, fell 500 feet to his death yesterday, toppling from an airplane as the pilot made
Lieut. Ruth wore a regulation army parachute, the ripcord which would cause it to open was not pulled. Capt. Jack Palmer, piloting the plane from the front cockpit, was unaware of the accident until after he had landed.Inspection of the safety belt in the cockpit disclosed it was not buckled.

Financier Is Charged With Conveying $350,000
Home to Father to Evade Creditors.

By the Associated Press.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 5.—Five men named as personal sureties on bonds securing State deposits in the closed Bank of Tennessee are made defendants in a suit filed by the State of Tennessee, which seeks judgment for $3,600,000 as the amount of highway funds in the bank and interest thereon.

The suit was filed in Chancery Court last night against Rogers Caldwell, president, and four associates in Caldwell & Co., of which the Bank of Tennessee was a subsidiary. Both the company and its subsidiary are in receivership.

Caldwell, Frank D. Marr, J. D. Carter, H. C. Alexander and T. J. Heltzberg were said by Attorney General L. D. Smith recently to have signed personal surety bonds totaling more than $6,000,000.

Another bill was directed by the State against Caldwell. His father, James E. Caldwell, and the Nashville Trust Co., seeking sale of "Brentwood Hall" where Rogers Caldwell lives.

The State contended the ground on which "Brentwood Hall" stands was conveyed recently by James E. Caldwell to the trust company, to be held for the benefit of Rogers Caldwell and his heirs. The suit alleged the conveyance was made for the purpose of evading creditors of Rogers Caldwell.

If the court should not set aside the trust instrument, then the State asks permission to sell the house itself, erected by Rogers Caldwell, the bill states, at a cost of more than $350,000. In the further event that the court rules Rogers Caldwell is not invested with title to the house, the petitioner asks a decree against James E. Caldwell for an amount equal to its cost.

Chancellor James B. Newman signed an order today directing that proceeds from a dispersal sale of the racing stable and stud belonging to Rogers Caldwell be placed in the hands of a special receiver. An injunction was issued, restraining C. J. Fitzgerald, in charge of the auction, from turning over the proceeds of the sale to anyone other than the receiver. The application for appointment of a receiver was filed in the interest of State deposits in the Bank of Tennessee.

36 DEAD IN BURMA QUAKES

By the Associated Press.

RANGOON, Burma, Dec. 5.—Meager reports reaching Rangoon indicate that at least 36 persons lost their lives in the earthquakes which shook virtually all of Burma Wednesday night and early yesterday. Probably many more were injured, since the houses in the worst affected districts were largely of wood and of very flimsy construction.

The area between Nyaung-U and Toungoo, of which Pyu is the center, was apparently the hardest hit. Pyu, in Upper Burma, experienced three very severe shocks lasting 45 seconds, but there was little damage, since most of the buildings had been reconstructed along shock-proof lines, following the earthquake of last May.

SECOND AWARD O'K'D FOR INJURED WORKER

Third Party Held Still Liable
After State Compensation Is Paid.

The right of an injured workman, who has accepted compensation from his employer, to recover also from a third party was upheld yesterday by the St. Louis Court of Appeals.

The case was that of Clarence McKenzie, a Negro truck driver for the J. A. Schaefer Construction Co., to whom $3000 was awarded by Circuit Judge Rutledge at a trial by default against the third party, the Missouri Stables, Inc. The Appellate Court in a decision written by Commissioner Walter Bennick affirmed the judgment.

McKenzie, in the course of his duties for the Schaefer Co., was delivering dirt Jan. 3, 1929, from the Park Plaza Hotel excavation to land of the Missouri Stables at 5200 Berthold avenue, and was directed, it was alleged, by an agent of the stables to drive on an embankment, where his truck overturned. He accepted $200 compensation under the State workmen's compensation act from his employer and then filed suit against the Missouri Stables for $10,000, alleging negligence.

A writ of error was filed in the Court of Appeals by the defendant on the ground that the cause of action against it belonged to the Schaefer company as substitute for McKenzie.

The decision, however, holds that the injured employee was a real party in interest and entitled to maintain the action, whether it be that the legal title thereto was vested in him, which point the Court did not decide, or for the reason he prosecuted the case in his own name as beneficiary.

"It is no great consequence to the defendant," the opinion states, "in whose name the action is brought, since in either event the cause of action is the same and is for the benefit of both the employee and employer." It is pointed out the plaintiff will be required to indemnify his employer for the sum it originally advanced.

McKenzie was represented by Oliver T. Remmers of the law firm of Judson, Green, Henry & Remmers. The case is said to set a precedent for which lawyers have been watching. Commissioner Bennick stated that the procedure to be followed in enforcement of third-party liability had been a vexatious question for determination by courts of every state that has adopted a compensation act. The provisions of the various acts, he explained, differ so widely in their terms that decisions based on outside statutes are not greatly helpful in the interpretation of the Missouri act.

SENATE SENDS BUS BILL BACK TO COMMITTEE

Couzens Attributes Action to Railroad Lobby, Saying Passage This Session Is Blocked.

MEASURE PROVIDES FOR I. C. C. CONTROL

But It Retains Clause Prohibiting Mergers Between Motor and Steam Carrier Lines.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 201-205 Kellogg Bldg. WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. — The railroad lobby, according to Chairman Couzens of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, has blocked enactment of legislation at the present session of Congress for Federal regulation of motor buses.

The Senate yesterday voted, 54 to 29, to recommit the Couzens-Parker bill to the Interstate Commerce Committee. In a speech shortly before the vote to recommit, Couzens pleaded with his colleagues for a straight out vote on the bill.

"The railroads," he said, "have lobbied since Congress convened to have this bill killed. Since the Senate defeated the amendment sponsored by Senator Glenn of Illinois, to strike out the provision against mergers between railroads and bus lines, the railroad lobby has done its utmost against the bill."

The vote to recommit revealed an unusual line-up. Both the progressive and conservative ranks were divided. Senator Watson, Republican leader, voted with Couzens against recommitment. Senator Hawes and Senator Patterson of Missouri voted for recommitment.

Losses Preferred Status. Progressives like Senator Dill (Dem. of Washington) and Senator Howell (Rep.) of Nebraska, voted to recommit the bill because a majority of the committee refused to eliminate from the measure the provision requiring certificates of public convenience and necessity to be issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission for buses engaged in interstate service. These progressives felt that they would have a chance to amend the bill in committee.

Conservative Senators voted for recommitment apparently in the belief that they could force the committee to accept the defeated Glenn amendment.

During the debate Chairman Couzens refused to defer a vote on the measure until Senators had had a longer time to study the bill. He said that if the bill was displaced as the unfinished business of the Senate, it would not be acted upon this session. The bill lost its preferred status by recommitment.

The motor bus regulation bill has been one of the controversial questions which divided Congress along economic and not party lines. There has been virtual unanimity that interstate bus service should be regulated in some way by the Interstate Commerce Commission, but the economic division resulted from differing views as to whether the railroads or the independent motor buses should be favored.

Temporary Victory for Railroads. The liberal Democrats and Republicans have fought the public convenience and necessary certificate provision in the Senate bill on the theory that, without such certificates, the buses would be in a better position to compete with the railroads. They insisted that motor buses, if not limited by the issuance of such certificates, would bring lower railroad rates and better service to the people.

Conservative Congressmen have retorted that the railroads and the buses should be on an equal basis of competition, and that the establishment of new bus line services should first have the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Another controversial provision in the Senate bill related to the prohibition against mergers between railroads and bus lines. Senator Glenn's proposal to eliminate this provision from the bill was defeated during the closing days of the last session by a vote of 27 to 21.

At present there is no prohibition against such mergers and, by blocking action on the Couzens bill today, the railroads gained a temporary victory at least. The mergers can go on unimpeded.

DISTURBANCE IN NEW YORK

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Zelgreen's cafeteria, West Thirty-fourth street, target of the Communists in six previous disorders, was the center of another disturbance last night. Between 500 and 1000 persons gathered in the vicinity of the restaurant and then scattered in various small groups so police had to be deployed over an area of several blocks to maintain order.

As a result, Seventh and Eighth avenues from Forty-second to Thirty-fourth streets, constituted a sector of minor guerrilla fighting from about 1:30 to 2:30 o'clock. There was no serious fighting and there were no arrests, but a sort of constant petty squabbling kept ner to another as mounted police those trying to ascertain what was charged into small knots of Com-munists, dispersing them.

MRS. M. K. STRAUSS EXPLAINS ALIMONY NEEDS TO COURT

Judge Roskopf Takes Under Advisement Request for Funds Pending Divorce Settlement.

The motion of Mrs. Morton K. Strauss of the Park Plaza Hotel, to obtain alimony pending litigation of her husband's suit for divorce, was taken under advisement by Circuit Judge Roskopf in the Court of Domestic Relations yesterday after attorneys for her husband, Emil S. Strauss, wealthy retired merchant, had shown in court that Mrs. Strauss had properties in excess of $100,000.

Mrs. Strauss admitted that she had seven articles of jewelry valued collectively at $76,706, a vanity case valued at $2706, a $15,000 foreign-made automobile, furniture in storage worth $15,000, and personal property.

The Court, after hearing the testimony of Mrs. Strauss, the sole witness who was permitted to testify, indicated that the ruling in the Missouri Supreme Court case of Arnold vs. Arnold would be followed, in which the opinion was handed down that a woman must be "destitute of means to meet the suit" of her husband before she would be allowed alimony pending litigation. At the special request of Robert Burnett, attorney for Mrs. Strauss, Judge Roskopf allowed three days for the filing of briefs in the case.

In $4050 Mink Coat. Dressed in a mink coat which she admitted was valued at $4050, with a brown hat, dress and shoes to match, Mrs. Strauss told the court that aside from $400 in a personal bank account, she had "not a cent in the world." She further explained that the rent on her three-room-and-kitchenette apartment in the Park Plaza Hotel, at $220 a month, had been unpaid since she entered the hotel in November. Asked if she had been able to meet expenses for food and even for milk bills, Mrs. Strauss said, "I am in debt; I've paid nothing." Strauss, she said, had given her nothing for her support since September.

Previous to their separation last July, she testified, Strauss had allowed her $300 for their house expenses and $250 for her personal needs each month, in addition to paying the $150 rent on their apartment, the upkeep of her horse, and the expense of her chauffeur, as well as buying her jewelry.

Owens Expensive Jewelry. The jewelry is mentioned in Strauss' petition as one of the principal evidences of the extravagance which he charges under the grounds of general indignities. Among the articles which Mrs. Strauss admitted owning are a diamond bracelet valued at $3,000, a pearl necklace worth $16,706, a platinum watch appraised at $1500, and an $8000 diamond engagement ring.

In addition, Mrs. Strauss said that she had a $3000 diamond ring, and a $3500 diamond pin given her by her first husband, and a $1000 diamond bracelet which is now in the possession of her 17-year-old daughter, in school in Europe.

Continuing with an explanation of the manner in which Strauss supported her, Mrs. Strauss said that during the three years of their married life they had made three trips to Florida and Cuba, one to the Canadian Rockies, one trip to Europe together, and that she had gone alone there later, and that they had spent a summer at the Westwood Country Club. She said that their expenses on those excursions had been $100 a day. She and Strauss formerly lived at the Senate Apartments, 255 Union boulevard, from which she moved after the separation.

Other evidence tending to show the value of Strauss' properties was ruled out by the Court, under the Supreme Court decision. Strauss was not present at the hearing and his attorneys offered no testimony, basing their case closely on the decision of the higher court. Judge Roskopf, at the conclusion of evidence, said that temporary alimony would be denied, but agreed to reserve the decision pending presentation of briefs.

ONID BARBER WHO KILLED SON GETS DEATH PENALTY

Alleged to Have Murdered Wife and Four Children by Turning on Gas.

By the Associated Press. HAMILTON, O., Dec. 5.—Charles King, 39 years old, barber, charged with slaying his wife and four children, was convicted of the first degree murder of his son, Robert, 14, last night by a jury which declined to recommend mercy. The verdict carries the death penalty.

Though King was charged with the first degree murder in five separate indictments accusing him of killing the five by turning on the gas at his home, he was tried on the indictment charging the one murder.

RED PROSECUTOR DEMANDS DEATH FOR 8 PLOTTERS

Krilenko Quotes Lenin in His Summation at Trial of Men Who Have Confessed Conspiracy.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Dec. 5.—A demand of the people's prosecutor, N. B. Krilenko, that they be given the death penalty for having plotted to overthrow the Communist regime today rang in the ears of eight Soviet engineers and former officials as their trial approached its close.

In the grand ballroom of the House of Commons, where the trial is being held, the prosecutor summoned to the case against the men. Millions of Russians, he shouted, have demanded the death penalty for them, and he echoed that demand.

For the summation, Krilenko donned his khaki trousers and the roll puttees which he has worn for a suit of black. He had a new eye-shade for the occasion, and his green brought out in striking relief his shaved head.

Quoting Nikolai Lenin, venerated as the father of the Soviets, he said:

"If we are to avoid a clash with capitalist nations our tactics must be aimed to destroy the plans of those who would destroy us."

He ridiculed the idea that the trial was a frame-up, the evidence false, or obtained by torture and coercion.

"We don't need false documents," he said, "because we have real proof. These defendants and witnesses were arrested at various times; they belonged to different branches, yet without talking to each other they have come on the stand and confirmed the plot with statements of methods, dates and other facts."

"They didn't even have strong ideas to which they could cling," he said. "They could bring no justification for their acts."

The summation came at the end of a dragging day in which all the accused were recalled to the witness stand to tell how much money they got for their subversive activities. It developed that none of them was paid more than $500, and some of them got nothing at all.

Mention of Poincare Again.
The name of Raymond Poincare, the French statesman, was heard again in the courtroom. Before the judges, who had ruled out all mention of "friendly foreign powers," Krilenko shook his finger in the general direction of Paris and accused the former French Premier of working hand in glove with counter revolutionaries.

"We Poincare want to know all the details of this plot in which he played such an important part," Krilenko shouted. "I'll let him know that our people are ready for the worst. When the time comes to judge, he will find out that we will meet the crisis armed and prepared."

Referring to testimony which involved officers of the French general staff whom the defendants implicated in the plot, Krilenko characterized the French denials as "pure fake."

"We have sufficient proof of their connection with this plot through their agents in Moscow," he said. "The action of the men who plotted with them is sufficient to merit the most severe punishment under our criminal code."

HALDEMAN-JULIUS IN CITY.
TALKS OF KIDNAPING THREAT

E. Haldeaman-Julius, wealthy Girard, Kan., author and publisher, who reported he received demands from extortionists for $50,000, and his 13-year-old daughter, Alice, were in St. Louis today with friends while Sheriff J. M. Hyndman of Crawford County, Kan., continued his efforts to trap the alleged extortionists.

Haldeaman-Julius said he would remain here a few days to protect his daughter, because of the threats, he said, a son, Henry, 11, is under guard at Cedarville, Ill., where he is going to school.

The publisher said he had heard nothing from the extortionists since one of them telephoned their home at 6 a. m. yesterday and said he would call later and say where the money should be left last night.

Alice said she was not scared, but was sorry she had to miss school.

G. O. P. FACTIONS MAKE PEACE
Strife between two Republican factions in the Twenty-fifth Ward was stopped by a meeting last night at the Avalon Hotel, Craytor and Pershing avenues. Representatives of both groups were chosen as officers of the recognized ward organization.

One faction consisted of followers of Mayor Miller, while the other came from the old Kiel-Alco wing of the party, and there had been bitter political differences between them. Officers elected last night were: Floyd L. McKinney, a lawyer, president; Sylvester A. Nangle, Mrs. Ida D. Daly, Carl Stifel, Louis Rothelmer, Norman J. Radler and Ollie E. Haupt, vice presidents; Louis E. Block, treasurer; Samuel E. Jeffers, secretary; Miss Mildred Stephenson, assistant secretary; John M. Quinn, sergeant-at-arms, and Miss Millicent Frick, assistant sergeant-at-arms.

MAKES U. S. POLICY TOWARD SOVIET AND LATIN-AMERICA

John Bassett Moore Ridicules Danger of Communism, Saying Nation Is Not in Danger Against It.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—America's diplomatic policy toward Soviet Russia and Latin-America was criticized last night by John Bassett Moore, former World Court Judge.

In an address before the Bar Association he said that our refusal to recognize Russia was in conflict with our approval of that country as a signatory to the Kellogg-Brand peace pact.

Taking recent events in Brazil as an example, he said we had "drifted into a fog and lost our bearings" in our attitude toward South American republics.

He ridiculed the danger of Communism in this country and said the nation was proof against it.

Our ineffective policy in Latin-America, he said, has been clearly demonstrated by the fact that "a frown or scowl on the face of the United States is not a cure for revolutions."

SHARES CANDY WITH DOG WHICH DEVELOPS RABIES

Boy Is Sent to City Hospital for Pasteur Treatment After Becoming Ill.

Warren Thornburgh, 14 months old, 1109 South Tenth street, will receive the Pasteur treatment because he shared a stick of candy with a pet dog, which developed symptoms of rabies yesterday.

The boy became ill yesterday and was taken to City Hospital where physicians advised Pasteur treatment on learning of the stick candy incident, which occurred last Wednesday. The dog was killed and the head sent to the Health Department for examination.

The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Thornburgh.

MO. PAC. INSPECTION TOUR

President Baldwin Accompanied by Group of Railroad Officials.

L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, and a group of railroad officials from Cleveland, O., left Union Station this morning on a special train for a tour of inspection of the Missouri Pacific lines. The trip is one of a number which are conducted at intervals by the railroad company.

Included in the party were C. L. Bradley, chairman of the board of directors of the Erie Railroad; J. L. Bernet, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio, Hocking Valley and Penn. Marquette Railroad; W. J. Harahan, senior vice president of the same road; G. A. Tomlinson, John Sherwin Jr. and Alva Bradley, all of Cleveland, and W. M. Reilly of Buffalo, N. Y., directors of the Missouri Pacific.

BODY OF LOST FLYER FOUND IN WRECKAGE

William Griffin's Plane Blown
From Buffalo-Cleveland
Course in Blizzard.

By the Associated Press.
BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 5.—The body of William M. Griffin, aviator, who was killed Nov. 24 after he had taken off in his plane from Buffalo for Cleveland, was found yesterday in the wreckage of the plane in a wooded section of the Chautauque County hills.
The flyer had been blown from his course along Lake Erie by a severe wind and snowstorm.
Fox hunters came upon the wreckage buried under two feet of snow. The body of the pilot had been frozen stiff. In the forehead there was a deep smash. A Coroner said death probably was instantaneous.
In the wreck were broken bottles that had contained Canadian liquor.
Authorities said there was no suspicion of the aviator having been a run runner, but that he probably

SEARCH CONTINUES FOR MEN WHO FLED FROM ASYLUM

Man Committed for Killing Bigamous Wife Appears at Home of Former Mate in New York.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Search for seven men who fled from the state hospital for the criminally insane at Mattewan after overpowering guards was continued today by city police, state troopers and Sheriff's force, who searched New York and patrolled the 60-mile roadway from Beacon, N. Y.
Special guards watched the convicted former home here in Brooklyn, on Long Island and in Rochester, and plain clothes men sought them in their former haunts.
Two of the fugitives were sentenced for slayings, one for arson, one for assault, two for burglary and one for violating a parole.
Frank Vanderkuylen, who was committed for killing his bigamous wife with acid, appeared twice in the city yesterday. He called at his first wife's apartment several hours after the escape, but was refused admittance, and he talked to a priest in the rectory of a church a short time later.
William Nelson, insane burglar who escaped Nov. 12, engineered the break early yesterday morning.
He returned to the hospital with

AUSTRALIAN ASSAILS METHOD OF NAMING GOVERNOR-GENERAL

Opposition Leader Declares Isaacs Is Not Choice of King But of Federal Government.

By the Associated Press.
CANBERRA, Australia, Dec. 5.—
The appointment of Sir Isaac Isaacs, first native-born Governor-General of Australia, was attacked today by the Nationalist-Country party opposition.
H. J. G. Latham, opposition leader, charged the new Governor-General was the nominee of the Federal Government and not of the King. He declared there was no constitutional warrant for the practice.

RADIO ADDRESS ON SMOKE

Women's Committee Head Says Nuisance Has Been Reduced.

By the Associated Press.
SOLUTION of the smoke problem is possible and each citizen should do his part not only by proper firing of his own furnace but by reporting negligence of others to the City Smoke Abatement Department.
Mrs. Paul Treumann, chairman of the Civic Committee of the Council of Jewish Women, said last night in a radio address under auspices of the Citizens' Smoke Abatement League.
"While conditions are still far from satisfactory," she said, "the fact that the smoke nuisance has been abated by half in the last two years shows it can be completely eliminated."

EVICTON OF STRIKERS SET FOR CHRISTMAS WEEK

Danville, Va., Cotton Mills Strike
Notices on 47 Occupants of Company Houses.

By the Associated Press.
DANVILLE, Va., Dec. 5.—Forty-seven notices of evictions from mill-owned homes were served today by the management of the Riverside and Dan river cotton mills whose 4000 union employees are on strike.
The notices which are the first issued in large numbers since the strike began in September will become effective Christmas week.
Union men said many strike leaders were among those against whom the eviction notices were directed.
White House Nursery Ready.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Rearrangements in nine of the White House rooms, incident to changing several of them into a third floor nursery, have been completed for the expected arrival of President Hoover's grand children on Sunday.
The Executive Mansion is to be the home of the three children of Mr.
and Mrs. Herbert Hoover Jr., Peggy Ann, Herbert III, and baby Josh, while their father continues to convalesce at Asheville, N. C.

COUNTY BUSINESS MEN DISCUSS SEWER LAW

Chamber of Commerce Ranks
It as Most Important of Problems.

The sewer situation was declared to be the most important and perplexing immediate problem by speakers at a luncheon meeting of the St. Louis County Chamber of Commerce yesterday at the Mark Twain Hotel.

The organization which criticized the Ralph sewer law immediately after its passage, and which conducted an investigation of the procedure in county sewer districts, has not gone on record as favoring the repeal of the law as advocated by the St. Louis County Taxpayers' Protective Association. President James M. Rohan announced that the first of a series of meetings for discussion of public questions, to be arranged soon, will be devoted to sewer matters.

He called attention to the fact that $500,000 has been spent in preliminary plans and that repeal of the law might mean loss of benefit to taxpayers from this expenditure. With all factions agreed that sewers are needed, he said that now is the time to proceed because of the relief construction work would afford the unemployed.

The Investigating Committee of the County Chamber made only a partial report after holding 20 meetings at which sewer district officials and employees and persons opposed to construction under the Ralph law were questioned. With the filing of numerous suits by the Taxpayers' Protective Association, however, the committee decided not to make a final report until these suits were disposed of.

Suggests Analysis Be Made.
It was suggested by Royal H. Switzer that a disinterested authority be employed by the organization to analyze conditions in the various districts and prepare an opinion of the Ralph law. The matter will be considered at the next meeting.

Repeal of the law, Rohan added, would result in a delay of several years while other enabling legislation was being passed and districts were reorganized.

Clarke E. Jacoby, consulting engineer in all of the county sewer districts, said construction costs would be comparable to those in St. Louis and that the provisions of the Ralph law insured equitable assessments.

St. Louis County's new $1,000,000 hospital, built with bond issue funds, cannot be put into operation before April, Dr. Eugene Scharif, former superintendent of City Hospital said, after discussing work to be done before the institution is ready to receive patients. The County Court announced several months ago that it did not have sufficient revenue to operate the hospital and announced plans for obtaining passage of a bill permitting the levy of a special hospital tax at the next session of the Legislature in January.

$175,000 Operating Cost.
Dr. Scharif said that a study of the county's needs indicated that the hospital could be operated on $175,000 a year, $75,000 of this sum being for its payroll. With $65,000 now being paid to St. Louis institutions for the care of the care of the county's indigent sick, and the money derived from pay patients, he said he believed the hospital might be operated without a deficit.

Dr. R. B. Denny, president of the St. Louis County Medical Society, announced that members of that organization hoped to see the new building ready for operation in January, and added that he thought it possible.

A description of a comprehensive highway plan for St. Louis County, anticipating a population of 3,000,000, was given by John G. Marr of Harland Bartholomew & Associates, Inc., employed to draft the plan by the County Court. The system has been described at length in the Post-Dispatch.

Sam Rudder, Division Engineer of the State Highway Department, said that no decision as to the location of the proposed superhighway to connect with the projected bridge over the Missouri River near the end of Olive Street road would be made until the recommendations of Bartholomew were reviewed by the department.

President Rohan was authorized to appoint a nominating committee for the election of new officers.

SHIPPING HALTED BY FOG IN THE THAMES ESTUARY

Large Liners Are Tied Up; Thick Mist Delays Suburban Trains in London.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Dec. 5.—One of the thickest fogs in years covered the Thames estuary today, halting shipping. Among the boats at a standstill were the American Merchant, the Cunarder Aurania, the Orient liner Orizeto, and passenger steamers of the Thames-Dunkirk Service.

Many persons bound for the continent and others awaiting friends on incoming liners at Tilbury had to take hotel accommodations last night on the shore.

The fog was thick in some other parts of England, but London, usually one of the worst fog areas in the country, escaped the severe conditions although during the night the mist was thick enough to interfere with suburban railway traffic and to encourage automobile thieves.

PREDICTS BUSINESS ADVANCE IN 1931

Dr. Harold Stonier Looks for Gain "Despite Stock Market."

Business conditions will improve during 1931 but the stock market "cannot possibly work itself out in that time," Dr. Harold Stonier, educational director of the American Institute of Banking, told about 1000 sales executives attending the fourth annual conference at Hotel Jefferson today sponsored by the Sales Managers' Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce.

Encouraging features of the present situation, Dr. Stonier said, were that costs are lower than ever before, that increased savings accounts in banks constituted a huge reservoir of purchasing power, some of which must be used in 1931, and that bank loans for commercial purposes were larger than for many months, indicating a stimulation of business activity.

The stock market he listed as the chief negative factor, but said: "Business will go forward despite the stock market. This country has been built by men who worked, not gambled." He said the period of stock liquidation was not over, that many shares were held for resale, and such sales would tend to depress the market as soon as a rise was begun.

"Rumors and Hysteria." Additional failure of small banks are to be expected also, Dr. Stonier said. Many are finding themselves with frozen notes and others are being forced to close because of rumors and hysteria, he said. The prospect of an extension of Congress next spring and summer is another unsettling factor, he added.

He did not attempt to predict how long the present depression will last, but cited figures of other depressions since 1857. In the average case, he said, the down trend lasted 16 months and the up trend 18 months, the average bottom being reached when some figure indicated that business was 16.7 per cent below normal.

The present depression, Dr. Stonier said, began in July, 1929, and business had reached 16.8 per cent below normal last September. "And this caused less disturbance than any previous depression," he said. "During 1930 we have witnessed the most orderly retreat we have ever had. The companies that have survived, as a consequence, are in stronger position than they have ever been."

For Judicious Speculation. The time is ripe, he said, for judicious speculation. "You can't build on saving alone. Speculation means assuming a necessary economic risk, and you can't have progress without risk," he said.

Other speakers were Alvin E. Dodd, Chicago; H. W. Fretts Jr., Lancaster, Pa.; Frank W. Lovjoy, New York, and A. L. McCarthy, Detroit.

Dodd, assistant to the president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., said companies which have had the advantage of wise merchandising have gone forward during the depression. He said 121 major industries had a greater sales volume during the first nine months of 1930 than in the similar period of 1929.

Fretts discussed methods of selecting and training salesmen. Salesmen who sold their own personalities a generation ago must now be trained to sell the "corporate personality" of the institution they represent, he said.

Lovjoy, salesmanager of the Vacuum Oil Co., described methods of opening new markets in periods of depression, and McCarthy, vice president of the Eureka Vacuum Cleaner Co., the structure and supervision of a field selling force.

30 HURT IN BOMBAY CLASH

Police Club Crowd at Nationalist Flag-Planting Ceremony.
By the Associated Press.
BOMBAY, Dec. 5.—Thirty persons were injured today when police charged a crowd with their clubs in an attempt to break up a flag-planting ceremony of Indian Nationalists in commemoration of completion of Mahatma Gandhi's seventh month in prison. The ceremony of planting the Nationalist flag had been forbidden.

NEW BELGIAN ENVOY TO U. S.

Paul May, Now at Rio, to Replace Prince de Ligne.
By the Associated Press.
BRUSSELS, Dec. 5.—The Foreign Office today officially announced that Prince de Ligne has been relieved as Ambassador to the United States and will be replaced by Paul May, now the Government's representative at Rio de Janeiro.

Canada Third in Gold Mined in 1929

By the Associated Press.
OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—Canada mined more gold in 1929 than in any other year and was third among the nations in production, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports. The year's output was valued at $59,661,563. Only South Africa and the United States surpassed the figure.

New Negro Military Camp.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Secretary of War Huxley yesterday referred to his general staff for study a request by the Missouri Congressional delegation, headed by Representative L. C. Dyer of St. Louis, for establishment of a Negro Citizens' military training camp at Jefferson Barracks, near St. Louis.

CAMPAIGN FOR HIGHER OIL PRICES BEGUN

Royal Dutch Group Starts Movement, Citing Action of Copper and Steel Men.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The Royal Dutch Shell group, the world's largest producers of crude oil, is beginning a campaign to bolster crude oil prices, along with producers in two other basic industries, copper and steel.

"The great copper and steel industries have taken the initial step to bring about an improvement in their position. Why not oil?" asked Richard Airey, one of the leading officials of the Royal Dutch group in the United States, in a statement to the Associated Press today.

"It is the firm opinion of the Royal Dutch group," he continued, "that the producers who have made possible the great curtailment of production already accomplished, and the need for still further curtailment, should be compensated by higher prices, and not penalized by a reduction."

"It has been said we have put out feelers for a joint price raise. This is not correct. We have made known our opinion through the press and the danger we fear that the curtailment program will be opposed by the small producer being brought to the edge of ruin and being compelled to increase production to live."

"Trade advisers show that the consumption of gasoline is increasing; therefore, crude oil production and refinery runs should be further curtailed."

"We are following the United States movement by curtailing in Venezuela, where our production was 125,000 barrels daily and is now 155,000 barrels daily."

Frederick Godber, director of the Royal Dutch Shell group, on the eve of his return to London after a survey of the oil industry in the United States, predicted "ruination of thousands of oil producers and excessive waste of capital and oil" unless a definite program of production curtailment is adopted.

The oil industry seems to have arrived at the crossroads and finds no indication which road to take," Godber said. "Only two remedies are evident. One is to follow the old law of supply and demand. The other, and only alternative, is to adopt a definite production curtailment plan, to be followed by stable conditions and rational prices which will enable the producer to live. The next thing in importance to that is to stop unnecessary drilling."

Pratt Oil & Gas to Cease Purchase From Mid-Continent Field.

By the Associated Press.
TULSA, Ok., Dec. 5.—The Pratt Oil & Gas Co. announced today that, effective Jan. 1, it would withdraw until further notice as a purchaser of mid-continent crude oil.

SCOTTISH COAL STRIKE ENDS

Union Delegates Order Miners Back to Work Monday.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Dec. 5.—A strike in the Scottish coal fields, which was called Dec. 1, was ended today when a conference of union delegates ordered the men back to the pits on Monday.

The Scottish strike was at bottom a protest against the "spread-over" working schedule under which the mine owners proposed to work their shafts in five eight-hour shifts and one five-hour shift a week, instead of on the straight seven and one-half hour day provided in the new coal mines act. Seventy thousand miners walked out last Monday when the new act became effective.

TWO MISSOURI BANKS CLOSE

Both Depositories Small; One at Ashley, Other at Ashley.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 5.—Two small banks, one in Pike County and the other in Howell County, were closed today by their boards of directors and placed in the hands of the State Finance Department. It was announced here.

The Bank of Moody, at Moody, in Howell County, the first to close, had deposits of $13,844. The second to close, the Bank of Ashley, at Ashley, in Pike County, had deposits of $148,685. Deposits include $441 of public funds. George H. Whitfield is president and J. B. Smith, cashier.

Traffic Cop Catches Goose.

Traffic policeman William Phelan will have goose for his Christmas dinner. He was standing at Sixth street and Lucas avenue directing traffic yesterday afternoon when something struck him in the back. Phelan turned and tackled the goose, an 18-pounder, which was attempting to make its way across Sixth street. It is thought the fowl escaped from "commission row."

Bit of Missing Air Liner Found.

PARIS, Dec. 5.—A Marseilles dispatch to Petit Parisien says part of the wreckage of the Italian air liner Irany, which has been missing since Nov. 20, has been found by a fishing smack between Leucate and Port Vendre, 38 miles from the coast. The air liner disappeared with all on board while engaged in the Marseilles-Barcelona passenger and mail service.

Husband Surrenders After Shooting.

By the Associated Press.
BRECKENRIDGE, Tex., Dec. 5.—Mrs. Adela Post of Breckenridge and Tex Mecklenburg of New Gulf were taken to a hospital with gunshot wounds today after a shooting in an apartment house. R. D. Post, the woman's husband, was bandaged, surrendered after the shooting. Mecklenburg was shot in the chest. His recovery is doubtful. Mrs. Post's injury is not serious.

TESTS CONFIRM 10 CASES OF TULAREMIA IN ILLINOIS

Health Department Reports This Is Highest Prevalence of Disease in State.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 5.—Ten cases of Tularemia, or "rabbit fever" in Illinois have been confirmed by tests in the last two days, according to an announcement by the State Department of Public Health today.

All the reported cases except two have occurred in the central and southern sections of the State where rabbit hunting is in full swing. Three cases were from Macoupin and two from Effingham counties.

"This is the highest prevalence of Tularemia that has ever been observed in Illinois," the department said. "Infected rabbits are the most common source. The large number of cases recently reported is therefore taken as an indication that rabbits are heavily infected this year."

Tularemia is rarely fatal, but is a long drawn-out disease. Infection is through scratches, cuts or abrasion of the skin. The greatest danger is at the time of skinning and dressing freshly killed rabbits. Cooking makes rabbits safe for food whether they are infected or not, the department said.

PROSPECTIVE CUSTOMER

ROBS AUTO SALESMAN

Takes New Car and $140, Leaves Beardstown, Ill., Demonstrator on Highway.

By the Associated Press.
BEARDSTOWN, Ill., Dec. 5.—A prospective automobile purchaser turned robber during the course of a demonstration yesterday, robbed the salesman of $140 and stole a new sedan.

Lloyd Alcorn, salesman for the Modern Auto Co. here, took a stranger for a ride on the hard road west of Beardstown. The prospect told Alcorn to stop the car and let him drive. When the salesman alighted he was ordered to hand over his money. The robber sped away with the new car leaving Alcorn standing in the country. No trace of the robber or car had been found this morning.

DRIVER HELD ON 4 CHARGES

AFTER CHASE BY POLICE

A man who said he was Paul R. Tanner, an aviation student, of East St. Louis, was arrested at 3 a. m. today by police following a chase from East and Easton avenues to West Pine boulevard and Kingshighway.

The driver attracted the attention of officers in a police car by reckless driving, police report. During the course of the chase he drove through three traffic stop signals and attained a high speed. At City Hospital physicians said he was intoxicated.

Charges against him include driving while intoxicated, careless driving, disregarding traffic signals, and having no license plates. A young woman passenger in the machine was not arrested.

AUTO "SHOT FULL OF HOLES"

Owner's Explanation to Company

Holding Note for Loan on Car.

An automobile bearing dozens of holes and dents apparently made by bullets, is held at the Studebaker Auto Agency salesroom, 3556 Lindell boulevard, for the owner, F. J. Bauman, 1464 Ferguson avenue. Bauman has informed a finance company that holds his note for a loan, made with the automobile as security, that the car was "shot full of holes" in October when he left it over night near the St. Louis Gun Club, 9301 North Broadway.

Ditcher Auto, Frustrates Kidnaping

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 5.—Frustrated in one kidnapping by a driver's skillful ditching of his automobile on the rainsoaked highway, two robbers flagged another machine early today and continued eastward. Claude L. Sadler, Kansas City engineer, and Francis McMahon, golf professional, were robbed of $15 by two well-dressed youths who boarded Sadler's car near a stop light and ordered the two to drive them to St. Louis. With an armed robber on the seat beside him, Sadler applied the brakes on a curve near Concordia, Mo., sending the machine into a ditch. The robbers halted the next car, a coupe, to continue their journey toward St. Louis.

Held for Shooting Bank Agent.

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Dec. 5.—John R. Lilly, proprietor of a roadside near the Arkansas-Missouri line, was held under bond after his arrest yesterday in connection with the shooting 10 days ago of George D. Ray, Hornersville, Mo., who is a representative of a St. Louis bank. The shooting occurred while Ray was on the way from Corns, Ark., to Poplar Bluff. Sheriff McCown said his investigation brought out information that Lilly had threatened shooting Wiley Owens Jr., a Deputy Sheriff, who had been summoned by Grover Kiser, neighbor of Lilly, after Lilly had threatened his life.

POINCARÉ LIKELY TO ORGANIZE NEW FRENCH MINISTRY

Generally Mentioned During and After Debate in Senate That Forced Tardieu to Resign.

GOVERNMENT UPSET ON INTERNAL POLICY

Attackers Cite Oustrie Bank Failure, Speculation and Listing of Shaky Stock on Exchange.

By ARNO BOSCH FLEUROT, Paris Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

PARIS, Dec. 5.—Andre Tardieu's second Cabinet, formed last March, resigned last night after the Senate, by a majority of eight votes, recorded its lack of confidence. The vote followed a violent attack in the Government's financial and internal policies, led by the Radical Senator, Rene Hery. The vote was 147 to 139.

No sooner had Tardieu and his cabinet colleagues presented their resignations to President Doumergue at the Elysee Palace than the name of Raymond Poincare, former President and former Premier, was being mentioned generally as the probable successor to Tardieu. Although Poincare told Hery he preferred not to head the Government again, his name was constantly put forward by the older statesmen during the debate that defeated Tardieu. He was called to the Presidential Palace this afternoon.

The fall of the Tardieu Government was the fourth in the history of the Third Republic by a defeat in the Senate.

Speculation and Bank Failures. The vote that unseated Tardieu was a bitter battle of words between the Premier and Senator Hery, who charged Tardieu with neglecting the country's interests during the recent "frenzy of speculation" on the Bourse which culminated in several bank failures, notably the failure of the Bank of France, which both the Ministry of Finance and a special commission of the Chamber of Deputies are now investigating.

The investigation of the relations between Bourse speculators and members of Parliament and of the Ministry of Finance, which both the Ministry of Finance and a special commission of the Chamber of Deputies are now investigating, recently led to the resignation of three members of the Tardieu Ministry, including Minister of Justice Raoul Peret, who relinquished his post under fire as a result of his past connections with Albert Oustrie, the speculative banker of Toulouse, who became a multimillionaire before his ventures crashed.

It was brought out that Peret, who is a lawyer, had received letters from acting as counsel for Oustrie. It has also been disclosed—and the fact was touched on during many debates that stock of an Italian company manufacturing artificial silk was admitted to listing on the Paris Bourse, presumably through political influence, at a time when the company was shaky. It was a full movement in support of his stock that Oustrie started his wit climb to wealth.

The Chamber's investigating commission has developed the fact that the Ministry of Finance opposed the listing of this stock. One of the officials who opposed it was Clement Moret, who later succeeded Emile Moreau as governor of the Bank of France.

Real Authors of T. Hery's Fall. Although Senator Hery forced the debate that defeated Tardieu, it was not he who delivered the coup de grace. Senators Emile Moret and Henri de Jouvenel really brought Tardieu down by insisting that times are too serious for France to try to continue under a Government continually threatened with overthrow by a hostile opposition.

Borel sounded the note of the day when he said in one of the closing addresses: "This Parliament was elected under the government of national union and presided over by Poincare, who is one of the purest glories of France." Poincare interrupted at this point. "That didn't prevent my going some of my collaborators a few months later," he said.

This was a reference to the downfall of his own "Cabinet of the Republic and Socialists," who, in accordance with a resolution introduced by former Finance Minister Joseph Caillaux before the party caucus at Angers, instructed members of Poincare's Cabinet to resign, precipitating the resignation of the entire Ministry.

Borel said that Tardieu's difficulty was that he could not get the radicals to work with him. This

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

PAGAN SONNETS. By John Myers O'Hara. (Smith & Sale, Portland, Me. $2.)

SOME months ago this column contained some enthusiastic comment on Heredia's sonnet "The Trophies," as translated by John Myers O'Hara in collaboration with John Heredia. It is unsurpassed as a sonnet for its exquisite verse and is one of those who may still be acquainted with O'Hara's work in any and every volume of poetry. Indeed, the truth of the remark is quite commonly granted by critics, regardless of their affiliations. This surprising unanimity may not be wholly unaccountable. The fact that O'Hara is related to a competitor in the world-and-tumble writing game of the day. Few indeed really want to do what he does, and still fewer would it be. It's not easy, it's not novel, and it simply doesn't pay in any sense save the aesthetic. O'Hara is obviously and avowedly a man born out of his time and quite content to be so. He is truly a Pagan, but not in the curiously ignorant sense of the word as commonly understood just now, when any semi-literate with a quite inapplicable penchant for hell-raising and general vulgarity can call himself a Pagan and get away with it. O'Hara's paganism is a noble way of viewing man, his relation to men and to the cosmos. Contrary to a vulgar notion, that way does not involve a lack of self-control and is removed from the possibilities of a vulgarism. Indeed, it is the way of viewing mankind and his world that produced in its day some of the finest epics this world has ever known. Nor is it inevitable that mankind may not return to it. But the verse, merely as verse—there is magic in it!

CYRUS HALL MCCORMICK. By Wm. T. Hutchison. (The Century Co., New York City.)

Any adequate study of the life of Cyrus McCormick is certain to be an important contribution to the history of civilization, for the invention of the horse-drawn reaper 160 years ago marked the beginning of a new era in the fundamental industry of mankind, and of a profound change in Western culture. In more than his inventions McCormick was a man of the future, for he was by no means the traditional mechanical genius incapable of making his way in a new world. He was, in fact, an energetic and capable business man of the modern type, and as early as 1850 he had established a factory in Chicago and was developing methods of machine production and a sales organization. The present volume deals with McCormick's career before the Civil War. A second volume, now in preparation, will deal with the Civil War years and after.

New Discovery in Oil

A new oil burner that burns cheap fuel oil, noiselessly, for home use has been perfected by the International Oil Heating Company, 3808 Park Ave., St. Louis, Mo. This amazing new device does away forever with the drudgery of coal and wood. Burns oil without waste—no smoke, soot or oily odor. Noiseless in operation. Saves from 20% to 40% on fuel bills over old style burners. Keeps home at even healthy temperature night and day. The manufacturer is offering a 30-day Free Trial and an introductory discount for a limited time to new users, and putting these burners in homes for only a few dollars down and a few dollars per month. The monthly payments can in many cases actually be paid by the savings in fuel. An engineer from the International Oil Heating Company will be pleased to show you the outstanding money-saving features on this amazing new burner. Call 2292, or stop in at the factory display room, 3808 Park Ave., TODAY.

PRESIDENT RECEIVES DIPLOMATIC CORPS

Soviet Russia Only Great Nation Not Represented at White House Fete.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The reception given by President and Mrs. Hoover last night to the Diplomatic Corps was attended by the most brilliantly uniformed men and most beautifully dressed women in Washington. Among them were those wearing the uniforms of the German, Austrian and Turkish armies.

The only great nation not represented was Russia. The United States has never recognized the Soviet republic.

The freshly painted White House was outlined against the night sky by 1000 lights. Inside great crystal chandeliers competed with the jewelry.

The Marine Band orchestra, in red and blue uniforms, kept up a constant stream of music as the line formed in the corridor of the main floor.

At 9 o'clock President and Mrs. Hoover took their places in the Blue Room, where, since the days of John Adams, the Presidents have received on all formal occasions.

The line moved through the State dining room, the Red Room, and passed President and Mrs. Hoover. The President's military and naval aides worked in relays, introducing each guest to the President.

Thence the line moved through the Green Room and into the great East Room, where another band furnished music for dancing.

In the East Room the Assembly discarded formality for gaiety and conversation in most of the languages of the earth competed with the music.

'POP' CONCERT ON SUNDAY

Radio Description of Musical Numbers to Replace Program Notes.

Radio description of musical numbers will replace the usual program notes at Sunday's Radio "Pop" Concert of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra at the Odeon.

The concert will be broadcast between 5 and 6 p. m. as usual and introductions of the numbers will be picked up by loud speakers in the concert hall.

Persons who are not in their seats by 5 p. m. will have to await seating until the intermission. The box office will be open early and the doors of the Odeon will open at 4:30 p. m. The program will include "Granados' 'Andalous' and 'Rondalla,' 'Dvorak's 'Carnival,' 'Mozart's 'Serenade,' 'Paganini's 'Capriccio,' and Wagner's 'Rienzi' overture.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

TO BE HOME DEC. 19

SEVERAL parties are in prospect for Mr. and Mrs. Werner Schleber of Germany, who will arrive Sunday or Monday to be the guests for a few days of Mrs. Schleber's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Adalbert von Gontard of Hurlingham Village.

Tuesday night Mr. and Mrs. von Gontard will give a dinner party at the Bridespur Hunt Club. The guests, who have been invited for 8 o'clock, will include only members of the Busch and Von Gontard families, and a few close friends.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Schleber and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Hager Jr., will give a mixed tea at their home, Villa Alicia, also in Hurlingham, for the visitors.

Thursday night Mr. and Mrs. Schleber, who will be a cousin of Mrs. von Gontard, and Mrs. Schleber, that evening there will be a dinner at Grant's Farm on Gravelly road, to be given by Mr. and Mrs. August A. Busch, and Thursday night Mr. and Mrs. Marion J. Lambert, 312 Portland place, will give a similar affair at their home.

Friday night, the arrangements to be announced later.

Mr. and Mrs. Schleber, whose marriage took place a week ago at a constant stream of music as the line formed in the corridor of the main floor.

They will come to St. Louis by train, instead of by airplane as was announced, and will remain until next Saturday, when they will depart for New York to sail Monday night, Dec. 15, on the Europa for their home.

The bride was Miss Lily Claire von Gontard, a niece of Mr. Busch Sr.

Invitations have been issued for a dinner to be given by Mr. and Mrs. William McDuff Bates, 4153 St. Louis place, for their daughter, Miss Frances Bates, the evening of Dec. 22 at the St. Louis Woman's Club.

The guests will be members of the school and college set, and the party will precede the dance to be given by Mrs. Florence Parker Busch at the Bridespur Hunt Club for her young daughter, Miss Marie Eleanor Busch. Miss Bates is a student at Villa DuChesne.

Miss Ruth Bass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Bass, 4651 Lindell boulevard, was hostess at a breakfast party this morning at the St. Louis Woman's Club in honor of Mrs. Clifford Carter Lewis, who, with Mr. Lewis, have just returned from their honeymoon in the South.

The guests were 12 young matrons, friends of the guests of honor. Mrs. Lewis was Miss Elizabeth Ballard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Ballard.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rankin have returned from their ranch in Glacier Park, Mont., and will be at home for the winter at the Park Plaza.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharp Ezzell, 48 Portland place, and Stewart Anderson of the Racquet Club are on a game hunting trip in Northern Wisconsin. They are making their headquarters at the summer home of Mrs. Ezzell's family in Minocqua, Wis., and will return home next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bourland Coleman have sent out invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Marianne Coleman, and Langley Carleton Keyes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Keyes of Winchester, Mass., to take place at 5:30 o'clock Saturday, Dec. 26, at the Union Avenue Christian Church. Cards were included for a reception immediately following the ceremony, at the Coleman home, 5042 Washington boulevard.

Mr. Keyes and his bride will be at home at 8 Chauncy street, Cambridge, Mass., after Feb. 1.

Mrs. William E. Burr has departed for her home in Fort Leavenworth, Kan., after a Thanksgiving holiday with a classmate in New York. While there she was invited to swim at the New York Women's Swimming Association under the direction of Coach L. de B. Handley.

ARMAGEDDON YIELDS SECRETS TO SCIENTISTS

Many Important Discoveries Already Made by Chicago U. Archeologists.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Armageddon, the meeting place of ancient nations, and battleground of untold centuries, is unfolding its secrets to the modern world. From halfway round the globe, men have gone to Palestine to extract new detail in the mosaic of civilization from the crumbling ruins of a mountain pass.

For a few thousand dollars, when once no money would suffice, the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago has purchased the right to excavate on the site of the story-told city. Dr. James H. Breasted, head of the institute, disclosed today how a cross-section of human works in bygone centuries is slowly showing itself on the hills beneath Mount Carmel.

Stone Age to Solomon to Palestine of 1930, with only the mountain peaks enduring—Armageddon is yielding visual history.

The Story in Revelations. It was Armageddon of which St. John the Divine wrote in Revelations: "Armageddon, the site of the last great war, when the nations are gathered to the battle of that great day of God Almighty."

Of the city which guarded the plains-dwelling Canaanites from attack, he said:

"And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet."

"For they are the spirits of devils, working miracles, which go forth unto the kings of the earth and of the whole world, to gather them to the battle of that great day of God Almighty."

"Behold, I come as a thief. Blessed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garments, lest he walk naked, and they see his shame."

"And he gathered them together into a place called in the Hebrew tongue Armageddon."

Fought 15 centuries before Christ. It was Armageddon where, 15 centuries before the Savior, Canaanites and Egyptians under Thutmose III fought under the fortified hills in the first known conflict on that site.

It was Armageddon where, 20 centuries after the Savior, Lord Allenby led a British army forth to meet the Turks on a World War salient, and sent them flying back over the trail the hosts of Egypt once had taken.

But when Allenby fought, and when the expedition from the western world started its work in 1925, there were only mounds and well-tilled fields in the place of a city which looked toward the sea and the inland peaks.

Foot by foot these mounds have disclosed the presence of a dozen cities, each on the ruins of its predecessor.

The stables which Solomon constructed were unearthed in 1927. The streets along which the citizens of his day traveled, the work they did, a few of the homes in which they lived, have been traced through strata markers.

To Be Farms Again. The story of a buccannering Egyptian who gathered a straggling army and captured Jerusalem in the tenth century before Christ has been read in the fragment of a stone tablet. The hieroglyphics have vindicated the claim, long doubted, that he succeeded in capturing well-guarded Armageddon.

Until this year, the excavations could be done only by "halves." Part of the site had to be left unexcavated, but a blanket purchase of rights from the widow of an Englishman has allowed the Oriental Institute to place out further its historic evidence.

When the last fragments have been taken from the site of Armageddon, the land will be converted into farms once more. The newest civilization will leave its pastoral imprint on the battleground of the past.

Thrusts at Bishop Cannon.
"Imagine a world composed of Wayne B. Wheelers and Bishop Cannons," he said. "It would be the way they're built. That's the way God made their heads. But suppose all human beings had to live by the same rules. You'd have a situation in which the devil would be popular and hell a pleasure resort where people would go for a little diversion."

"Imagine," he chuckled, "a heaven where all the angels were like Wayne B. Wheeler and Bishop Cannon."

Reiterating that the prohibition amendment would never have been submitted "if Congress had voted as it drank," he added: "If you want a drink in Washington, you can have one open season—than a letter of introduction to any ordinary Congressman or Senator.
What a nasty talk! I don't like to make it—but I'm tired of the rule of hypocrisy in these United States!"

"We have a situation of men sending other men to the penitentiary for that which they do," he pointed out. "The most famous example of hypocrisy the world has ever seen is Jones of Washington."
—Jones," he snarled contemptuously, "the author of the 'five-and-ten' law."

"Jones said, 'I wanted a law which would send them to the penitentiary for 10 years. I'd seen them march past to prison with broken hearts and downcast countenances—238,000 of them—an army greater than Grant commanded, than ever Robert E. Lee gallared under his banner at one time—and I have insisted that that was not enough, but there must be five-year penalties and 10-year penalties. But if the majority of my people vote the other way, I'll vote that these people were all right all the time.'"

"But, Jones, what has the majority to do with it? The majority has been wrong 95 per cent of the time through all the ages. The majority crucified Christ."

"And if Jones had been there,
he'd have been with the majority.
And if the next day the majority had turned, he'd have been with the most humble suppliant at the sepulcher."

Mrs. Mather's Address.
Modification of the Volstead Act to permit manufacture of 2 1/2 per cent beer and employ 1,500,000 men was to be considered only as unemployment relief.

"The problem will never be solved by raising the alcoholic content of beverages, because what is needed is not more liquor but more liquor control."

Remarking that a little more than a year ago it was considered courageous for a woman to oppose prohibition publicly, she added:
"The word, 'wet,' has become respectable. A 'wet' today is a man or woman who is opposed to national prohibition. There are many 'wets' who have no appetite for liquor but who are determined that this shocking governmental folly shall cease."

Mrs. Sabin went a little further along the same lines in the comment that, while the organization did not object to "wet" as distinguishing it from those satisfied with the prohibition it is, "Hussarily our organization is as far from being wet as the majority of our prohibitionist legislators are from being dry."

"The Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform is not advocating the use of liquors," she continued; "we are fighting the abuse of liquor. We stand for temperance, for wise and honest government, for better social conditions and for the protection of the right of the individual to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.
We are unalterably opposed to the return of the saloon but we are equally opposed to the present unlicensed and unregulated liquor traffic in the control of a criminal class, which exists today as a result of the passage of the eighteenth amendment. We know that we are on the right side of a moral issue because we believe that temperance is a moral issue and prohibition is not. Prohibition does not and cannot produce temperance; therefore we oppose it."

Intemperance Growing.
Since women always had been the real victims of intemperance," she said, they had welcomed prohibition as an embargo against a fruitful cause of suffering and degradation.

"They now realize," Mrs. Sabin continued, "that under prohibition intemperance is increasing; that children, far from growing up in surroundings cleaner, more spiritual, happier and more wholesome, are growing up in conditions worse than ever before in the history of our country—in communities where they see lawlessness rampant, hypocrisy enthroned and contempt for the Constitution encouraged."

ing that the repeal of the amendment is to be inaugurated in the Congress elected last Nov. 4. The advocates of repeal will not be strong enough in that Congress.

"However, the strength of the repealists as compared with that in the present Congress has been increased by 75 votes, which makes it apparent that the thing can be done."

"It may be anticipated that the prohibitionists will continue to oppose any submission of this question to the people of the states in the form of a repealing amendment. They do not want the people to vote upon it. They dread the result. However, in my opinion, the prohibitionists will be unable to withstand the demand of the people that they be given a chance to vote upon this vital issue. They will not be able to challenge successfully the principles of representative democracy."

"History teaches us that obstacles erected in the path of popular will, invariably collapse. The repealists will insist that the people have a right to pass upon this question. They will point out that the only way by which the people of the states may render a decision is through submission of the question to the states. The last elections pointed the way. In this respect they held more significance than any other of our elections during the last two generations."

30 OUTSTANDING JEWS OF YEAR ANNOUNCED

List Includes Two Governors-Elect—Benefactions Placed at $22,800,000.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The names of 30 American Jews who have distinguished themselves in public or cultural life and through benefactions in 1930 were made public today by "The American Hebrew," in its annual Who's Who of Jewry.

The list includes two Governors-elect, jurists, the winner of the 1930 Nobel prize for medicine, and philanthropists.

Major Jewish benefactions for the year are listed at $22,800,000. Outstanding among benefactors of the year are named Maurice Falk of Pittsburgh, Pa., who established the Maurice and Laura Falk Foundation, with $10,000,000 for philanthropic uses, and Louis Samberg of Newark, N. J., who, with his sister, Mrs. Felix Fuld, gave $5,000,000 to establish an institute of advanced study.

Karl Landsteiner of New York, to whom the 1930 Nobel prize in medicine was awarded, is listed among the honored 30, as is Maurice Sterne, president of the American Society of Painters.

Other names include: New York—David E. Kaufman, Towanda, Pa., Minister to Spain; Eugene Meyer, Mr. Kline, governor of the Federal Reserve Board; Saul Baron, professor of Jewish history, literature and institutions at Columbia University; Paul Block, publisher, who gave $100,000 to Yale University for a chair of journalism; Bernard Jaffe, winner with his book, "Crucibles," of the Francis Bacon award for humanizing knowledge; Robert D. Kohn, president of the American Institute of Architects; Herbert H. Lehman, Lieutenant-Governor of New York; Julius Miller, Justice-elect of the New York State Supreme Court; Aaron Rabinowitz, promoter of model apartment buildings; Bernard L. Scheinman, Justice of the New York State Supreme Court; Robert Scold, chairman of the Administrative Committee of the Zionist Organization of America; Herman Bernstein, Minister to Albania; Abraham C. Ratahesky, Boston, Minister to Czechoslovakia; Irving Fineman, Urbana, Ill., for his prize novel, "This Pure Young Man"; Governor-elect Julius L. Meier of Oregon and Governor-elect Arthur Seligman of New Mexico.

TO CURB STREAM POLLUTION

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—A committee of leading members of national engineering societies has been named to help frame laws against stream and ocean pollution. The American Society of Mechanical Engineers was told today.

The committee will study bills now before Congress to prohibit the discharge of oil into coastal navigable waters.

Plans of the society to develop a world-wide reporting system through its engineering index were also announced. The system will enable engineers in remote parts of the world to keep closely in touch with engineering progress.

Acidine Relieves Acidity and Discomfort Quickly

"Sudden attacks of acidity were so weakening that they began to get on my nerves," says Charles L. Lerman of Rochester, Pa. "Then I tried ACIDINE. I can't praise it enough. I feel so relieved and better in every way I wish everyone who is suffering acidity would try ACIDINE."

Almost everyone who takes ACIDINE knows about its story. Two million packages have been sold. It's absolutely amazing the way this prescription succeeds when many other known remedies fail.

ACIDINE contains Lactogen, that in laboratory tests cures 800 times its weight of certain heavy, starchy foods which cause trouble. It neutralizes burning acids, soothes irritated stomach lining, relieves easy headaches, sleeplessness and nervousness. Few other known remedies combine this combination to relieve acid stomach. ACIDINE also fortifies you by reducing acidity.

Get ACIDINE today at Walgreen's. Which how quick acid indigestion, burning stomach, pain, heartburn, distention, flatulency, short breath are relieved. Market everywhere money if not delighted.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMMITTEE COMPLETING ORGANIZATION

Bankers and Business Executives to Meet With Mayor's Chairman Today.

The organization for directing unemployment relief will be completed at a meeting this afternoon of 50 bankers and business executives called by Birch O. Mahaffey, chairman of the Mayor's Relief Committee.

As soon as the work of organization has been completed Mahaffey plans to take up the problem of mass employment, and the financing of relief, which he thinks will be necessary on a large scale shortly.

The relief plan in general will be to give aid to the organized charities now functioning, rather than the setting up of additional agencies. The employment problem can be solved only through the co-operation of all industries, Mahaffey says.

Apple-selling as a means of support for unemployed men will be ended. Started last Tuesday night 25 men, it is expected that 100 vendors will be stationed on street corners by next Monday.

PIPING OF NATURAL GAS AS LIQUID, SPECULATED ON

Engineers Discuss Development of the Future Which They Think Possible.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—A natural gas system, interconnecting all the natural gas lines in America, was visualized as a possibility of the future in a paper presented to the American Society of Mechanical Engineers yesterday by George I. Rhoads and Edgar G. Hill.

Some chemist may even discover a means of liquefying gas cheaply, turning it through the pipes in that form and turning it back into gas at the market, thus saving half the cost of transportation. It was said.

A 24-inch natural gas line 1000 miles long is under construction from Texas to Chicago. It will have a capacity of more than 200,000,000 cubic feet a day. This represents the strides made in pipe-line construction since 1925, when a 100-mile line was considered long.

Longer pipe lines of greater capacity have been made possible chiefly by improvements in the pipe itself. It is pointed out.

TESTIFIES R-100 CREW'S TRAINING WAS CUT SHORT

Squadron Leader However Praises Maj. Scott's Inquiry in "Nearing End."

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—The inquiry into the loss of the dirigible R-101 was concluded today. Squadron leader Booth, who took the R-100 to Canada, concluded his testimony on the probable causes of the disaster, said training periods of officers and men had been cut short in the same way that the ship's trials had been curtailed. He said Maj. Scott, who was in command of the R-101, was "the most experienced airship pilot in the country."

T. S. Collins, a member of the ground staff at Cardington, took exception to a theory expressed by Dr. Hugo Eckener yesterday that it was loss of gas which caused the disaster. There were two men aboard who would have known immediately of any leakage, Collins said, and, if there had been a serious leak, Wing Commander Colmore would have turned the R-101 for home. Collins said he thought erratic air currents were the real cause of the wreck.

RUSSIA DECLINES TO SIGN REPORT OF ARMS GROUP

of Russia's absence from its meeting.

The Russian note recapitulates the various proposals put forward at Geneva by Moscow and declares that the commission has been interested primarily in concealing existing armaments and providing for increasing them when the Powers deem that increases are desirable.

Delegates to the commission, it says, have argued that the covenant of the League does not permit them to disarm.

Objects to Preamble.

In ending its co-operation with the preparatory commission the Russian delegation protests against the preamble to the projected draft treaty which refers to "limitation and reduction as far as possible" of armaments.

Other articles of the treaty to which Moscow takes exception include exclusion of trained reserves refusal to directly reduce war materials in service and reserve, refusal to outlaw the use of tanks, long-range guns and other purely offensive weapons, and refusal to limit maximum tonnages for battleships.

The Russian note also decries the attempt to legalize the tonnage and gun caliber incorporations and in the London and Washington naval treaties, the projected treaty's failure to forbid aerial bombardments or to reduce aerial war stocks and the absence of prohibitions against the manufacture in Russia of armaments used in chemical and bacteriological warfare.

The two final objections set forth in the Soviet memorandum are the inefficiency of the budgetary limitation of armaments advocated by the commission and the confining to the League of enforcement of the treaty and the exemptions allowed to states bordering on Russia.

All these questions, the note says, will be raised by Russia at the general disarmament conference.

Payroll Robbery on Broadway.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Handcuffing a cashier and two women clerks, holdup men escaped today with a $181 payroll from the Hotel Bristol on Broadway.

VALIDITY OF RADIO REGULATION ASSAILED

Broadcasters Carry Appeal From Commission's Order to Supreme Court.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Federal control over broadcasting was attacked today in the United States Supreme Court. Two cases from Chicago challenged the authority of the Radio Commission to require stations to cease broadcasting or to reduce power and change wave lengths.

Congress directed the commission to zone the country and regulate broadcasting. Under this order the commission ordered. Clinton R. White, operating station CHW of Chicago, to reduce power and refused to renew the license of stations WMBB and WOK at Homeview, near Chicago, operated by the American Bond & Mortgage Co. and by Tri-State, Inc.

The stations, claiming property rights protected by the Constitution, challenged its authority, but the Federal District Court at Chicago sustained the commission. The Circuit Court of Appeals asked the Supreme Court for instructions on various constitutional questions involved.

SMALL GIFTS OF $33,000 MADE TO COMMUNITY FUND

Amount by Which It Fell Short of Goal Is Reduced Nearly One-Half.

Although only one large gift ($1000) has been received by the Community Fund since its campaign to raise $2,200,000 ended 11 days ago $75,000 short of the goal set, the volume of small gifts up to yesterday has reduced the shortage to approximately $17,000.

Employees of Koch Hospital made 258 pledges totaling $1111 during the campaign, it is announced to day. Commenting on these gifts, Sidney Mastro, campaign chairman, said: "Giving on any comparable basis by persons of ample means who are strangers to the Community Fund would result in an immediate oversubscription."

For Sore, Soft or Bleeding Gums

Follow This Simple Treatment

Soft, sore, spongy or bleeding gums are a dangerous condition. Loss of teeth and health may result. Bacterial infection is always present in every case of gum trouble. You can combat gum infections and save your teeth and health if you adopt a few simple measures. Visit your dentist regularly. In the meantime follow this simple regime. Brush your teeth faithfully every day and in the right way. Brush the upper teeth downward and the lower upward. Rinse your mouth thoroughly morning and evening with a solution of one part Extol and three parts water. Following this, massage gums gently with your finger. Be sure you use the Extol, as it is absolutely necessary to kill the germs.

Reach the Hidden Gums!

Extol is the amazing new antiseptic mouth wash and throat gargle you hear discussed everywhere today. It is of revolutionary germicidal and penetrative powers. It kills germs faster than any mouth wash heretofore known—so fast it is called the

"10-second germicide." It is so highly germicidal that diluted even 1 to 3 it is far more effective than any ordinary mouth wash used straight. Also, and equally important, it is extremely penetrating! It penetrates the folds and crevices in the mouth and throat; also the mucous membrane, so it can reach germs that lie hidden underneath the outer layer of the mucosa. That is what Extol does—it penetrates through to those hidden germs that ordinary mouth washes miss.

Harmless to Tissue

Efficient as Extol is absolutely harmless to tissue and most delicate in taste and sensation. And it not only costs less than most mouth washes, but it is more economical to use, because you have to use so little at a time. All McKesson Service Drugists and all independent drug stores carry Extol. Get a bottle today and keep your mouth, throat and gums in the clean, wholesome condition that health of mouth and body demands. Note the name, EXTOL, a McKesson & Robbins product.

TENTATIVE JURORS FOR SHEPARD'S TRIAL

Surgeon-General Subpoenaed as Government Witness Against Army Officer.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Kan., Dec. 5.—Selection of a jury to try Maj. Charles A. Shepard, Army medical officer, for the alleged poison murder of his second wife continued in Federal Court here with no assurance that testimony would be started at today's session.

Of 11 prospective jurors tentatively accepted yesterday, two were dismissed upon pleading ill-health this morning. Three of the 36 veniremen who appeared in answer to summons made by long-distance telephone were released early in the examination when they stated they had formed opinions from reading newspaper articles.

Major-General M. W. Ireland, Surgeon-General of the Army, was in the courtroom, expected to be the Government's first witness.

"I have been in the army for 40 years and this is the first time I ever was called by subpoena as a witness in court," he remarked.

The Surgeon-General is expected to be questioned regarding army medical reports on the death of Shepard's wife at Fort Riley, Kan., in June, 1929, in what the prosecution alleges was a poison plot to remove Mrs. Shepard so Maj. Shepard could wed Miss Grace Brannon, young stenographer of San Antonio, Tex.

The defense announced that Lieutenant-Colonel John T. Aydelotte of the Army Medical Corps would be an expert witness for Shepard.

Judge Richard J. Hopkins declared the defendant could not put his statement in a newspaper, then he tried by jurors who had read it. The remark was forthcoming from the bench when it became apparent that a recently published statement of his case by Maj. Shepard had been widely read by prospective jurors.

BELLE LIVINGSTONE HELD

AGAIN ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Eight Employees Arrested With Her at New "Salon" for New York Fashionables.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—For the third time in recent months, Belle Livingstone, 55, involved with the law. Nine boulevardiers in evening clothes entered her newest "salon" near Park avenue last night and made merry around a soda bar. About midnight they announced themselves as Federal prohibition agents.

Miss Livingstone, and eight employees were arrested. Some 400, top-hatted and silk-gowned guests were invited to continue their revelry elsewhere. Assorted liquors to the value of $1200 were seized.

Describing the salon as "the Fifty-eighth Street Country Club," Miss Livingstone said Lady Mendl, the former Elsie de Wolf, had called it the most beautiful in the world. She identified herself on the police blotter as Miss Isabelle Livingstone, 55 years old, an author.

Two of her previous salons, featured as appealing to leaders in the theatrical, social and literary world, have been padlocked. She is awaiting trial on an indictment growing out of a raid on her Park avenue club last April.

Miss Livingstone is a former actress and was the so-called toast of two continents in the nineties. Her former husbands include a Count and several millionaires.

BRITISH GUNBOAT EXCHANGES

FIRE WITH CHINESE REDS

The Aphis Bomarded by Shells From Cannon on Shores of Yangtze; None Injured.

By the Associated Press.
KIUKIANG, China, Dec. 5.—The British gunboat Aphis was endangered yesterday by cannon fire in what was said to have been the sharpest engagement in many months between Red cannonadees infesting Yangtze River shores above this city, and foreign gunboats patrolling the river.

The Reds, it was said, instead of firing their usual scattered shots at the gunboat, kept up a continuous bombardment, dropping 25 shells from their muzzle-loading cannon.

The Aphis replied with 50 shots from its six-inch guns but even these failed to dislodge the Reds or silence their cannon. The Reds were well hidden behind breastworks and continued firing until the boat passed from range.

As far as is known, none aboard the Aphis was injured.

The British commercial steamer Wuhu, carrying Rear-Admiral C. K. McLean, commander of the British Yangtze patrol, was subjected to a similar attack shortly after the Aphis passed. The helpless vessel managed to escape uninjured because of the Reds' poor aim.

Pullmans Derailed in Tunnel.

By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 5.—Two Pullmans of a Washington-New York express of the Pennsylvania Railroad were derailed in a tunnel between the Fulton and Pennsylvania stations today, shaking up passengers and tying up traffic for several hours.

Conductors and porters ran through the cars calming passengers. After a short delay they were guided from the cars through the tunnel and taken in buses to the Mount Royal Station of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad to take another train.

WALL STREET

INDUSTRIALS LEAD RALLY FOR STEADY LATE MARKET

S. Steel Prominent in Rebound — Extreme
Losses Early in Day Run
From 1 to 6 Points —
Railroad Issues Feature Downturn.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—In its first day of gentle decline the stock market settled onto a resilient path of buying orders today and ended with some of the more active issues a little higher.

The market declined substantially during the morning, as trading thickened a little, but it turned extremely dull by early afternoon.

It recovered quietly during the afternoon. The day's sales again registered 1,600,000 shares.

General Electric, American Telephone, Loews, Atchafon, Electric to Life and United Aircraft ended about a point higher. Allied chemical and Johns Manville were about 2 points. U. S. Steel, after sagging 2 points, closed with a loss of only 1/2 point. Eastman opened 6 points, then rallied 4 points before recovered 3 of 3-point loss. Bethlehem Steel, American Can and Westinghouse ended about steady. Some of the heavily traded rails failed to recover, however, and Louisville & Nashville, Frisco and Texas & Pacific lost 2 1/2 to 3 points.

Commodities, with the exception of corn, were generally steady.
Wheat closed 1/2 to 3/4 higher, contract. This may have been reflection of bullish weather reports from Argentina. Cotton ended virtually unchanged, four cents lower to two higher. Corn, however, lost about 3/4 on predictions of larger receipts at Chicago.

Reserve Bank Officials Meet.

Wall street was inclined to make nothing of a mystery of the results of the meeting of prominent leaders in finance on both sides of the Atlantic. Governor Harrison of the New York Federal Reserve Bank and Owen D. Young, recently returned from abroad, met with Eugene Meyer, newly appointed governor of the Reserve Board in Washington, at the Reserve Bank today. Called at the bank at same time was J. P. Morgan, Jr., just back from Europe. Wall street is inclined to look for some constructive development in the international banking situation, but tends to be very much in the dark about it all.

The weekly Federal Reserve statement, showing a further small decline—of $11,000,000—in broken loans, and further extension of limit to meet seasonal and monthly demands, failed to provide much of interest. Call money was slightly a little firmer at 2 per cent. Outside offerings at 1 1/2 per cent were small. The fall of the French Cabinet was not regarded as a complicating development, and foreign exchanges held fairly steady, although there was a slight fall in the franc.

Royal Dutch Oil Suggestion.

Statements by Royal Dutch officials urging the oil industry to slow the copper and steel process in bolstering prices were regarded as encouraging, coming from the largest crude producer in the world. But as this is the time seasonal slackening of consumption, spectacular developments were not expected.

The statement that "there are many reasons for feeling certain that good progress will be made in business of all kinds before many months have passed" by E. M.
Barr, vice chairman, formerly chairman, of Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co., was of some encouragement, but promises slow improvement seems but a dumb to impatient stock traders.
Though most economists say that the best that can be expected.

The Interstate Commerce Commission's acquiescing in requests of Western Railroads for a further extension to April 1 of the effective date of the order demanding reducing rates on grain and oil products provided a little renewal to railroad interests, but was adequate to effect the stock market.

Nears-Roeback sales report for the period from Nov. 4 to Dec. 2, showing a drop of 20-3 per cent
on the like period of last year, was not very cheering, as it showed the improvement over Montgomery Ward's November report.
Ward's was off 25 per cent. Merchandising executives, however, expect December to make a substantially better showing.

SAYS EUROPE'S TRADE ILLS AFFECT U. S.

H. S. Johnson Declares Prosperity Abroad Essential to America's Welfare.

Improved European business conditions are essential to better economic conditions in the United States, Herbert A. Johnson, a representative to the United States from the Leipzig (Germany) Trade Fair, said at a luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce Foreign Trade Bureau at Hotel Statler yesterday.

A detailed resume of Cuban commercial activities was given also by Frederick F. Todd, United States commercial attaché at Havana. Discussing the economic status of Germany, Johnson said this year for the first time since the war Germany has shown a favorable balance of trade, despite financial difficulties and political complexities. Exports exceeded imports by $28,000,000 the first eight months of 1930, he said, although there was a 5 per cent decline in exports, as compared with a 20 per cent decline in exports of the United States and a 10 per cent loss in Great Britain's exports.

Germany's richest potential source of wealth lies in her ability to manufacture finished products, making her essentially a trading country. Today, Germany is America's second best customer, Johnson said, and when she is not in a position to buy extensively from America the prosperity of this country is affected, he pointed out. The label "Made in Germany," Johnson disclosed is not German propaganda, but originated in Washington since the customs laws of this country provide the country of origin be shown on every piece of imported merchandise.

The end of the World War, he said, left Germany without any foreign markets and with a negligible domestic market. Valuable territory was lost under the Versailles treaty, Johnson said, and tariff walls erected by other nations hampered Germany's attempts to regain prosperity through trading.

Reparation payments have inflicted additional burdens he said, declaring that a revision of the Young plan, which would make Germany pay about 30 billion dollars during the next 60 years, is "an economic and political necessity."

Germany's domestic budget, Johnson said, includes the payment of debts to 2,000,000 unemployed persons and pensions and insurance to another 1,000,000. Yet Germany has but half the population of the United States and a territory only a little larger than the State of New York, he said.

Johnson said the German people in their internal politics are turning to the Hitler platform, representing the extreme right, as opposed to Communists on the extreme left and 15 moderate parties holding diverse opinions in the middle. Ordinarily, the people would support the moderate parties rather than a Fascist element, he said, but the moderate parties appear unable to agree on any major issue.

The Leipzig Trade Fair, Johnson said, is an institution 700 years old, referred to often as "the barometer of European business," and enabling German industries to display their products for the international market. The fair is "strictly business," he said, and does not include carnival features. It lasts 10 days in the spring and a week in the fall, he said.

SEVERAL PERSONS INDICTED IN WINDOW-CLEANING 'RACKET'

True Bills Filed in New York as Result of Investigation by Committee of Citizens.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Several persons were indicted yesterday by the grand jury which for more than two weeks has been investigating activities of racketeers. The names of the men indicted are withheld pending their arrest, but it is known that the indictment grew out of the racketeering in the window-cleaning industry.

The indictment is the result of information given to the Committee of Public Safety, before whom witnesses were first questioned and then taken before the grand jury. The committee was formed two weeks ago by District Attorney Crain and is composed of 50 prominent citizens. It was learned that the indictment charges "oppression, coercion and conspiracy" and involves window-cleaning companies which have tried to drive others out of business or collect tribute from them.

Crain said there was a "suspicion that sometimes those engaged in window cleaning have been interfered with, even to the extent of tampering with the belts or fastenings, which are the protection against the loss of life among the window cleaners."

Defers Senate Subcommittee. WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Harry Wardman, wealthy Washington real estate operator, refused yesterday to produce records and documents of the Wardman Corporation, which had been requested by a Senate subcommittee investigating real estate conditions in the capital. Chairman Blaine of the committee said another meeting would be held Wednesday to decide whether Wardman would be cited to the United States District Attorney for contempt.

RABBIS WANT CHANGE IN SACRAMENTAL WINE RULE

Feel That Under Present Permit System in New York They Are Distrusted.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Rabbis representing virtually all the Orthodox Jewish congregations in New York yesterday asked for a revision of the present system of granting permits for sacramental wine. The Jewish religious leaders appeared before William D. Moros, supervisor of permits of the Bureau of Industrial Alcohol, and presented their own plan for granting wine to their congregations. Under present methods each Jewish family is allowed five gallons of sacramental wine each year, but the rabbis declared that in many instances requisitions made by them were cut by the United States officials and sometimes denied.

"We feel that the rabbis under the present system are distrusted and subjected to espionage and persecution which is a discrimination against the Jewish people," Rabbi B. Birstein of Ezereth Israel Synagogue, said.

MYSTERY IN HUNTER'S DEATH

Supposed Victim of Wounded Deer Probably Murdered.

MILFORD, Pa., Dec. 5.—What at first was thought to have been a fight to death between a wounded deer and Wellington de Groat of Matamoras, N. Y., now is viewed by police as a possible murder. The body of De Groat, a hunting knife in his hand and his shotgun at his side, was found last Tuesday. A few feet away a big buck lay dead, shot through the breast.

De Groat's companions said De

Groat apparently had been crushed by the wounded animal as he ran forward to deliver the death blow with his knife. But a post-mortem examination showed that the hunter's death had been caused by a bullet wound through the body. The land on which De Groat's body was found is owned by Mrs. Bertha Armbruster. Witnesses at an inquest testified that the woman had threatened to shoot the first hunter she found on her property. Allen Brown, a member of the hunting party, said he and De Groat wounded the deer Monday and that De Groat followed the animal on to Mrs. Armbruster's land. Mrs. Armbruster was taken to a Scranton hospital Wednesday and she underwent a major operation yesterday.

Greatest Furniture
Sale in 46 Years

Please Be Patient

May we ask your indulgence if the furniture purchased during our "Going-Out-of-Business" Sale has not yet been delivered.

We have done what would ordinarily be two months' business in the past ten days alone! All St. Louis has bought, and bought, and bought! Consequently our facilities for delivery service have been overwhelmed!

But we are working night and day, busy as beavers. We are catching up and can promise prompt delivery again on all purchases made Saturday.

We're going out of the furniture business.

Just as soon as our floors are cleared and the merchandise now on hand is turned into cash, May Stern and Co. will vacate its building—and close its doors forever.

The sooner we can do this the better it will suit us. Therefore we are cutting prices still lower to speed up our final sale—the end of 46 years of fair dealing and honorable service to the people of this city. This is our last Christmas!

Good-bye, St. Louis—we're through!

MERGER OF SEVEN ILLINOIS UTILITIES COMPANIES PLANNED

State Permission Sought by Rockford Concern, Which Would Absorb the Others.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 5.—A merger of seven utilities companies serving more than 40 Illinois cities and towns was proposed before the Illinois Commerce Commission yesterday by the Rockford Gas & Light & Coke Co., in a petition for authority to purchase the other six companies. The companies and considerations involved in the proposed purchase were listed as follows:

Rockford Electric Co., 15,300 shares of stock in purchasing company in principal amount of $10,741,000.

Illinois Public Utilities Co., which serves Lincoln and 37 other towns with electricity and Lincoln and Freeport with gas, 4530 shares of stock in the purchasing company amounting to $1,184,000.

Edmond Water, Light and Power Co., 25 shares of the purchaser's capital stock amounting to $22,000.

St. Joseph-Oakwood Electric Co., 82 shares of capital stock in purchasing company valued at $31,000.

ANTI-FILLING STATION ORDINANCE FAVORED

25 Property Owners on Kingsbury Between Rosedale and Skinker Heard by Aldermen.

Passage of an ordinance to change the northeast and southeast corners of Skinker boulevard and Kingsbury avenue from a commercial zone to a single-family residence zone, to prevent erection of filling stations, was recommended yesterday by the Legislative Committee of the Board of Aldermen. The committee added an emergency clause, to make the bill effective immediately upon signature by the Mayor.

A hearing by the committee was attended by 25 owners of property in the residential block of Kingsbury between Rosedale and Skinker, who favored the ordinance and objected to filling station plans. Among them were Circuit Judge Green of 6189 Kingsbury, adjoining the northeast corner of Skinker, and former Alderman Luke E. Hart of 6174 Kingsbury.

Hart declared that all of the 43 householders in the block, whose homes were worth an average of $15,000 each, opposed the ordinance for commercial purposes and felt filling stations would cut the value of their property in half. Referring to the attractiveness of this residence block, Hart reminded the committee that the adjacent corner on either side, on Skinker at McPherson and Westminster avenues, had filling stations. He insisted it would be a mistake to line Skinker with such places.

An ordinance has been issued by Circuit Judge Percy to prevent erection of a filling station at the southeast corner of Skinker and Kingsbury, Hart said, and he asserted that work had been rushed there with the hope of finishing the place before the zoning could be amended.

Alderman Waldman and Charles R. Gillespie, Republican city committeemen, both of the Twenty-eighth Ward, advocated the amendment. George H. Moore, attorney for the Geneva Investment Co. and Charles and Esther Fry, owners of the two corner lots, appeared to oppose the amendment, saying his clients had bought the property for high prices on the assumption commercial usage would be permitted.

CHINA TO OPEN DIRECT RADIO SERVICE TO U. S. TOMORROW

Government Station at Shanghai to Carry Messages of President Hoover and Gen. Chiang.

By the Associated Press.

NANKING, Dec. 5.—The Nationalist Government announces a program of world-wide communication commencing tomorrow, through direct radio connection with the United States and Europe and proposes control of cables landing in China.

It is planned to open the Government's Shanghai-San Francisco wireless service Saturday with an exchange of messages between President Hoover and President Chiang Kai-shek.

The Shanghai station is equipped to operate with European centers, giving China a world-wide wireless service capable of handling 100 words a minute. A protest against the radio service has been lodged by the Japanese Government on the ground that Japan possesses exclusive rights to construct radio stations within China and to operate them. These privileges were said to have emanated from a Japanese agreement with the Peking Government in 1915. This agreement with the overthrown Chinese Government has been ignored repeatedly.

A spokesman for the Nationalist Ministry of Communications said "Monopolistic agreements of cable companies with China, except for the purpose of the Government to exert authority over the foreign lines. Negotiations between the companies and the Government have been going on for a year."

The companies, the Government spokesman said, proposed that the monopolistic landing privileges be extended 20 years. The Nationalist Government refused, although willing to grant a shorter term.

KENTUCKY U. MAKING TEST

IN CARBONIZATION OF COAL

Purpose Is to Find New Market by Showing Large Yield of Oil.

By the Associated Press.

LEXINGTON, Ky.—In order to increase the demand for Kentucky coal, the department of mining and metallurgy at the University of Kentucky has undertaken an experiment in low-temperature carbonization of cannel coal.

Because of Kentucky's location, it has been necessary in the past, in order to ship coal north, south, east or west, to send it through another coal-producing state. Therefore, the university department of mining, under the direction of Prof. C. E. Crouse, selected cannel coal for the experiment, because of its limited market and because of its greater yield in oils.

The cannel coal was put through a process of distillation, which is a system of heating without air, and which drives off the gases. This produces condensable and non-condensable gases which may be reduced to oil and fuel, respectively, and is utilized by conversion into ammonium sulphate for fertilization.

DENIES NO. 40 IS CRUMBLING

Engineer Asserts Natural Causes Necessitated Repairs.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 4.—Contrary to reports, State Highway No. 40, route between Kansas City and St. Louis, is not breaking down under heavy traffic, H. H. Cutler, chief engineer of the Highway Department, said following completion of an inspection by maintenance engineers. Extensive repairs have been made during the last few months, the chief engineer said.

"Short stretches of road, which have settled or bulged as a result of natural causes have been repaired. Time and nature cause greater damage to roads than man," Cutler said.

COST OF FEEDING PRISONERS

Average Per Day Per Capita at Missouri Penitentiary Is 28 Cents.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY.—Figures compiled by the State Prison Board show average per capita, per day cost of feeding penitentiary convicts, is 28 cents. These figures are based on an average daily population of 4164 for 22 months.

Produce from farms is figured at market price when delivered at the commissary. If the average cost were figured on actual cost, the per day capita cost would be much lower.

DOWNING (Mo.) Bank Reopened.

By the Associated Press.

DOWNING, Mo., Dec. 5.—The Downing State Bank, closed by its board of directors Nov. 10, on order of State Bank Examiner F. A. Gulick, was reopened today under a complete reorganization and under the name Bank of Downing. The new bank will pay depositors in the old bank in full. New officers are John McWilliams, president; H. W. Lockett, vice president; Harry Potter, cashier.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

Seasonal Dishes for Cold Weather Meals Differ From Typical Hot-Weather Foods.

Boiled mutton with caper sauce is good to serve now. Buy a piece from the shoulder, have it boned, rolled and tied firmly. Roll in flour and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Brown the surface quickly in a little hot fat, then drain off the fat, add boiling water to half cover the meat, one large onion, one stalk of celery, a diced carrot and two tablespoons salt. Cover and cook slowly, allowing 30 minutes for each pound. Keep the water barely boiling; if it cooks rapidly the meat will be tough.

When tender, slice and serve with caper sauce, made by thickening one and one-half cups of the meat stock with two tablespoons flour rubbed to a paste with one tablespoon butter. Season with salt, pepper and then stir in one-fourth cup capers, drained from their juice. Capers are the pickled buds of the caper bush which grows in the countries along the Mediterranean and in India. They are tart in flavor and make an agreeable contrast to the bland flavor of the mutton.

Black Chocolate Cake. Melt four squares unwetted chocolate over hot water. Cream together one-third cup shortening and one cup sugar. When well blended add two egg yolks and beat until smooth. Stir in one cup milk or buttermilk and then the and one-fourth cups cake flour sifted with one teaspoon baking soda and one teaspoon baking powder. When well mixed add the chocolate and one teaspoon vanilla extract. Mix again until the chocolate is well blended in a moderate oven—250 degrees—for 40 minutes or until firm. Cool and spread with white frosting and sprinkle thickly with chopped black or English walnuts or pecans.

Baked Beef and Rice Loaf. Wash one cup of rice in cold water and cook in two quarts of boiling water for 20 minutes or until tender. Drain and rinse with hot water to keep it dry and flaky. There should be about three cups of cooked rice.

Here's a recipe for a new dish

A complete little luncheon in itself, what this new pineapple dish is! As the flavor of it! Oh, the fragrance whiff of it as the pineapple is being browned to a delicate turn. And by the way—that's why DOLE 2 Sliced Pineapple is just the thing to use in making up this new luncheon dish. Of course, if you're especially fussy you could use perfectly shaped DOLE 1 Slices, but their lovely golden color would be browned away by the time the pineapple is cooked.

Whichever grade you decide to use, be sure.

PLANNING MEALS FOR THE FAMILY TABLE

Plain Fare Is Appreciated After the Holiday Season of Feasting.

As this is the week after Thanksgiving, when most persons have eaten well, keep in mind the old saying, "after feasting, fast awhile," and plan meals for the week on the basis of simpler food. Palates that have been satiated with rich foods over the holiday will go back to plainer flavors with considerable gusto.

Starting with Sunday, a good old-fashioned pot roast of beef is suggested for dinner, served with brown gravy, horseradish, mashed potatoes and Brussels sprouts with a plain butter sauce. When cooking Brussels sprouts add just a pinch of sugar and a dash of nutmeg while they are cooking. Cook them only 20 to 25 minutes, drain, season with melted butter, salt, pepper and a dash of lemon juice. Buy a piece of rump, chuck, sirloin or round for the pot roast and see that the butcher ties it in a good shape so that it can be readily sliced. A short, rather chunky piece of meat will be more slightly and more juicy when cooked, than a flat, spreading piece. There is little waste to the cuts mentioned so they are considered among the more economical parts of the beef animal. A four to five pound roast should do a family of four for two good meals.

On Monday the remains of the pot roast are made into the beef and rice loaf that is served with tomato sauce. This is a good way of making use of the leftovers and the rice gives a pleasant variation from the potato flavor.

On Sunday a best and celery salad is served for dinner. The leaves and outside stalks of the celery are to be used in making the cream of celery soup for Monday's lunch. The outside leaves of lettuce may also be used for this meal, shredding them for the sandwiches. Spread one of the slices of bread used for the sandwich with softened butter and the other with mayonnaise.

Fresh fruits, vegetables and fish are hard to get in variety in some parts of the country at this season of the year, and from now on for the next few months it will be necessary, and advisable, in many instances, to make a wide use of canned foods in order to insure sufficient variety in the daily diet. Under present-day methods of canning these foods are perfectly wholesome and safe; no one need hesitate at using them. Indeed it has been shown that in some cases the canned food has a higher nutritive value than the same thing cooked at home.

CANNED FIGS ARE VERSATILE Offer Possibilities for Attractive Food Combinations.

Serve chilled in their natural juice direct from the can. Delicious with cream.

Serve with cereals and on boiled rice.

Serve in fruit salads.

Combine perfectly with cream cheese.

Serve with diced oranges—half and half.

Figs make delicious pie. Leave top crust off and bake to a golden brown.

Mexican Meat Pie.
Rub ham and veal with garlic and cut in cubes, roll in flour and saute in fat until golden brown. Remove meat from pan, add chopped onions, red pepper and tomatoes with finely minced parsley and seasonings. Cook five minutes, being careful not to brown. Add meat and turn into baking dish. Cover with stale bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven 30 minutes.

FESTIVE CAKES MADE WITH MINCEMEAT

Rich, Fruited Pastries Always Featured During the Yuletide Season.

Commercial mincemeat, which is one of the most satisfactory holiday products, not only makes delicious pies and tarts but is also featured in other types of dishes where combination of dried fruits obtain.

For instance, this year's cookery recipes include mincemeat cake and lemon mincemeat cookies, both of which are made with commercial mincemeat.

Mincemeat Cake.
Ingredients needed are two and one-half cups pastry flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one fourth cup butter, one egg, one extra egg yolk, one cup sugar, three-fourths cup water, one cup mincemeat and one teaspoon vanilla.

Beat dry ingredients. Beat butter, eggs and sugar together for three minutes, or until thick. Then add mincemeat, beating thoroughly. Add water and vanilla and fold in sifted dry ingredients. Bake in layers at 375 degrees for 35 minutes; or a loaf at 350 degrees for one hour.

Lemon Mincemeat Cookies.
Use one cup shortening, one cup sugar, two eggs, one cup mincemeat, three cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon soda and one-fourth teaspoon salt.

Cream shortening add sugar and cream again. Add unbeaten eggs one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Add mincemeat, then fold in flour, which has been sifted with baking powder, soda and salt. Drop on cookie sheet and bake in a hot oven 15 minutes.

A postal will bring one of the new or vintage cooking employment, under situations wanted in today's want pages.

CRANBERRIES MAKE NICE TARTS AND PIE

Their Attractive Appearance and Tart Flavor Whets
the Appetite.

Cranberries, which are among the most attractive of small berries add a cheerful note to holiday dishes.

Pies and tarts made with these berries are very tempting, while cranberry cake is something different again, but equally delicious.

Crisp Cross Pie
The familiar crisp cross cranberry pie may be made according to these directions:
For the crust for one pie use one and one-half cups flour, three-fourths teaspoon salt, one-half cup solid shortening, four to six tablespoons water.
Two cups sugar, two tablespoons flour, three cups chopped cranberries are needed for the filling.
Sift together flour and salt; cut

AMATEUR COOKS MAKE FRUITY SWEETMEATS

Tempting and Wholesome Candies Made With Nutritious Dried Fruits.

Wise mothers who know the capacity of children for holiday goodies will do well to put plenty of fruits in the candies and to provide an assortment of delicious recipes are tested and will work out exactly if the cook will follow directions accurately.

Prune Jelly Cubes
Press the contents of an eight-ounce can of fresh prunes through a sieve, making a puree. Add one-half cup of commercial pectin, one-half cup of sugar, one-half cup of corn syrup and one tablespoon of lemon juice, and boil until the thermometer registers 222 degrees.
Pour into greased pans so that the mixture is about one-half inch thick, and let cool. Let stand overnight in a cold place. Cut in cubes, roll in powdered sugar or dip the cubes in chocolate or melted fond-ant.

California Peach
Cook one eight-ounce can of grapefruit and three tablespoons sugar to a thick jam, or to 222 degrees. Mix three cups brown sugar, two-thirds cup condensed milk, two-thirds cup water, three tablespoons white corn syrup and three tablespoons butter. Cook to 220 degrees. Add the grapefruit jam and continue boiling to 224 degrees. Cool to 120 degrees, beat till creamy, adding one-fourth cup pecans at the last. Pour into buttered pan.

Apricot Fudge
Melt two squares of chocolate carefully without burning. Add two cups of sugar and mix well. Then add two-thirds cup of condensed milk, one-half cup of water and four tablespoons of white corn syrup. Let cook without stirring to 234 degrees. Add two tablespoons of butter, letting it melt over the top without stirring, cool to 120 degrees, add two-thirds cup of chopped dried apricots and beat until creamy. Pour into buttered pans.

Brussels Sprouts
Brussels sprouts belong to the same vegetable family as cabbage.
Most people cook sprouts the long making them strong in flavor and difficult to digest. They do not need more than 25 minutes cooking, and when small, 20 minutes is long enough. Boiling water should always be used for cooking vegetables, and cabbage and Brussels sprouts are best cooked uncovered.
Serve with butter, salt, pepper and lemon juice.

Food Value of Raw Carrots.
Carrots are a valuable vegetable in cases where certain diets must be used. The water diet of the average individual is very often lacking in laxative foods. It is therefore, good to remember that carrots, which are always available, should be used in a number of ways, but especially raw. Shredded or grated, they may be mixed with other vegetables or used alone as a salad. Mix with a little mayonnaise they make a splendid sandwich filling for the school lunch box.

TERSE PARAGRAPHS FOR HOMEMAKERS

Cookery and Kitchen Problems Are Always Rising Up to Worry the Cook.

When a recipe requires fruits besides oranges, grapefruit, bananas and others readily obtainable in winter, all the housewife has to do now is to go to the grocer's and buy a can of pineapple, cherries, mixed fruits or what she will.

Frying is one of the oldest methods of cooking, and while we do not know when frying first started, we do know that cooking in oil was the custom as long ago as in the days when people ate locusts and insects.

As a vegetable, shortening is odorless and a non-conductor of odors, the same fact can be used again and again for many different foods. Therefore, the old saying "When fat is used for cooking it must be kept for fish" does not apply. You need only keep one kettle of fat for frying everything when you use a vegetable shortening. After using it simply strain out any possible crumbs and reheat the shortening whenever you want to try again, whether it be fish, doughnuts, potatoes, croquettes or what not.

If you use a wood or coal stove, the round bottomed Scotch kettle is best for cooking, but if you use gas or electricity, the flat bottomed kettle is best to use.

Cooked fruit is added to the diet of small children earlier than raw fruit. The cooking makes the fruit more easily digested.

One main hot dish for a meal that will provide the proper foods and which will require little time and energy to prepare is all that is necessary.

Although all fresh green vegetables are supposed to have about the same amount of food value, some are higher in one mineral or vitamin and others in other minerals and vitamins. By using them all one can eat a well-rounded mineral and vitamin diet.

Bread and butter pudding is so old that it is new. It is a simple combination of bread, butter and custard ingredients.

"Save time and effort by keeping a bottle of French dressing and one of mayonnaise in the icebox ready to add to salads.

Meat should be unwrapped and placed on a china plate in the refrigerator.

Little cracks in heavy china disappear if the dish is boiled in milk.

Quickly place a pan of scorched food in cold water to remove burnt taste.

FONDANT IS THE BASIS FOR DELICIOUS SWEETS

Housewives Can Make All Kinds of Dainty Confections With This Product.

Fondant is the basis of many delicious candies. With a supply of fondant in the refrigerator, the home cook will find it an interesting occupation to make sweetmeats for Christmas giving.

How to Make Fondant. Mix the following ingredients in a saucepan: Three cups of sugar, one-fourth teaspoon of cream of tartar and one cup of water. Whip down the sides of the saucepan with a damp cloth. Cook to 240 degrees without stirring.

Four onto a wet marble slab or enameled table top or into a large greased platter and let cool to lukewarm. Then manipulate with a short square spatula, always working back and forth, never in circles, until the mass creams.

Then knead in the hands a few minutes, place in a bowl, cover with a damp cloth and allow to ripen for 24 hours.

If you wish to keep it indefinitely, pack away in a covered airtight jar in the ice box.

From this fondant you can make a variety of bonbons by merely adding nuts or fruit and coloring as you like; or you can make chocolate cream by dipping pieces in chocolate.

SERVE NOT SPICED TEA

Spices Give the Beverage a Real Oriental Tang.

Hostesses who are planning to serve tea informally to holiday guests will do well to give consideration to trying this recipe for making spiced tea which has come into fashion for afternoon service.

Spiced Tea. Use these proportions: for one quart freshly drawn, boiling water, use one dessertspoon tea, one-fourth teaspoon mace, one-eighth teaspoon cloves, one-fourth teaspoon allspice, one-half teaspoon cinnamon.

For one quart tea pour one quart freshly drawn, boiling water, over one dessertspoon tea; add spices, tied in a bag. Let stand five minutes; strain and serve with sliced lemon.

Quick Cranberry Sauce. Use two cups of cranberries, two cups water and one cup sugar. Pick over and remove stems from cranberries. Add water and sugar; bring to boiling point and boil 10 minutes, stirring and mashing the berries during the cooking.

A Savory Meat Product. In purchasing a fresh tongue, choose one which is thick and firm and has plenty of fat on the under side. A full beef tongue will weigh from three and one-half to six pounds. Beef tongues may be purchased either fresh (uncooked), or canned, smoked or sweet pickled.

ARTICHOKES SUGGESTED FOR VEGETABLE COURSE

Either the Fresh or the Canned Variety Serves to Excellent Advantage.

Most homemakers, when planning company dinners, have an inclination to add a real company vegetable, one not usually served at the family table, to the menu.

On such occasions, artichokes come in very acceptably as they go nicely with almost all meat and fowl dishes.

Artichokes Bechamel. Chop equal portions of parsley, mushrooms and shallots, making about a cup in all. Fry these together for a few minutes in butter, add one-fourth cup of bread crumbs, season with salt and pepper and mix with the beaten yolks of two eggs.

Fill the hollows of five or six cooked artichoke bottoms with this mixture, arrange in a baking dish and bake in a moderate oven for about 20 minutes. Serve with Bechamel sauce.

Artichokes a la Croque. For six artichokes boil two quarts of spinach, strain, chop fine and put into a frying pan with one-fourth of a cup of olive oil, season to taste with salt and pepper; mix well and stir in one cup of milk and one tablespoon of flour. Cook until creamy, add three hard-boiled eggs, chopped fine. Parboil the artichokes for 10 minutes, cut out the hearts, stuff them with some of the spinach mixture, cover the bottom of a baking dish with a layer of the spinach mixture, place the artichokes on top of it; sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese and cracker crumbs and bake in a moderate oven a half hour.

A CASSEROLE CHICKEN DISH

Savory Way of Preparing an Excursion Chicken Dish.

A rather unusual chicken dish is jambolai, which uses a four and one-half pound chicken, two large Spanish onions, one small green pepper, two cups tomatoes, two cups boiling water, two cups celery, two teaspoons salt, a tiny piece of bay leaf, one cup brown rice and five tablespoons olive oil.

Place oil in frying pan and, when hot, but not smoking, brown disjunct and washed chicken, then placed in Dutch oven or casserole.

Add chopped onion, green pepper to fat in frying pan and cook gently five minutes. Stir in tomatoes, boiling water, celery and seasonings, and cook gently 10 minutes. Stir in rice and cook five minutes longer.

Four over chicken; cover and simmer gently one and one-half hours.

BANANA AND APRICOT MOUSSE IS A DELICATE DESSERT
An Enjoyable Ending for Formal or Informal Luncheon or Dinner.

Bananas and canned apricots make a tempting mousse when made according to this recipe which calls for one cup banana pulp, three-fourths cup apricot pulp, three tablespoons lemon juice, one-fourth cup powdered sugar, one cup whipping cream and a little salt.

The dessert is easily made and frozen in the automatic refrigerator or in a covered mold packed in salt and ice. As bananas and canned apricots can always be found on the market, there is nothing to prevent trying this delicious dessert.

Make bananas with a fork. Press canned apricots through a sieve, add to the banana pulp. Add lemon juice, apricot pulp, sugar and salt and beat well. Whip cream and fold into the first mixture. Put in two refrigerator pans and freeze three to four hours, or pour into a covered mold and pack in an equal amount of salt and ice and allow to freeze for about four hours.

Southern Ambrosia. Cut sections of oranges into about three pieces, add diced banana and diced or shredded pineapple. Sweeten to taste. Add coconut and serve cold. Delightful variations can be made with any seasonable fruit, as peaches, pears, cherries and strawberries.

A FAVORITE MAIN DISH FOR A COMPANY BREAKFAST
Fashion in Home Entertaining Now Features the Formal Breakfast.

Mushroom omelet with mushroom sauce is a main dish which is being featured at many company breakfasts. Here are directions for preparing these delicacies.

Fluffy Omelet. Beat three egg yolks well, add three tablespoons milk, three-eighths teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Beat three egg whites until stiff, and fold into the yolks. Pour into a hot, greased skillet and set over a low fire until brown on the bottom and the mixture is set. The omelet may be set in a moderate oven for a few moments. Before folding the omelet, pour over this.

Mushroom Sauce. Melt one and one-half tablespoons butter, add one and one-half tablespoons flour, and still slowly, and the liquor from mushrooms, and season to taste with salt and pepper. Pour over the omelet before folding. Fold the omelet over on to a hot plate and serve at once.

When Baking Potatoes that are to be baked with cooking oil melted fat. This keeps the skin tender and moist and gives it a delicious flavor. The skins of baked potatoes should be eaten, as they are such excellent "roughage."

HOW TO Know THAT YOU ARE GETTING GOVERNMENT-INSPECTED MEAT

1 The Government Stamp on Fresh Meats

2 The Government Phrase on Packages of Meat Products:

"U. S. INSPECTED AND PASSED BY DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE ESTABLISHMENT No. 000"

Only the meat that comes from healthy animals and that is clean, wholesome and edible in every way can pass the rigid U. S. Government Inspection. Surely that is the only kind of meat you want brought into your home.

For your guidance and protection, Uncle Sam has a special, private way of identifying the meat which he inspects and approves. On all primal cuts of fresh meat his Government Inspectors stamp a little purple circle, exactly like the one pictured at the left. The wording in it is an abbreviation of the words "United States Inspected and Passed." The number of the individual packing establishment appears where the ciphers are.

The coloring used for marking meats with this little circular stamp is made of Government approved ingredients, all of which are absolutely harmless; in fact, just as harmless as fruit juices, or the coloring you put into desserts!

On all meat products, put up in packages or wrappers, such as hams, bacon, sausage, lard, etc., the Government endorsement appears in the form of a printed phrase or legend reading as follows: "U. S. Inspected and Passed by Department of Agriculture, Establishment No. 000." This may be printed in any color, on any part of the package that the individual packer so desires.

Of course, all good things, all legitimate things, are imitated. Even the U. S. Government circular stamp, and the purple color in which it appears, are imitated. So is the Government inspection phrase or legend. If a product is offered or advertised to you as simply "Inspected," be careful: Make sure that it is "U. S. Government Inspected" and bears the "U. S. Government" stamp or legend of approval.

Any retail butcher who handles Government Inspected meat will be glad to show you the Government stamp on the meat in his cooler or on his block, and the Government phrase on his packages of meat products. Look for them—they are your protection. They are your assurance of clean meat from healthy animals, prepared in a sanitary manner—Uncle Sam's pledge of absolute wholesomeness and purity.

RICH PLUM PUDDING FOR THE HOLIDAYS

This Rich Delicacy Is Especially Dedicated to the Christmas Dinner.

While delicious plum pudding can be purchased ready prepared at all chain and grocery stores, many housewives prefer making their own supply, particularly when the exhibits of fresh and dried fruits at the local stores are so fascinating and appealing.

New England plum pudding and the English variety vie with each other for place at the Christmas dinner.

Plum puddings may be made now and put away in a cool place, preferably in a tin receptacle to ripen. On Christmas day, the pudding is heated and it is ready to serve.

SALTED NUTS ARE EASILY PREPARED

Nice Accompaniments for the Salad Course or for Formal Meal Service.

Hard Sauce.
Use two tablespoons butter, one cup powdered sugar, one tablespoon boiling water and one teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter, add sugar and add water and flavoring. Beat until light and creamy. Set aside to harden. Cut in squares; serve on pudding and pour soft sauce on top.

For the hot sauce use one cup granulated sugar, one tablespoon flour, one tablespoon cornstarch, two cups water, one tablespoon butter and enough sherry flavoring to suit the taste.

Sift together dry ingredients; add water. Cook 10 minutes; remove from fire and add butter.

BUTTERSCOTCH BREAD SQUARES
A Quickly Made Light Sweet for a Home Luncheon.

Sift together two cups flour, one-fourth cup cornstarch, one teaspoon salt and four teaspoons baking powder. Stir in one-fourth cup shortening and one and one-fourth cups milk.

Pour into a greased baking pan that is shallow, so the mixture is one-half inch thick. Bake in a hot oven.

When almost done spread with one cup of corn syrup boiled until it threads, and top with chopped nuts and finish baking. Cut in squares and serve cold.

SEAFOOD CUTLETS AND SAUCE

A Combination Dish of Shrimps and Crab Meat.

Take one cup thick white sauce, one egg, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, one teaspoon lemon juice, two cups canned lobster meat.

To white sauce add slightly beaten egg, seasonings and flaked fish; let cool.

Shape into cutlets; fry in deep fat; drain on brown paper and serve with one cup white sauce to which one-half cup chopped shrimps have been added.

MACARONI PRODUCTS ARE USEFUL FOODS

Serve as a Vegetable, or in Combination With Meat or Fish.

In cook books macaroni, spaghetti and noodles are classed with the cereals because they are made from wheat, but we know these foods best as vegetables or as meat substitutes, especially when combined with cheese. Yet they may also be used in salads, in desserts, and as a thickener for soups. Truly useful products for those who have the problems of meal planning to cope with, and particularly for young housekeepers who want to know about dishes that are simple to prepare but exceptionally good to eat.

Being rather neutral in flavor themselves, the flour pastes admit of a great variety of combinations with other foods or flavors. Cheese, meat, fish, most green vegetables, eggs and milk are frequently used with macaroni, spaghetti or noodles to make hearty, satisfying and, usually, economical meals.

The following recipes will help in planning meals of this type. They are all simple enough to present no difficulties to amateur cooks, providing directions are followed, and each will provide two or three servings.

Noodles come in two shapes—the wide and the narrow strips; spaghetti, the narrow solid round sticks; and macaroni, the larger sticks that are hollow, and that may be had in several sizes. Then there are macaroni letters that are amusing to serve in soup; elbow-shaped pieces, and some of the fancy shapes, such as bow-knots, sea shells and stars. Always use boiling water for cooking any of these, and see that enough water is used to keep the pastes well covered. Ten to 15 minutes cooking is usually enough. One cupful of broken macaroni will make nearly three cupfuls when cooked.

Noodles and Spinach.
Break up enough fine or wide noodles to make three-quarter cupful and cook in one quart of boiling water for 10 minutes. Add one teaspoon salt to the water. Drain and put half of them in the bottom of a buttered baking dish. Chop canned or fresh cooked spinach to make one and one-half cupful and season with salt, pepper and one tablespoon melted butter. But half of this over the noodles and cover with thin slices Swiss or American cheese. Add the rest of the spinach to another layer of cheese. Pour one-half cup milk over this, and sprinkle the cheese with three tablespoons buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a hot oven for 15 minutes, or until the cheese has melted and the crumbs browned. Serve as the main course for luncheon or a vegetable dinner.

Spaghetti Caruso.
Cook one-fourth pound spaghetti without breaking the sticks. Packaged spaghetti is usually packed in one-half pound lots, so this is half a package. To cook the sticks without breaking them, pick up a handful and lower into boiling salted water; as they touch the water they will soften and curl around the pan. Boil for 10 minutes or until tender, then drain. Make the sauce before cooking the spaghetti.

For this melt two tablespoons butter and add one onion sliced thin, a small slice from a clove of garlic, one-fourth pound beef liver cut in small squares and one tablespoon shredded green pepper. Stir until the liver is brown, then add one cup canned tomatoes, a bouillon cube dissolved in one-quarter cup boiling water, one teaspoon salt and pepper to season. Cook slowly for 20 minutes, stirring frequently.

Pour over the spaghetti and mix by lifting the spaghetti with a fork so the sauce can run through it. Serve very hot on a platter and sprinkle with grated parmesan cheese. An excellent main course for dinner or luncheon.

Macaroni Cutlets.
Cook one-fourth pound macaroni, broken in small pieces, in boiling salted water until tender, then drain and add one-half cup milk, two tablespoons butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, one-half cup grated or finely cut cheese, three tablespoons flour and one tablespoon tomato catsup. Stir constantly over a slow fire until very thick. Turn out on a platter and let cool.

When cold shape into four cutlets about one-half inch thick. Roll each in fine, stale bread crumbs, then in beaten egg, then in crumbs again. Heat about an inch of fat in a deep, heavy frying pan until it will brown a piece of bread in one minute. Put in the cutlets and fry until a golden brown. Drain on soft paper and serve with catsup or chili sauce.

CHOCOLATE CAKE WITH FUDGE FROSTING IS A FAVORITE

This Is a Rich Sweetmeat Which Is Most Suitable for a Dessert.

This delicious cake is always a favorite sweet whenever served. The homemade variety is easily made and this recipe makes a pastry which is particularly recommended.

Fudge Cake.
Melt four squares of unsweetened chocolate over hot water and stir in one-half cup sugar, the beaten yolk of one egg and one-half cup milk. Continue stirring over hot water until thickened and very smooth, then remove from the fire and cool while mixing the rest of the cake. Cream one-fourth cup butter with one-half cup sugar and, when well blended, add one egg and beat until smooth. Add one-half cup milk. Sift one and three-fourths cups cake flour with one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon baking soda and two tablespoons baking powder. Add to the butter and sugar mixtures and then stir in the chocolate and one teaspoon vanilla extract. Mix well but carefully and pour into a ovengreased baking pan about three inches deep. Bake in a moderate oven for 40 minutes. Cool in the pan and when cold spread with fudge icing. Cut in squares for serving. This is a rich cake, but very delicious. It will keep fresh for several days.

Fudge Icing.
Melt two squares unsweetened chocolate over hot water. Put one egg white in a bowl, add two tablespoons evaporated milk and one-half cup confectioners' sugar. Mix until smooth, add the melted chocolate, one-half cup more of sugar and one tablespoon cold water. Beat thoroughly and add more sugar or more milk as necessary to make of a consistency to spread. Spread in a thick layer.

Breakfast Quick Bread.
Mix two cups whole wheat flour, three teaspoons baking powder and three-fourths teaspoon salt. Beat one egg until light and add one and one-fourth cups milk. Beat in the dry ingredients and one-fourth cup melted shortening and three-fourths cup chopped dates. When well mixed turn into greased muffin pans and bake about 25 minutes in a moderate oven.

THE TRUTH ABOUT ORANGE-PEKOE TEA!

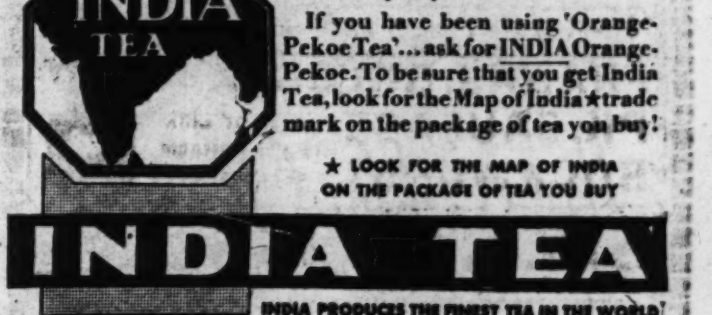

MILLIONS know that 'Orange-Pekoe' is not a kind or flavor of tea . . . that it is merely a trade name for a size of leaf resulting from the process of sifting during manufacture. They have learned that 'Orange-Pekoes' are as various as thumbprints . . . no two alike!

Quality of tea depends on where the tea was grown and whether the leaves were picked and manufactured under favorable conditions.

Now, tea drinkers who formerly asked for just 'Orange-Pekoe Tea' are demanding INDIA Orange-Pekoe Tea. And why? Because, India produces the finest tea in the world. That is why millions now insist on looking for the Map of India trade mark on the packages of tea they buy.

FOR GUEST OR HOME DINNERS

Tomato Cocktails Are Appetizing and Refreshing.

Tomato cocktails are among the smartest drinks to serve at a luncheon or late supper.

Tomato juice, slightly salted and served with chopped ice as an appetizer for the family dinner adds zest to the entire meal. Just run canned tomatoes through the colander and reserve the pulp for meat or spaghetti sauces, or buy the juice ready-canned—it is the same delicious juice and you save a moment in time.

It is very good served with one or two cheese wafers—the toasted cheesy kind.

Figs in Blankets. After the oysters have been cleaned, roll each one in a strip of bacon. Fasten the bacon where the edges meet by running a toothpick through at this point. Place in a broiler and broil one side until brown, then turn and broil until the other side is brown.

INTRODUCE NUTS AT MEALS

Those nice, big Italian or French chestnuts that are making their appearance now can be used to make many attractive dishes.

We are apt to think of them only in connection with turkey or chicken stuffings, and they are certainly good in that way. But they may also be boiled, mashed, made into a purée, or cooked with Brussels sprouts to serve as a vegetable.

Their high protein content makes them valuable from the nutritive standpoint.

Nuts are not difficult to digest when they are made a part of the regular meal, and when they are mashed or ground fine so that the digestive juices can work on them readily.

BAKE FRUIT CAKE

NOW FOR CHRISTMAS

This Delicacy Needs to Be Kept Some Time to Develop Its Best Flavor.

Fruit cake, like mince meat, should be made some time before it is to be used, in order to develop its best flavor. Several weeks ago recipes for mince meat were published, but this seems to be the first opportunity for suggesting fruit cake, as the Thanksgiving holiday came in between and kept all so busy that there was little time for "extras"—and fruit cake does take time, both in the mixing and baking.

Some people like light fruit cakes and others prefer the dark—it's a matter of choice. Generally speaking, the light cakes do not keep moist as long as the dark ones, but will keep fresh for three or four weeks. Recipes for both types following.

A few general suggestions before considering the recipes. Prepare all the fruit before starting to mix the cake. The use of ready sliced citron and fruit peel will save lots of time, but if this is not available, steam the large pieces of fruit to soften them, so that they may be sliced more readily.

Wash currants thoroughly in cold water and pick them over carefully to remove bits of stems or tiny pebbles, which somehow occasionally are found in them. Blanch almonds, shell pecans or other nuts and chop or cut as desired. Dates, figs, raisins may be cut in pieces with scissors that are dipped in cold water; this keeps the fruit from becoming a sticky mass. Or the fruit may be rinsed quickly in cold water and run through the meat chopper, using a coarse knife.

In a well-made fruit cake the pieces of fruit should not be so small as to disappear in the batter. Raisins are already seeded nowadays, saving hours of time. Ovens equipped with heat regulators simplify baking fruit cakes, as a very slow heat is required. In case the oven is not so fashioned, be sure to use a portable thermometer to insure the proper temperature. Fruit cakes are expensive to make, and it's taking a big risk to guess at the temperature.

English Dark Fruit Cake. Ingredients necessary include one pound sugar, one pound butter, 10 eggs, four cups flour, one teaspoon allspice, one teaspoon salt, three-fourths pound shelled almonds, one-half pound candied orange peel, one-fourth pound candied lemon peel, one-fourth pound citron, one pound seedless raisins, one pound seeded raisins, one teaspoon nutmeg, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon baking soda, two cups grape juice, one pound currants, one-half pound figs and one-half pound candied cherries and candied pineapple, mixed.

Prepare the fruit and mix all together in a bowl with one cup sifted flour, rubbing the flour into the fruit with the fingers to coat it. Cream the butter and sugar together, until soft and smooth. Add the egg yolks and beat well. Stir in the fruit juice and then the egg whites beaten until frothy. Next add the flour sifted with the spices and soda, and lastly add the fruit and nuts. Mix thoroughly—the batter will be quite stiff. Line cake pans with buttered paper, fill three-fourths full and bake in a slow oven—300 degrees—for three to four hours, depending on the size of the cakes. This makes about nine pounds of cake.

Light Fruit Cake. One cup butter, two cups sugar, eight eggs, one cup orange or pineapple juice, three cups flour, two and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, grated rind one lemon, one pound seeded raisins, one-half pound citron, one-fourth pound orange peel, candied, one-fourth pound candied lemon peel, one-fourth pound candied pineapple, one-half pound blanched almonds and one-half pound candied cherries.

Cream the butter and sugar together until soft and smooth. Add the egg yolks and beat thoroughly. Stir in the fruit juice, grated lemon rind and egg whites, beaten until frothy. Sift the flour, salt and baking powder. Mix the fruit and nuts and add the flour to them. Stir into the egg mixture and when well mixed pour into cake pans lined with buttered paper. Bake in a slow oven—300 to 325 degrees—for two to three hours, depending on the size. If made into one large cake, it will take three hours baking. The recipe makes about six pounds of cake, which may be baked in small pans or one large one.

When fruit cakes are cold, wrap them in waxed paper and store in a cool, dry place until needed. Leave the buttered paper on each cake as it helps keep it moist.

COLOR CORNSTARCH PUDDING. Green, Pink and White Make an Attractive Combination.

Cornstarch puddings are served cold and so they may be made well in advance of the meal.

An extra amount may be prepared and kept in the refrigerator for several days if well covered. In this case it will be well to divide the pudding into half and introduce a different flavor and color in the two portions.

This will save time and at the same time add variety to the menu.

SERVE QUICK BREADS AT HOME BREAKFAST

Hot Breads Always Produce Smiles of Satisfaction, Even at Breakfast Time.

If good food paves the way to the masculine heart, as the sages of old tell us, then one of the most important paving blocks must be made of hot breads. These paving blocks must be of the fairy type, light and airy and yet able to sustain. Hot scones for breakfast, fruit coffee cake, or the kind that is all crunchiness and cinnamon on top, golden date muffins, spicy gingerbread and large and hollow popovers served with peach marmalade and plenty of butter.

Date Muffins. Sift two cups flour with one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar, four teaspoons baking powder. Beat two eggs until light and mix with three-fourths cup milk. Cut pitted dates in small pieces. Melt one-fourth cup butter. Grease nine small cups and six large muffin pans. Add the dates to the dry mixture and stir just enough to coat with flour. Add the liquid mixture and the melted butter and stir just enough to mix. Pour at once into the muffin pans. Bake in a hot oven—425 degrees—for 20 minutes, or until firm and delicately browned. Serve warm.

Coffee Cake. Sift two cups flour with four teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth cup sugar. Rub in four tablespoons shortening until the mixture looks like coarse meal, and no hard lumps of fat remain. Use the fingers, a fork, or one of the pastry choppers. Beat one egg and mix with two-thirds cup milk.

or use one-third cup evaporated milk and one-third cup cold water. Add to the dry mixture and then stir in one-half cup seedless raisins and two tablespoons chopped candied citron or orange peel. Stir just enough to mix and pour at once into a well-greased, rather shallow baking pan.

Brush the top with melted butter and spread with a mixture of one-fourth cup confectioner's sugar mixed with one teaspoon cinnamon. Press this lightly into the batter with the back of a teaspoon. Bake in a hot oven—425 degrees—for about 25 minutes. Serve warm.

Popovers.

Sift one cup flour with one-half teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon baking powder. Beat two eggs and mix with three-fourths cup milk. Pour the liquid into the dry mixture and beat with a Dover egg beater until the batter is free from lumps and full of bubbles. It should be very thin. Put muffin pans, iron popover pans, or glass cooking ware or earthen ware custard cups in the oven to heat before mixing the popovers. When the batter is ready, grease the hot pans well. Fill half full with the batter and bake in a hot oven—425 degrees—for 15 minutes, then reduce the heat to a moderate temperature, or 375 degrees, and bake 20 to 25 minutes longer.

Scones.

Sift two cups flour with one teaspoon salt, three teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon baking soda and two tablespoons sugar. Beat two eggs until light and mix with three-fourths cup sour milk or buttermilk. Rub six tablespoons shortening into the flour mixture and when well blended stir in the egg and milk. The mixture should be a dough that can just be handled without sticking to the fingers. Turn out on a lightly floured board and pat out to one-fourth inch thickness. Shape with a good-sized round cutter and mark each scone diagonally with the back of a knife, but without cutting through. Place on a greased baking pan and bake in a hot oven—425 degrees—for 15 to 20 minutes. Serve warm or let stand until cold, then split and toast.

Gingerbread.

Heat three-fourths cup dark molasses to the boiling point with one-fourth cup water and one-third cup shortening. As soon as the boiling point is reached pour it into a bowl and cool while measuring the rest of the ingredients. Sift one and three-fourths cups flour with one-half teaspoon baking soda, two teaspoons baking powder, one tablespoon ginger, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon allspice and one-half teaspoon salt. Stir into the liquid mixture and mix well. Pour at once into a greased, rather shallow baking pan and bake for 25 to 35 minutes at 350 degrees—a moderate oven. Serve warm or cold.

CANNED BEANS COMBINE WELL WITH OTHER FOODS

For Persons Who Use Up Physical Energy Beans Are an Ideal Food.

There are many dishes that combine the energy-giving bean with other lighter foods and that are thus adapted to the needs of the office worker or the person employed in less active work.

Here is a suggestion which mothers will find an excellent main dish of the luncheon for school children or grown-ups:

Luncheon Beans.
Fry six slices of bacon, then remove from fat. To the hot fat add one and one-half cups of sliced onions and one-fourth cup of sliced green pepper, and fry until tender but not brown. Add one No. 2 can of tomatoes and stew for five minutes.

Arrange alternate layers of beans from a No. 2 can of baked beans, broken up bacon and the tomato mixture in a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle four tablespoons of grated cheese on top, and bake in a moderate oven for twenty to thirty minutes.

A LADY FINGER DESSERT

Combine Cakes With Whipped Cream and Jelly.

Bought cakes or sweet wafers make dainty and quickly prepared desserts.

For instance this intriguing sweet which is made by splitting lady fingers in half and then breaking each half in the middle. Line six sherbet cups with these pieces of cake, allowing four pieces to each serving.

Put a spoon of jelly in the bottom of each cup. Take six spoons of jelly, and beat them up thoroughly with three tablespoons of sugar. Whip a cup of heavy double cream until stiff and then add the jelly and sugar mixture.

Pile in the center of the cake lined sherbet cups and chill well but do not freeze. A candied cherry may be used to top the dessert.

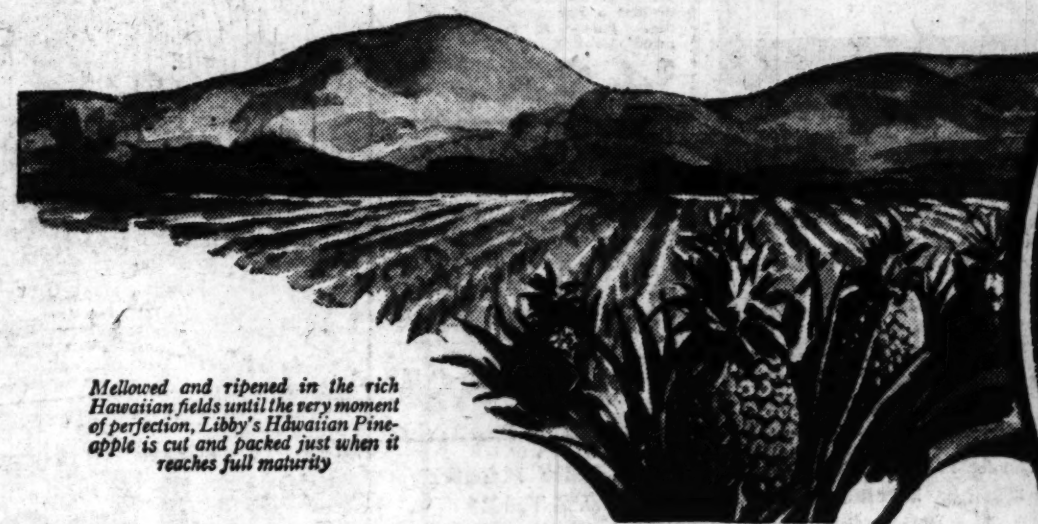

Date Bars.

Dates, nuts, figs and such things seem to have a particular appeal for fast-day meals. For date bars chop enough pitted dates to make one cup full. If the dates are rinsed in cold water before chopping they will not stick together in such a close mass when put through the food chopper. Mix the dates with one cup finely chopped nuts, two well beaten eggs and three-quarters cup powdered sugar. Then stir in one tablespoon lemon juice, one in two-cup melted shortening and four tablespoons flour, sifted with one-half teaspoon salt. Spread evenly about one-quarter inch deep in a greased shallow pan. Bake in a slow oven for 40 minutes or until firm. Cut in strips while hot, and when cold sprinkle with powdered sugar or spread with orange or pineapple icing.

Taste it!

the finest Hawaiian Pineapple ever grown—

the new crop from Libby's great plantations

Mellowed and ripened in the rich Hawaiian fields until the very moment of perfection, Libby's Hawaiian Pineapple is cut and packed just when it reaches full maturity.

HERE it is, ready for you now—Libby's wonderful new Pineapple, from the crop that's the talk of Hawaii! Pineapple so good, you must not fail to taste it.

Marvelously, lusciously full-ripe, it has a new, delicious sweetness, a new, irresistible tang. A new perfection of flavor that we've been working 20 years to bring you.

Taste it! Libby's Hawaiian Pineapple is an economical purchase. It comes packed in a variety of sizes and in different styles to suit different needs. It is priced so that you can afford to serve it often, and dealers are featuring special 2 can purchases.

Taste it sliced—in salads, in desserts, upside-down cakes, tarts, with meats. Or just as it comes from the can, glistening with the rich syrup of its own natural juice.

Taste it crushed—in omelets, fritters, puddings, pies, pastry, as a delightful breakfast fruit, with or without cereal. Then see if you don't understand why this year's Libby crop is the marvel of the Hawaiian pineapple growers.

Don't miss this new pineapple goodness! You'll find it economical, relished by all the family, priced well within your budget. And remember—dealers are featuring special 2 can purchases of Libby's Hawaiian Pineapple. Libby, McNeill & Libby, Honolulu, Hawaii.

RADIO! Laugh with Ray Perkins, the Prince of Pineapple in Person, Thursday and Friday mornings. Also Mary Hale Martin's Household Period, Wednesday mornings. All three programs at 9 A. M. Central Time over KWK and associated N. B. C. stations

SLAYER OF HER SISTER FREED
Los Angeles Woman Acquitted on Plea of Temporary Insanity.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 5.—Mrs. Ruth B. Weimer was acquitted yesterday of the killing of her sister, Mrs. Mable Steele. Attorneys for Mrs. Weimer pleaded she was driven to temporary insanity by her sister's constant remorse over a court order awarding custody of her two children to her estranged husband.

Mrs. Weimer testified that on the day of the murder her sister entered a room of her home and exclaimed she had been crucified. Mrs. Weimer said she remembered nothing after that until friends told her she had shot her sister and attempted to take her own life.

Arrested for Income Tax Fraud. By the Associated Press. TULSA, Ok., Dec. 5.—James A. Pringle, trustee of the Fox Royalty Co. and an official of the Lamar Royalty Co. Tulsa, Ok., is under arrest on a Federal warrant charging conspiracy to bribe an agent of the Internal Revenue Department. R. L. Thayer of Kansas City, Government agent, signed the complaint. At the Federal Building it was said the charge grew out of an investigation of income tax returns.

COMMUNISTS WIN APPEAL FROM $500 DISTURBANCE FINE
Judge Weinbrenner Frees Them With Caustic Comment on Prohibition Law.

Charges of resisting an officer and peace disturbance against three alleged Communists, Allen Brooks, Boris Stevens and Herman Schwartz, who had been fined $150 each by Provisional Police Judge Stein, were dismissed by Judge Weinbrenner in the Court of Criminal Correction yesterday.

Judge Weinbrenner held the evidence was insufficient, ruling that their protest against the eviction of a Negro tenant at 2117 Walnut street did not constitute peace disturbance. He pointed out that the ordinance under which they were prosecuted concerned resisting a city officer whereas the two deputy constables who prosecuted were State officers.

"If we arrested all the people who protest against a law they don't like," the Judge remarked, "we would arrest 75 per cent of the people who don't like the prohibition law."

BRITAIN DRAGGED OVER ROCKY ROAD BY WALL STREET
Lloyd George Declares Nation Is "Lassoed Fast by American Finance"—Asails Debt Terms.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Dec. 5.—England's Liberal party, which holds the balance of power in Parliament, has made no deal with the Laborites to keep Ramsay MacDonald in office, but it has no desire to see Stanley Baldwin become Prime Minister, David Lloyd George, the Liberal leader, said today.

His outline of the political line-up came out of the Liberal "war council" following reports that he and MacDonald had made a working agreement based on the Labor Premier's forthcoming electoral reform bill.

"Britain," said Lloyd George, "is between the devil and the deep sea. Our only practical choice is between the Labor party, whose avowed doctrine is socialism, and the Conservative party, which is ready to plunge headless into a vortex of fiscal revolution. It's a sorry choice, but, bad as the Labor regime is, there is no desire for a Baldwin government as an alternative."

The Liberal leader pointed across the Atlantic for an illustration of the political situation in England. "Conservative critics ask us why we don't turn the Laborites out," he said. "Let us remind them that there is a grim feature of the economic slump in that paradise of protection—Wall Street. It is called jumping out the window. The Conservatives urge us to jump, but we are the jumpers. I don't believe in jumping until you know where you're going to land."

The "wild horses of Wall Street" have dragged a prostrate England over a rocky road of finance, Lloyd George said.

The "mischief" of Stanley Baldwin's American debt settlement continues to spread, he declared, and "we are lassoed fast by American finance. We are only beginning to realize what that terrible debt settlement means. That gold standard settlement was premature and ill thought out. We have been dragged over the course by the wild horses of Wall Street. With the alternatives at hand, he said, the Laborites can be given another chance and be judged from day to day until the electorate can be prevailed upon to trust the Liberal party with the Government. Lloyd George criticized the MacDonald Cabinet bitterly.

"The Government," he said, "is an acknowledged failure. Unemployment is not merely a disaster, it is an opportunity. During such times an able government can put to rights things that cannot be remedied in periods of prosperity."

15 HORSES TO FACE STARTER AT GRASSLAND

Dec. 5. — Grasslands Downs, sportsman's haven located in a once famous blood horse country, prepared today for the Grasslands International Steeplechase, in which American and foreign-bred horses will compete tomorrow.

The steeplechase, the first of the kind ever held in this country, will be over a four and a half mile course that, except for four few famous Aintree course near Liverpool, England, over which the Grand National is run.

 About 15 horses are expected to take on John Gourlay, Governor of Grenada, to face the barrier before a crowd of 12,000 drawn from America and Europe to this picturesque 28-square-mile estate.
 A gold cup offered by King Alfonso of Spain is one of the awards.

The steeplechase was arranged with a view to giving American owners an opportunity to prepare for competing in the Grand National. Three English-bred animals and two French-bred American owned were among the 19 starters.

IMBEZZLER WHO WENT
FREE ENDS LIFE BY GASWayne Smart, Former Kresge Manager in University City, Found Dead.

Smart, one-time University of Illinois football player, who embezzled $1949 last summer from Kresge & 10 cent store he managed at 6653 Delmar boulevard, University City, Mo., was gassed in the home of a friend yesterday. Police who investigated after his body was found beside a kitchen stove, said he had been turned on but was not killed.

Deputy Coroner Schultz, after an investigation, said it was obvious that Smart had taken his life and committed the case suicide. No charges will be held.

He was 25 years old, married and the father of two children. The dismissal of four embezzlement charges against him in St. Louis County Circuit Court, he had been living at Maros, Ill., his childhood home, 20 miles north of Duquoin. He formerly was employed in Beloit and has been here recently looking for work.

The fact of his being married and having two children saved Smart from prosecution for embezzlement. R. B. Thomas, St. Louis superintendent of the Kresge stores, filed a statement with Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Noble at Clayton declining to prosecute him because "his wife and children would suffer most."

Smart embezzled from the Kresge company by using duplicate deposit slips. First knowledge of the defalcation came after he disappeared last June. He was traced through an automobile which he had purchased through a University City concern, when he wrote to the company asking for a clear title to the car. Arrested June 12 in Tucson, Ariz., he was returned to St. Louis by airplane. Charges against him were dropped Aug. 7.

Missouri Bottlers' Election. COLUMBIA, Mo., Dec. 5.—Edwin C. Rice of Springfield today was elected president of the Missouri Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages. Charles A. Hautz of St. Louis, was named secretary-treasurer. The 1931 convention will be held in Sedalia.

STATE'S LAST BRUNK BRIEF

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 5.—The office of Attorney-General Shartel today filed its last brief in the State's ouster proceedings against Larry Brunk, Aurora, suspended State Treasurer.

The brief, an argument and suggestions in behalf of the State to new matter brought forward in the reply of Brunk's attorneys, was signed by Shartel, Edward G. Robinson, Assistant Attorney-General, and Washington & Curtis of Springfield, special attorneys for the State. In the brief today the State contends there are only two questions to be decided—the constitutionality of the sections under which Brunk was suspended, and the question as to whether ouster proceedings are the correct method of removal of the State Treasurer.

Mrs. Keith-Miller in Miami. MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 5.—Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, Australian flyer who reported she was blown far out of her course to barren Andros Island on a Havana-Miami flight last Friday, arrived in Miami today in a chartered seaplane. With her were Capt. W. M. Lancaster, her flying associate, and John Laggett III of Pittsburgh.

GANGSTER'S BOND FORFEITED

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Bond of $10,000 posted for the appearance of Leo Mongoven, a Chicago "public enemy," allied with George (Bugs) Moran, was forfeited to Cook County today by the Grand Central Surety Co. of New York.

Officers of the company, together with State's Attorney Swanson, appeared before Chief Justice McGorby of the Criminal Court and informed him that detectives engaged by the bonding company and by the State had failed to find Mongoven or to furnish proof that he was dead. Mongoven disappeared several months ago when charged with carrying concealed weapons.

English Cotton Mills to Cut Force. MANCHESTER, Eng., Dec. 5.—Lancashire cotton mill owners today served one month's notice on employees that the "more looms per weaver" system will be instituted at the beginning of the new year. A crisis in the industry would involve 200,000 workers. The proposed system would put eight looms into the hands of the workers who now operate four. Employees have protested despite an offer of increased wages, on the grounds that it would throw many men out of work.

Bombing Closes Mines.

By the Associated Press.

CENTRAL CITY, Ky., Dec. 5.—Two of the three mines reopened in Muhlenberg County this week after a period of labor difficulties were closed today as a result of the dynamiting last night of the Kentucky Utilities Co. power substation at Hillside between Central City and Greenville. The company estimated the damage at from $7500 to $10,000. The company supplies power for the mine.

About 100 open shop workmen were thrown out of employment. Italy's Higher Auto-Tariff in Effect. ROME, Dec. 5.—The Chamber of Deputies today approved the conversion into law of the royal decrees of June 27, 1929, practically doubling import duties on automobiles and greatly increasing the tariff on automobile parts.

DISPUTE BETWEEN CATHOLIC ORDERS TAKEN TO THE POPE

Knights of Malta and Order of Holy Sepulchre Over Titles and Ritual.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, Dec. 4.—A dispute between the Order of the Knights of Malta, containing many noted American members, and the equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulchre was carried today to the Pope.

Marquis Edward Persichetti-Ugolini, nephew of the Pope and Italian representative of the Order of the Holy Sepulchre, replied through a newspaper advertisement to yesterday's advertisement by the Civil Tribunal at Rome on behalf of the Knights of Malta warning the public against the order's alleged infringement of the Malta's constitution.

The Marquis declared that the charges of the Knights of Malta were unfounded and that they have no power to prevent the Holy See from ordering using what titles, names, ritual, etc., they wish. He said that the Knights of Malta advertisement constituted a most grave offense of the "Order of Malta," which glories in the protection of the Holy See, by attacking an order officially recognized as an order affiliated with the papal or-

Workhouse Term for Negro for Larceny of $8.75

McNeil Ward, 38, a Negro, was sentenced to eight months in the workhouse by Judge Butler of the Court of Criminal Correction today on a charge of petit larceny by trick.

He was identified as the man who, after a telephone message to the Gasen drug store at Pershing and De Baliviere avenues, calling for the delivery of a few articles and change for $10, Nov. 15, intercepted the porter, berated him for loitering, thrust a worthless $10 check into his hand and took the package and $8.75 change. Ward, who was arrested that night by police who accompanied the night porter, following a similar summons, said a passerby had asked him to obtain that package and denied knowledge of the fraud perpetrated on the day porter.

One Coat in 22 Years, Says Husband
NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Mrs. Anastasia O'Keefe told a court today that her husband is worth $1,500,000, but has bought her only one coat in 22 years. PARTY FORCES BREIT FROM GERMAN CABINET Minister of Justice Resigns After Economists Offer No Confidence Motion.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Dec. 5.—Johannes Breit, Minister of Justice, yielding to party pressure, today resigned his portfolio in the Cabinet, widening to an open breach the rift between Chancellor Brüning and the Economic Party.

In resigning, Herr Breit chose between party loyalty and his friendship for President von Hindenburg. His action coming only after his party chairman, Hermann Drewitz, had introduced a no confidence motion in the Government in the Reichstag.

Breit did not know of the no confidence motion until it was a completed fact. Although protesting violently to Drewitz, he preferred nevertheless not to bolt his party and neither the Chancellor nor von Hindenburg made any further effort to hold him.

While the Economic Party's defection will reduce the Government majority in the Reichstag by 23 votes, Chancellor Brüning still counts on the support of 215 votes in the Reichstag to defeat opposition motions.

The Chancellor made a personal appeal to the Reichstag by 23 votes, Chancellor Brüning still counts on the support of 215 votes in the Reichstag to defeat opposition motions.

RAIL UNIONS TO PLAN CAMPAIGN FOR 8-HOUR DAY Conference in Washington Monday Called by Heads of Five Big Brotherhoods

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 5.—Representatives of all railway labor organizations in the country have been called to meet in Washington next Monday to consider plans for obtaining a six-hour day in the railway industry.

The call was announced after a conference of the chief executives of the five big brotherhoods of railroad employees, who met here to further the shorter day campaign put under way at a meeting of several hundred representatives of the "Big Five" at Chicago Nov. 12 to 22.

Some union leaders have expressed hope that the organizations can prepare to join in a common fight with the operators against competition of waterways, motor trucks, busses and pipe lines. This matter will be discussed at the Washington conference.

"Yes, I Remember How I Stood Expressing My Doubts"

"I had gone there to pay the rent when he asked me how we would like to buy that place as a home. He wanted us to own it. He said we could.

"He was courteously insistent, himself a firm believer in St. Louis real estate and the doctrine that home ownership makes better citizens, that they learn thrift and in the end have more of life's enjoyments through owning property.

"I finally interested William. We had been married and paying rent six years. We asked about the terms on which we could buy the place we were renting.

"We bought it.

"Well, that's a long time ago. Will was a baby then. Frank, Jane and Mildred were born in that home, were reared there, grew up in a neighborhood where property values doubled, and yes . . . those are pleasant memories.

"I shall always feel that we were fortunate in having that real estate man urge us to buy the property.

Experiences of many home purchasers in St. Louis today, told twenty years from now, will differ only in details from the experience of this home purchaser of twenty years ago—with the same flood of pleasant memories.

Many of the best home properties in St. Louis for rent or for sale now are being advertised exclusively in the Post-Dispatch Real Estate Columns by real estate dealers who are firm believers in St. Louis real estate and who are sincerely urging people to own their homes.

ALLEGED EXTORTIONIST CAUGHT IN POLICE TRAP

Joseph Counsel Described as Former Associate of "Dinty" Colbeck.

Joseph Counsel, 47 years old, an unemployed steamfitter, described by police as a former associate of "Dinty" Colbeck, head of the old Egan gang, was arrested today on a charge of attempting to extort $75 from Peter Anastas, a shoe worker, 3717A Cass avenue.

He was at the Anastas home when taken into custody by special officers, who were in hiding. Five marked $1 bills wrapped around paper clippings, which Anastas gave to Counsel, were found in the latter's possession, the officers report. A receipt for $75, which Anastas had demanded, is also held as evidence.

The arrest resulted from a complaint by Anastas that two men approached him last Tuesday in a restaurant, where he regularly has his evening meal, and told him he had failed to appear in court on Nov. 28. Anastas had received no court summons and refused to talk to the men. They appeared at the restaurant the following night and one, representing himself as a lawyer, according to Anastas, demanded $75 "to fix the case." The man said he would call for the money today. Anastas notified police, who laid the trap.

Counsel, who gave his address as 5112 Labadie avenue and has a record of several arrests, told police, "It's all a mistake." "I went to that house to accommodate a woman friend, who asked me to collect $75 for her," Counsel explained. "I did not know what the money was for." He declined to name the woman. A warrant will be sought.

DEPUTY AND PATROLMAN KILLED IN PISTOL FIGHT

Former, Drunk, Shoots Policeman, but Second Slayer Is Not Learned.

By the Associated Press.

FINEVILLE, Ky., Dec. 5.—Deputy Sheriff William Smith and Patrolman Tip Cook were wounded fatally here last night in a pistol fight. Sheriff Henry Broughton said Smith killed Cook, but he could not say who fired the shots that killed Smith.

The Sheriff, Police Chief Charles Stewart, and Patrolman Cook and Eugene Felton attempted to calm Smith when he became drunk and threatened to "shoot up the town." The Sheriff said, and Smith fired, slaying Cook.

Sheriff Broughton and Patrolman Felton both denied firing, and Chief Stewart said he would make a statement "when the excitement died down."

Invalid Rescued From Fire.

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Dec. 4.—Ernest Richter, 40 years old, was rescued from a burning residence owned by Henry Meyers, near here, by Roy Harnett, a neighbor. He was the only member of the family at home when neighbors discovered the fire and could not escape from the building because of infirmities. The residence, valued at about $20,000, was destroyed.

TO PRESENT PLAN FOR ENDING MINERS' FACTIONAL FIGHT

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 5.—Litigation affecting control of District 12 and other phases of the miners' factional fight, which has brought to a close and ended the court docket not later than Feb. 1, according to Floyd E. Thompson, chief counsel for the Howat-Fishwick faction.

Thompson's plan of ending the struggle is expected to be presented to the court today.

In the meantime hearing of arguments continued on questions involving service by publication, alleged contempt, and enlargement of the original injunction to include Lewis officials in other states. Judge Frank W. Burton, presiding, expressed a desire to conclude the hearings at the earliest possible moment and said, if necessary, he would devote all of next week to the matter.

WHEATLAND, Wyo., Dec. 5.—A suppressed suit for divorce, filed eight weeks ago by Mrs. Maud O. Raborg of Wheatland, against Maj. Paul C. Raborg, U. S. A., retired, was disclosed when the case was set for hearing before Judge Samuel H. Thornton, Dec. 9. Mrs. Raborg, formerly Miss Maude Oberman, daughter of O. H. Oberman, millionaire Jefferson City, Mo., merchant, charges desertion and cruelty. The complaint alleges Raborg deserted her Oct. 1, 1929. He is said to be making a military picture in Hollywood. They were married at Greeley, Colo., July 2, 1921, and moved to the Diamond Ranch, 60 miles north of Wheatland, which covers 25,000 acres.

$1,000,000 Bail for Four Men.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Judge John H. Lyle yesterday set $1,000,000—the greatest amount ever required in Cook County—as bonds for four men charged with one murder and 20 robberies.

Increase in French Dols.

PARIS, Dec. 5.—French unemployed receiving Government aid increased at the rate of 1000 a week during November and now total 4492, an official statement said today. In the first week of November the total was 1493.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The Senate Campaign Funds Investigating Committee heard yesterday that $50,000, in addition to the $49,000 already reported, was spent in behalf of Dwight W. Morrow during the New Jersey senatorial primary. The committee, headed by Senator Nye (Rep.), North Dakota, is here investigating New Jersey campaign expenditures.

The money was spent by friends and "Morrow-for-Senator" clubs, accounted for approximately another $50,000, which would bring the total to $99,000. Under the New Jersey law only $50,000 may be spent for a candidate for a major office, such as that of United States Senator. The question of whether this law applies to all expenditures in behalf of a candidate or whether it applies only to those which he makes himself or his official campaign committee makes for him was considered by the committee.

Edward K. Mills, treasurer of the Morris County Morrow-for-Senator Club, said a test of that point had never been made in court. It was his opinion, however, that a candidate would not and could not be expected to control the actions of his friends.

Charge Against Investigator.

The committee expressed its go into the activities of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. The committee heard the charge that H. M. Rice, a committee investigator, had solicited money from the association for use in a wet-dry primary campaign in the State of Washington. The matter was precipitated by a remark of Henry H. Curran, director of the association, who saw Rice sitting at the table with the committee.

It was brought out by questioning that when Rice, who came originally from Seattle, first approached the association for money he was not then employed by the committee and that his next call was to deliver telegrams from Fred Crane, identified as a Seattle lawyer, asking $5000 for the primary campaign. Major John Miller, dry Republican, who was defeated.

Says He Realizes Error.

Rice said he realized he should have made his connection with the committee clear when he made his second call, in September, several months after his employment by the committee.

Nye said that Rice was one of the committee's best investigators, that he believed he meant no wrong and that it was not a "dirty" employment as Curran had inferred.

Curran testified to expenditures of $105,500 by his committee in Pennsylvania, Chicago and Wyoming, of which $100,000 was spent in Pennsylvania. He said he felt conditions were such that "the Senate should propose" and order a clear-cut vote on the question of repeal and he had no doubt as to the outcome.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok.—A post-trial, which failed to bear for 25 years, then bore three crops this year after nolls had been driven into it, is owned here by I. N. Webb, Harry B. Cordell, president of the State Board of Agriculture, said. Termed by Cordell as a "freak of nature," the tree now is bearing its third crop for 1930. Fears on the branches now, however, are small and will not mature.

The nolls, Cordell said, furnished iron needed by the seven-year-old tree. The first crop was in the late spring. As soon as it was harvested, the second appeared during the summer and when the fruit had been gathered the third growth began.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The biggest concentration of military aircraft in time of peace in the United States if not in the world is planned at New York next spring for the annual Army Air Corps field exercises. It was announced yesterday by F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War for Aeronautics. Some 500 airplanes and 1100 flying officers and enlisted men are to participate in a mimic war involving defense of the Atlantic coast between Boston and Norfolk.

One of the most interesting phases of the maneuvers, Davison said, will be a test of the practicability of converting commercial airports into military airbases in the event of a national emergency.

So Is Butler at Home of Eric Zardo, Pianist.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Eric Zardo, former concert pianist, of Pelham Manor, reported to police yesterday that jewelry valued at about $50,000 has been missing from his home since the departure of his butler Wednesday night. Zardo said the jewelry was taken while Mrs. Zardo, who was the widow of Harry Frazee, former owner of the Boston Red Sox baseball team, was in the house.

The butler was taken into the household about two months ago, police were told, on the recommendation of a friend of Zardo in New York. Zardo told police he did not know the name of the butler.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Stating that some things are not debatable, Dean A. H. Gates of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, refused yesterday to debate with former Judge Ben Lindsey of Denver on the subject, "Resolved, that companionship marriage will reduce free love promiscuity, and immorality."

In reply, Lindsey said: "The truth is that Bishop Manning's dean is afraid to meet the issue and so he resorts to subterfuges that are unfair and unworthy of a Bishop and his dean." In a letter to the

THE NEWEST GASOLINE COMES TO ST. LOUIS

TODAY the motorists of St. Louis are invited to try a brand-new gasoline—a modernized gasoline—a quicker-starting gasoline made to meet the changed fuel requirements of present-day automobiles.

Mobilgas was first tried out under every kind of driving condition. This fuel for the car you drive today lived up to every requirement of modern motors. And now this fine-quality gasoline comes to St. Louis and is available at all Lubrite Stations throughout the city and metropolitan area.

This newest gasoline is modernized by a new process of distillation. It has behind it the same skill and experience that have made Mobiloil the world's quality motor oil.

In the past few years motors have changed. They are nimbler, speedier, more powerful, better on every count! These motors require a different gasoline. That is the reason for Mobilgas and Mobilgas Ethyl.

Quick starting? Anti-knock? Power? Mobilgas does all a gasoline should do — and a little more. Switch to Mobilgas for a week, and let your car decide. It doesn't cost a penny more than regular gasoline.

To Ethyl users

To this newest gasoline we have added the potent Ethyl fluid to form a new and better Mobilgas Ethyl, a premium fuel that is worth a premium.

Burning Beauty

Chapter Twenty-nine.

TONY was aware of a cold chill of apprehension. What Jane Bleecker wanted she usually got. It was foolish, of course, to think that she could make him marry anyone he didn't want to marry. Yet if he couldn't have Virginia, might he not be too indifferent to set his will against his mother's? He threw off the feeling, however. His life was his own. Neither his mother nor Marty could manage it for him.

So potent, however, was his mother's influence, that when she wrote to him a week later to join her on the Van Duyn yacht, he took a bit of leave and went down. Why not? It would serve to pass away the time.

It was a day of purple seas and warm, moist winds when he arrived at Miami and boarded the Van Duyn yacht. Nothing could have been a greater contrast than his memory of Virginia on the dreary stairs and the gay group which welcomed him. Jane, in faint pink, threw her arms about his neck and kissed him. "My blessed boy!" she cried.

Marty, silver under the sun, came flashing across the deck. "Tony Bleecker, I've a thousand things to say to you. Let's find a place to talk. Jane, they want you for bridge. You can kill the fatted calf later."

Jane laughed and rushed away. There were left presently only Marty and Tony and Ricky Olyphant.

Ricky had shaken hands with Tony and now he offered, with a touch of gloom, to leave them. "I'd better be getting at my work."

MARTY agreed. "Run along. You've been dreadfully lax."

She touched him lightly on the shoulder with her finger tips. "Run along and write some lovely things about me."

The boy went with reluctance. Tony could see his discomfort. It was sorry for him. He wondered if Marty realized what she was doing. Did she really care for the lad? And if not, what was going to happen to him?

He challenged her as Ricky left them. "What about your tragic young god?"

"He's wonderful. But I must have moments when I can climb down from my pedestal." Although she said it lightly, he perceived an undercurrent of seriousness.

"What are you going to do with him?"

"Heaven knows. He's mad about me, Tony. He wants me to run away with him and marry him. Of course, I can't do it, yet the queer thing is that I want to. That's why I got you down here, as a sort of anchor to windward."

"It's a bit hard on the boy, isn't it?" Out of his own heartache Tony could appreciate the heartache of others. "You'd better watch your step, Marty. He's a temperamental lad and high-strung as the dickens."

How hard it was on the boy neither of them knew. Ricky was at that moment in his stateroom. He was standing by the purple water, but his eyes saw nothing but Marty and Tony on the sun-lit deck. His face was white. She had sent him away because of Bleecker. She had treated him like a child. He had almost hysterical desire to weep. He flung himself down at the desk and began to write. The words ran not from his pen, yet when he had read over what he had written he tore it up. Then with a sob he dropped his head on his hands. He had torn up hundreds of such pages since he had come south with Marty Van Duyn. His muse had left him. He was swept this way and that by tempestuous emotions, consumed by adoration of this silver witch. He wanted to lay on her altar the great gift of his genius. Yet he could produce nothing. He was burnt out, the flame of inspiration quenched. Would it ever again burn pure and bright? And if it did not, what had he to offer Marty?

It seemed to Michael McMillan in the two months following Virginia's flight as if all the restlessness of his restless years had crystallized into a dynamic energy which drove him through the days like a high-powered engine. He worked as he had never worked before. After hours of almost superhuman effort in his office he would go home and read manuscripts until the early hours of the morning.

Day and night... day and night... a treadmill of existence. Michael scarcely felt himself alive. He had no heart, no mind, no spirit, only this driving sense of speeding ahead so that he might leave behind his burden of heavy-heartedness. He had not tried to get in touch with Virginia. He had felt the thing was ended. She would marry Bleecker, and forget that there had been in her life such a man as Michael McMillan. And he would never forget.

The room in which he sat at night was the library of his apartment. In it were reminders of Virginia—the ladder-back chair, the opposite stool on the hearth, the needle-point stool was set four-square on the rug, the silver candlesticks shone on the mantel above the fireplace. He wished that he had the strength to put them out of his sight. He did not want reminders, yet something held him from breaking definitely from the few tangible things which bound him to her. He would have them, only memories.

It was on a windy night in March that there came to him poignantly that memory of memories, of the old house in Annapolis, and Virginia, going up the stairs, the candlesticks held like a crucifix against her breast. He sometimes felt that it was that vision of Virginia which saved him from chaos. It was as if he saw beyond material things to some need for sacrifice from which she suffered. He told himself that there were authors over there who would serve as an excuse if he needed one.

The room was very still. The fire had died down so that there was only a glowing bed of coals. On the table beyond the fireplace, a lamp of Chinese porcelain shed a pale gleam like moonlight on the dark wood, and bathed in this light was a tiny silver figure perched on the edge of a shallow basin of malachite. It was a thing Michael had picked up in Florence to hold flowers, and the silver figure was that of Pan piping among the reed-like plants with which Nogi kept the matchless basin filled.

There was something so gay and sportive about the little figure that it had seemed to Michael to typify all that he longed for of youth and vivid experiences. Yet tonight he felt profoundly the contrast between that debonair image and his own dry-as-dust routine. Was life never to give him what he wanted? Hours filled to the brim with expectancy, excitement, fulfillment, laughter?

Then, coming upon a startled silence, the telephone rang.

LONG distance and a strange voice! His Aunt Molly was not well. Could he come to her at once? Was it as serious as that? Yes, there was hope, of course. But she was asking for Michael. There was an early morning train and they would be there to meet him. He would drive up in time for breakfast. And they were to tell Aunt Molly he sent her his best love.

He went to bed and, unexpectedly, to sleep. He called Nogi long before dawn, had his bag packed and coffee made, and was off before the rest of the city was awake. It was wonderful driving up the river with the rising sun spreading a soft pink sheen across it. There was a strong wind blowing and it had swept the sky clear. The countryside looked clean and bare as if nature were getting things ready for the gorgeous advent of spring.

Aunt Molly was in her room on the first floor, propped high among her pillows. Her breathing was difficult.

"Dear boy," she said, and clung to his hand.

She seemed to sleep a little after that. Michael sat beside her and when she opened her eyes, she said, "I want you to be happy."

There seemed a bit of hope in that Michael asked the doctor if the hope was justified.

"The doctor says," she said, "that you may pull through. She has a strong constitution, but she never saves herself."

Michael, understanding her, said, "I think she'd rather die saving others than save herself."

The doctor nodded. "She was out looking after the lamb. It was a dreadful night and she was chilled to the bone."

Michael, walking later about the place, came upon the dusty swimming pool in a trid pool.

What was it Aunt Molly had said? "Bring Virginia here—she can look after my little ducks—your children—will love my little ducks, Michael."

One of the farm men coming up said, "She sent out to know if the ducks had been fed. She always does it herself. She loves every living thing on the place and they love her. She took cold looking after the lamba."

THAT night a turn of the tide swept Aunt Molly away from the shores of death. Her convalescence was slow and she wanted Michael near her. So she went back and forth to the city, spending as much time as she could on the farm. It was thus that he saw all of Aunt Molly's friends and neighbors, and learned the place she had made for herself in the hearts of the people of the countryside. She had lived for others, not in any narrow sense, but wholeheartedly and heartily, with joy in their joy, sympathy in their sorrow. It seemed to Michael as he went among them, that this, after all, was the secret of real happiness, not to shut oneself away from the world, but to become a part of it, sharing the hazards of the road with rich and poor, simple and proud, as fellow travelers journeying toward a common goal.

A season of spring-like weather set in, and as he walked and rode about the farm, Michael began to sense the excitement of the approaching season. Everywhere one felt it: the little frozen streams thawed and rippled, there was a sprouting of clear green against the black earth in sheltered corners, birds flew up from the south, the barn doors were open, there were calves and lambs, piglets and goslings.

And Michael, looking out of the window, said in a low voice, "She is not coming."

"Why not?"

He told her. Of the night at Derekdale; of her note; and of what Ricky had said of her marriage to Tony Bleecker.

Aunt Molly sat very still, her serene eyes on the scudding clouds. "And you let her go like that?"

"Yes."

"Why?"

"Because," he told her, "I felt she was like all the rest, and why should I have faith in any woman?"

"Don't be so shallow, Michael."

GENEVA GLIMPSES

By MARTHA GELLHORN

This is the third of a series of articles on the women delegates to the League of Nations, written by Miss Gellhorn, who is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George Gellhorn of St. Louis.

GENEVA, Nov. 25. SUSAN LAWRENCE is the daughter of a wealthy, conservative family. She was raised in the wealthy, conservative tradition and, in due time, sent to Cambridge. She emerged with her degree, a Cambridge manner, and a monocle. All exactly as it should be. She returned to London, to her family, and—net content to be a passive Tory—she was elected to the London County Council, as an active Tory, still with the monocle and very chic and proper.

Then one of those microscopic incidents which decide human destiny took place. A certain number of charwomen were employed in the building of the London County Council. They were wretched women, underpaid, working at night, unhealthy and unhappy. Susan Lawrence, noticing this, made inquiries into the conditions of their work, and, being a thorough person, she decided that reform should start at home. So she started a campaign to alter the existing system of bad pay and long hours under which the charwomen were working. She carried her ideas and her indignation to her own party. They would have none of it. She found the Labor party ready to aid her, and she changed her camp. And in changing her camp she changed the whole course of her career.

There is a slum in London which is given over to the charge and discretion of a small body of men and women called the "Poplar Guardians." It is a fairly thankless job, it would seem, but a necessary one. The Poplar Guardians, during the war, found it wise to give more money than was allowed on the city budget to the poor in this area. They were ordered by the municipal government to cut down on their liberality. Which they refused to do, saying that every cent of the money they gave was an absolute necessity. So they were sent to prison for their refusal to curtail their expenditures for the poor. They were literally imprisoned for generosity. Susan Lawrence was one of the Poplar Guardians. She served her term along with the rest of them.

IN 1918 she stood for Parliament as a Labor candidate. Mrs. Hamilton's axiom about the eventual inevitability of being elected once you have become a candidate, held true. In 1926, Miss Lawrence was elected. She is Under Secretary to the Minister of Health in the Government. She is a delegate from Great Britain to the League of Nations.

The Susan Lawrence of Tory beginnings—complete with monocle and Cambridge manner—has given way to another, entirely different, person. She wears an unbecoming hat pulled down carelessly over a mannish bob and her clothes are distinctly lacking in chic. She is brisk and to the point in her speech. There is not the slightest trace of a university accent.

The charm of Susan Lawrence lies in her strength, in the obvious vigor and courage of her mind. She has abandoned any regard for externals—and she is, without, one of the most important members of the Labor party, that is to say, one of the most important women in present-day England.

Such a dear fool," she said, and held out her hand smiling. "But none the less a fool."

When he left his aunt, Michael walked under the wide azure sky. His heart was light. He would go to Virginia and beg her to forgive him. He would say, "Let me show you what you and I may share together."

Longer Wear.

Chiffon stockings will last longer if hung up wet and allowed to drip dry. Wringing this fine fabric is apt to break the delicate threads and cause runs.

Displaying Wedding Gifts

WILL you kindly tell me if it is correct to remove all cards from wedding presents which are on display at a trousseau tea? Or, if one does not have a trousseau tea but displays the presents at the reception following the wedding, should the cards be left on the gifts or taken off?

2. Within how long a time after the bride receives her wedding presents should she acknowledge them?

3. The cards of the givers should be removed, therefore the cards with the gifts should be removed. "Oh, look what Mr. and Mrs. Jones sent me!"

By the time that the gifts are displayed, the gifts should be removed. The cards should be removed for identification. And it is not for the other guests to know who sent what, unless you care to tell them—but not by means of blatant cards.

2. Within 24 hours, if she is punctilious about this kind of thing. And we hope that she is. In other words, at the end of each day, she should have written the thank-you notes for the gifts that have been received during that day. Then she can go on her wedding trip knowing that all of her thank-you letters have been written, except perhaps the notes for the gifts that arrived the day of the wedding.

Veal-Stuffed Peppers.

Left-over veal is delightful when used as a stuffing for green peppers. Remove centers from green peppers without spoiling their shape. To two cups of diced cooked veal add one chopped hard-boiled egg, one-half cup cooked chopped celery, one-half cup crumbled breadcrumbs, seasoning to taste. Fill peppers with the mixture and top with buttered breadcrumbs. Place in a casserole, adding a little water and cook slowly until peppers are tender.

Labor Cabinet, she is chairman of the Labor party, she is a delegate from Great Britain to the League of Nations.

The Susan Lawrence of Tory beginnings—complete with monocle and Cambridge manner—has given way to another, entirely different, person. She wears an unbecoming hat pulled down carelessly over a mannish bob and her clothes are distinctly lacking in chic. She is brisk and to the point in her speech. There is not the slightest trace of a university accent.

The charm of Susan Lawrence lies in her strength, in the obvious vigor and courage of her mind. She has abandoned any regard for externals—and she is, without, one of the most important members of the Labor party, that is to say, one of the most important women in present-day England.

Such a dear fool," she said, and held out her hand smiling. "But none the less a fool."

When he left his aunt, Michael walked under the wide azure sky. His heart was light. He would go to Virginia and beg her to forgive him. He would say, "Let me show you what you and I may share together."

HEALTH

Brief articles prepared by experts. Edited by Dr. Louis Goldstein, for the New York Academy of Medicine.

Tuberculosis and Dust

IT has been estimated that approximately 10 per cent of all dusts in the air are of the so-called dusty trades.

Those working in these trades are exposed to a dust which affects the entire respiratory tract, and gives rise to cases of the nose, throat and lungs.

In certain of these trades, such as example, fur, cotton and wool, the dusts primarily affect the nose, throat and bronchi, and give rise to chronic catarrh, bronchitis and asthma.

In mining, quarries, in construction work, in metal grinding and in all industries where great quantities of dust are produced, the dusts are drilled or polished, the work is usually exposed to hard dusts. The lungs become inflamed by these dusts and there results a condition known as silicosis.

The relationship between dust and tuberculosis is an old one. We find references to the prevalence of phthisis (the ancient name for tuberculosis), among particularly among those who develop tuberculosis is not definitely understood.

Silica dust, which is a fine composed of sharp silica crystals, accumulates in the lungs, giving rise to a condition known as silicosis. This is, of course, a disease in itself, associated with a clinical picture, and a disease picture upon X-ray.

Tuberculosis, which of course is due to the tuberculosis germ, is a disease superimposed and complicating with silicosis.

The presence of silica markedly in the lung tends very markedly to predispose the individual to tuberculosis.

PERFUMED HUMIDITY

WHEN using a gas radiator or an oil stove to heat a room, it is quite necessary to keep a pan of water on the stove to keep the air moist.

In some homes, however, jars of water are always kept on the radiator. A deep jar in tin or aluminum may be placed and decorated and used for the purpose.

If you like the odor of perfume, a few lavender seeds or drops of lavender oil in the water will get just a delicate whiff of pleasant scent. Perhaps you will prefer your favorite perfume may be used in the same way.

A little fluted paper cup containing tarrare sauce is attractive for the fried egg plant.

HOUSE WETS SHOW GAIN IN FIGHT ON POISONED ALCOHOL

Loc Musters 54 Votes Against Denaturing Fund, Twice the Number Obtained Last Year.

ANTI-DRY MEETING OUTSIDE THE CAPITAL

Is Sponsored by Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform—Senator Tydings a Speaker.

The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The wet bloc failed yesterday in first objective, the elimination of appropriations for denaturing industrial alcohol with poisons, but was encouraged by registering a highest vote in years on the part.

The wets mustered 54 objectors to poisonous denaturants, against half that figure last year. The majority against them, however, remained unchanged at 106.

The wets made a second effort before the Treasury bill which contained a item passed, but showed less length, getting only 26 votes. Embarrassed by minor attacks on appropriations dealing with prohibition went down to defeat by a greater margin.

After the session was over, however, prohibition was assailed outside the capital in a gathering of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform. There Senator Tydings of Maryland, Representative Mary T. Norton of New York, both Democrats, and Mrs. Will Miller, Pittsburgh, Democratic National Committeewoman in Pennsylvania, joined in calling for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.
